McNamara, Pentagon Aides At Odds On Revamping

EDITOR'S NOTE: Structural change is under way at the Pentagon, military men are reported at odds with Secretary Robert S. McNamara and other civilian chiefs, the TFX contract hangs overhead like a dark cloud. Elton C. Fay, who has covered the Pentagon beat for the Associated Press for two decades, reviews the situation in the following article.

By ELTON C. FAY

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara's vast revamping of the military establishment — its administrative organization, its chain of command, its multibillion-dollar operation — is all but complete.

Reorganization of the Navy remains to be completed. Some final moving around of offices, furniture and people in other agencies to carry out consolidation plans will continue for some months more, although the broad changes have been made.

The revamping has been done without asking Congress for new legislation, with McNamara acting under provisions of the unification law and its revisions.

Criticism by Congress members generally has been restrained.

But within the military, there have been stated objections by some officers, sharp private disagreement by others. One of the high commanders is on the way out, with McNamara opposing reappointment of Adm. George W. Anderson to a second term as chief of naval operations. And Gen. Curtis E. LeMay was given only half of a usual two-year tenure for his reappointment as Air Force chief of staff.

A deep and pervading silence has settled among generals and admirals.

Will this end disputes within the Pentagon?

President John F. Kennedy does not think so.

"I am sure there'll continue to be disputes," he says.

The people in the Pentagon are "strong-minded men," says Kennedy, but completely loyal to their country. He says, too, that "we have to have a secretary to make the final judgment."

Some officers worry that the thrust of McNamara's reorganization is toward eventual merger of the services into one single unit.

NATO To Beef Up Atom Force

Disquiet On Cuba, W. Berlin

OTTAWA, Ont. (AP)—The North Atlantic Treaty Organization nations today ended a three-day parley with an agreed program to beef up the nuclear power of their forces.

A communique approved by the North Atlantic Council of Ministers also expressed disquiet about continuing Communist pressures in Cuba, Laos and Berlin.

The declaration warned that the pressure of Soviet military personnel in Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro's island is producing repercussions throughout the Caribbean area which still give cause for concern.

DEFEND BERLIN

The ministers reaffirmed their resolve to defend West Berlin against any outside attack. Just as if the divided and isolated city were part of their own territory.

A four-point program set forth in the communique heralded a new phase of North American-European cooperation in nuclear weaponry and it spelled out these moves:

1. The assignment of Britain's V-bomber force and three American Polaris submarines, with their H-weapons, to Gen. Lyman L. Lemnitzer, supreme Allied commander, Europe.

2. Establishment by Lemnitzer at his headquarters near Paris of a deputy to take charge of nuclear affairs. The deputy has not yet been chosen although a Dutch general is being considered for the post.

NUCLEAR PLANS

3. Arrangements for NATO member states to participate in nuclear activities in Allied commands and in coordination of operational planning at Omaha, Neb., headquarters of the U.S. Strategic Air Command.

4. Interchange of fuller nuclear information from member countries, both in a military and policy sense.

The joint communique, which is expected to win formal approval of the NATO foreign ministers, said the four measures had been designed to:

"Increase the effectiveness of the nuclear capability at the disposal of the Alliance and to

DESPITE RAFFERTY

Slang Dictionary To Stay In Marin

By ALTON S. BOCK

"The Dictionary of American Slang," which State Supt. of Schools Maxwell Rafferty calls objectional, will stay on the shelves of high school libraries in Marin.

In fact, one school which has lost its copy has ordered another.

Rafferty yesterday said the dictionary is "completely unsuitable for the children of California" and urged that it be removed from school library shelves. His suggestion brought an accusation of "censorship" from Jesse M. Unruh, speaker of the State Assembly.

Supt. Bert C. Corona of San Rafael schools said today he was not inclined to follow Rafferty's advice.

"The book has a place in a good school program," Corona said. "It can help students understand slang in various parts of America and can help teachers understand what students are saying."

"We do not have the book in our library now," said Terra Linda High School librarian Barbara Burington. "It mysteriously disappeared about three months ago, as high school library books do now and again. But we have re-ordered it . . . as a librarian, I am opposed to any kind of censorship of this sort."

Corona said the reference book is not in the San Rafael High School Library.

Robert H. Prather, principal of Tamalpais High School, said the book was not in the school library, but "we do have the classic 'Dictionary of Slang and Unconventional English' by Eric Partridge. We feel it is a legitimate acquisition. There are some four-letter words in it, but no more than in many other books—if people are looking for them."

The Partridge book, which lists terms related to sex and replaces vowels of such words with asterisks, is also in the County Library in the Civic Center.

"People have to know about such words before they can look them up anyway," said county reference librarian Oloallne Palen. "Since all this controversy about such books was started, we have had no interest at all from students. It has just sat on the shelf."

County Supt. of Schools Virgil S. Hollis said, "I want no part of censorship. We must encourage inquiry on a mature level, but you can't stifle thinking."

Novato High School and Tomales High School officials said neither "The Dictionary of American Slang" nor the Partridge book is in their libraries.

"I don't think we will be in a hurry to go out and get it since the state superintendent has objected to it," said Novato High School Principal Robert J. McKeay.

Anthony Matulich, Tomales High principal, said, however, "This whole matter of censoring is a delicate thing. I am opposed to censorship, but at the same time there should be control over the kind of thing students read."

Tentative Boundaries Are Set For Tiburon City

The Tiburon Peninsula Incorporation Committee, augmented by representatives of property owners groups and interested residents, last night tentatively set boundaries for a proposed City of Tiburon.

By a vote of 38-2 the group decided to consider a considerably smaller area than in last year's incorporation move.

The proposed boundary extends west on Trestle Glen Road, through Greenwood Beach out to Oyster Canal, across to Saucelito Canal to Belvedere city limits. Following the city line through Corinthian Island, it includes the area Belvedere is considering annexing, goes out into the bay to the San Francisco city line, includes Angel Island, back into Tiburon just east of Lyford Cove, and down the top of the ridge to the intersection of Paradise Drive and Trestle Glen Road.

Excluded are Paradise Drive, Belveron Gardens, Reedlands and Bel Aire. Strawberry has not been considered in this incorporation move. Opposition has been expressed in all of these areas.

However, as this is not a final map, the areas may join now or seek annexation after incorporation, according to chairman Elva Paske. The final map will not be drawn for 10 days and until then other areas may request inclusion, she said.

Included are Little Reed Heights, Del Mar, Hawthorne Terrace, Little Reed Park, Rolling Hills, Marinero, downtown Tiburon, Lyford Cove, and Hill Haven.

Fred C. Hannahs said the area will be easy to police and provide services and is a section that has a strong incorporation feeling. He estimated assessed valuation at eight million dollars.

Herbert Streiter of Bel Aire predicted residents of that area would be opposed to being included.

Lester Gorsline, a past president of the Paradise Property Owners Assn., said he would not consider the vote by the association at Wednesday's meeting conclusive. The association voted to be excluded from incorporation.

Harry Bragg, president of the Tiburon Property Owners Assn., argued in favor of incorporation. "My taxes 'have gone up every year. I am not getting five cents worth of additional service. Maybe if we incorporate we can tell where the money goes," he declared.

Rodney Blakey of Belveron Gardens said he was personally opposed to incorporation because the tax structure would go higher. "I am satisfied with the police and fire protection now. Incorporation would not benefit me in the least," said Blakey.

Hannahs said the tax load would be borne by smaller groups as areas were taken cut.

Blakey continued: "Once the local government is formed, the nucleus will expand. There are no Santa Clauses in this day and age."

To this statement Mrs. Arthur E. Lang replied: "We must be forearmed against depredations by other communities. The status quo will never remain."

Guiseppe Ongaro, 85, Dies At Fairfax Home

Guiseppe (Joseph) Ongaro, who came to Marin County 56 years ago, seeking opportunity in the construction business, died at his Fairfax home today after a year's illness. He was 85.

He leaves a large family in Marin County, and two local construction firms bear his name.

A native of Venice, Italy, he and his wife, Carolina M. Ongaro, moved to British Columbia 58 years ago. For two years he worked in coal mines there. Then the couple came to Marin County and settled in Fairfax.

He worked for building contractors for many years and eventually went into the construction business on his own. He built several homes in the county, one in Fairfax where he and his family lived for several years.

He retired 31 years ago. Some of his sons established their own firms. Ernest Ongaro and Sons Inc. is a plumbing firm in San Anselmo. J. J. and Quin Ongaro Inc. is a Kentfield construction firm.

Ongaro's wife died 10 years ago. During his retirement he kept busy at his hobby of gardening. At the time of death, his home was at Willow Avenue and Sir Francis Drake Boulevard.

He is survived by five sons, John J. Ongaro of Belvedere, Frank Ongaro of Santa Rosa, Ernest Ongaro of San Rafael, Ned Ongaro of San Anselmo, and Quin Ongaro of Kentfield; a daughter, Mrs. Lily Santisteban of Fairfax, 14 grandchildren, and 10 great-grandchildren.

The funeral cortage will gather at the Chapel of the Hills at 9 a.m. Monday and go to St. Rita's Church in Fairfax, where a Requiem Mass will be offered at 9:30 a.m. Rosary will be recited at 8 p.m. Sunday at Chapel of the Hills. Entombment will be at Mount Olivet Cemetery, San Rafael.

TO SET A SUN DIAL YOU MUST HAVE SUNLIGHT

For three days Melvin H. Klyce has been trying to set the sun dial on a stand newly erected by Rotarians in front of the Mill Valley bus depot.

Klyce, a general contractor and Rotarian, arrives each day exactly at 1 p.m.

The dial must be set when the sun is directly overhead, he explains. Normally this would be noon but it's 1 p.m. with daylight saving time.

"But each day," says Klyce, "it's the same thing. No sun."

Marinites Held In Bookie Raid

DALY CITY (UPI) — Internal Revenue agents and sheriff's deputies raided five locations in northern San Mateo County today and arrested six persons —including a Mill Valley man labeled the "kingpin"—in an alleged $25,000-a-day bookmaking ring.

Clarence Krause, Internal Revenue Service intelligence chief in San Francisco, said only one suspect, Richard A. Andrews, 30, Sausalito car salesman, was charged with a federal violation of wagering without possessing a $50 wagering stamp.

He said the others would face state charges. They are: Clarence M. O'Neill, 34, Mill Valley, who Krause said was the "kingpin"; Gene Findley, 32 ,San Francisco; Raymond S. Nielson, 31, San Jose; Sal Prieto, 44, San Francisco, and Charles Tibbetts, 40, Daly City.

VD Is On Increase Among Teen-Agers

Marin's teen-agers had 20 per cent of the infectious spyhilis and 26 per cent of the gonorrhea cases reported to the Marin County Health Department in the first three months of this year.

The number of cases reported during the period, 20 syphilis and 63 gonorrhea, constitute "an endemic if not an epidemic," according to Dr. Mary Jo Tonelli, assistant county health officer.

"An endemic," she said, "is the constant occurrence of a disease without enough cases to make it an epidemic."

"As of last year there is a rise in the number of cases of venereal disease among the older teen-agers in Marin. And," she added, "there is a good possibility that at least half the cases aren't reported."

The rise of spyhilis and gonorrhea among Marin teen-agers coincides with statistics recorded in all major urban centers in the country.

In Los Angeles, where venereal disease was the top ranking communicable disease problem last year, the rate among 15 to 19-year-olds rose from 7.1 cases in 1956 to 39.5 cases last year for each 100,000 persons living in Los Angeles, it was reported yesterday at the Northern California Public Health Assn.'s annual meeting in San Francisco.

In Marin County, four cases of infectious syphilis were reported last year among persons under 21. Two cases of infectious syphilis in teenagers in the county were reported this year among the 13 cases still in the "catching" stages.

For the same teen-age group, 18 cases of gonorrhea were reported in the county last year and 16 cases already this year.

"I'm interested to know why Marin, which is not primarily an urban center, has had the same rise in teen-agers' venereal disease," said Dr. Tonelli.

She said the high general rates of venereal disease in the county are partly caused by a large number of homosexuals living in Marin.

Half the cases of venereal disease recorded by the County Health Office were reported directly to the office by the patients. "We offer treatment at the office," said Dr. Tonelli. The second half of the venereal cases were called in by private physicians, according to Dr. Tonelli. But many cases

Tax Speedup Plan Passed By Assembly

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The Assembly passed and sent to the Senate today the first segment in Gov. Edmund G. Brown's 165-million-dollar tax speedup plan.

The bill would bring in an additional 22 million dollars in 1963-64 by requiring insurance companies to pay their gross premium tax on a quarterly instead of annual basis. The vote was 43-26.

Everest Climbers Send SOS

KATMANDU, Nepal (AP)—The American Everest expedition asked today for an emergency helicopter flight to take Barry C. Bishop and William F. Unsoeld to a hospital in Katmandu. They got to the top of Everst Wednesday, Bishop by the south col, Unsoeld by the west ridge.

A radio report from the base camp said they were frostbitten on all their toes during a night spent without shelter 28,000 feet up on the mountain following the summit climbs.

Thomas F. Hornbein and Luther G. Jerstad escaped serious frostbite so far as he knows, expedition leader Norman R. Dhyrenfurth radioed.

Unsoeld, from Corvallis, Ore., made his climb with Hornbein, from San Diego. Bishop, from Washington, D.C., and an employe of the National Geographic Society, which sponsored the expedition, climbed with Jerstad, from Eugene, Ore.

Hosmer Rips Udall Stand On A-Plant

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Craig Hosmer (R-Calif.) saying that nuclear reactors have been used at more shock-prone sites than the San Andreas earthquake fault, blasted Interior Secretary Stewart L. Udall's objections to a Bodega Bay nuclear power plant as "specious and phoney."

Udall had written the Atomic Energy Commission that the Bodega site, near the earthquake fault, should be thoroughly investigated for seismic hazards before Pacific Gas and Electric Co. is permitted to build the 325,000 kilowatt power plant.

Hosmer, ranking house member of the Joint Committee on Atomic Energy, said Thursday that earthquakes present no particular hazard to nuclear power reactors.

"They are safe enough to put aboard ships at sea," he said, "have been designed for use in airplanes and rockets and have been built to be hauled over rough terrain on heavy trailers.

Demos Cash In On Kennedy Birthday

NEW YORK (AP)—A birthday salute wafted kind words and soft music in President John F. Kennedy's direction — and cold cash into Democratic coffers Thursday night.

More than 600 New Yorkers marked Kennedy's 46th birthday, which comes next Wedesdnay, at a star-studded dinner at the Waldorf-Astoria.

Each of the diners had contributed at least $1,000 to the Democratic party this year—yet the White House insisted it was a bipartisan gathering. This little joke seemed to be part of the birthday fun.

After the dinner and a rousing entertainment, Kennedy drove to the uptown apartment of Mr. and Mrs. Earl E. T. Smith, old friends who entertained him until nearly 2 a.m.

Then Kennedy returned to his own quarters at the Carlyle Hotel to rest before flying back to Washington. He will be guest tonight at the annual White House press dinner.

Just across the Waldorf-Astoria lobby from the Kennedy party, the American Iron and Steel Industry simultaneously presented an award to former President Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Kennedy didn't encounter Eisenhower during his stay at the hotel. But he couldn't resist the temptation to joke about their proximity.

"Just down the hall," he said, "the steel industry honored my distinguished predecessor, President Eisenhower, with an award as the person who has done most for the steel industry this year. Last year I won the award."

This reference to Kennedy's 1962 battle to stave off a steel price increase brought as much laughter from the President's audience as the earlier efforts of such professional comics as Bob Newhart and Jimmy Durante.

Before going to his party, Kennedy paid a 10-minute courtesy call on former President Herbert Hoover, who lives in the hotel, the presidential visit interrupted Hoover's dinner.

The Kennedy party, featuring top entertainers, was a fun affair from start to finish.

Even Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson succumbed to the light-hearted spirit of the occasion.

Johnson, 54, said he had been "asked to speak on behalf of my fellow youths in this administration and extend best wishes to the oldest active living Democratic President" — meaning Kennedy.

In what was perhaps his only serious moment at the celebration, Kennedy quoted Emerson as saying there is a party of hope and a party of memory.

"We are the party of hope," he said.

BIRMINGHAM GETS NEW LEADERSHIP

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — Progressive leadership in this sprawling steel city's racial troubles has been pledged by a new government which also must grapple with serious economic problems.

Mayor Albert Boutwell and nine councilmen, confirmed yesterday as the legal government by the Alabama Supreme Court, were hailed by a Negro leader as symbols of a new era.

"The Negro people look to the Boutwell administration for direct progress in the area of race relation," said the Rev. F. L. Shuttlesworth a key figure in a lengthy desegregation drive which landed about 2,400 Negroes in jail for demonstrations.

"Justice and progress have triumphed," said Shuttlesworth.

"Birmingham's image has already improved."

Boutwell and the council took over the government when the court ousted a three-commissioner system dominated by Police Commissioner Eugene Connor, a bitter segregationist, who personally directed policemen in handling demonstrations.

The new mayor, considered a moderate, said he would appraise the city's racial problem "and work toward its harmonious solution."

Almost simultaneous with the legal victory for the mayor-council, a Chamber of Commerce committee warned that the city's economy had been severly damaged by racial strife.

It May Be Bye, Bye Billboards

SACRAMENTO (AP) — You're driving along a state or federal highway, and something's missing. It's the billboards.

The legislature is getting close to a decision on whether that will happen in California before long.

Gov. Edmund G. Brown's billboard control bill cleared the Assembly Ways and Means Committee yesterday, not quite as strict as when it was introduced. A house vote is likely next week.

Another Assembly committee junked a proposal for mandatory annual vehicle inspections. It approved a bill to stretch the 65 miles per hour speed limit to 70 on some freeways.

The billboard control measure was presented both as a boon to scenic beauty and traffic safety.

The original terms banned signs in an 800-foot corridor on either side of a federal interstate freeway or state highway not used as city streets.

Prompted by billboard industry opposition, Assemblyman Edwin L. Z'berg (D-Sacramento), the author, agreed to amendments permitting billboards in unincorporated areas zoned as commercial and industrial.

Another amendment turns over the policing to a new California Commission on Roadside Control and Scenic Beauty, instead of the state director of professional and vocational standards.

The bill requires signs within the proscribed area to be torn down within five years.

Industry spokesman based their main objections on this provision, but the Assembly committee refused to delete it.

The legislation would permit official highway signs, including those offering special help to motorists or advertising adjacent businesses.

Assemblyman John L. E. Collier (D-Los Angeles) frowned on allowing billboards in industrial areas where he said the most accidents occur.

Then he indicated he thought billboards might be safer to look at than scenery.

"With billboards you glance but with a scene you take a nice big look," said Collier. "What is more dangerous, a look or a glance?"

Z'berg replied that a New York safety study showed it was more dangerous to look at a billboard.

Offering another complaint, Assemblyman Edward Gaffney (D-San Francisco) said "you're excluding the county roads where there is the most scenery."

Assemblyman Tom Bane (D-North Hollywood) terminated the discussion.

"The bill's not tough enough but I'll move it out do-pass," he said.

Demos Join GOP In Trying To Block Old Water Bonds

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Democrats have joined Senate Republicans in a double-barrelled assault on the Brown administration plan to help build the State Water Project with bonds authorized in 1933.

By a 29-5 vote yesterday, with only Democrats opposed, the 40-member upper house passed a bill and two resolutions aimed at preventing the State Water Resources Department from using the 325 million dollars in revenue bonds authorized for the old Central Valley Project on the current program.

However, chances of the bill's passage in the Assembly are dim—and the governor has stated he will veto it should it reach him.

The Central Valley Project bonds never were used because federal money was used instead, so it was proposed to use that money to help finance the 1.75-billion-dollar State Water Project authorized by voters in 1960.

Miller's bill would repeal provisions of the Central Valley Project Act which authorized issuance of the bonds.

Sen. George Miller Jr. (D-Martinez) labeled the plan "as phony as phony can be. The issue is a moral one," he added, since the 1933 bonds were not authorized for the use proposed in 1963.

Sen. Edwin J. Regan (D-Weaverville) agreed. "The plan isn't in good faith with the people of this state. If the legislature is going to have any say about water development in the future, we should not accept these CVP bonds," he declared.

William E. Warne, water resources director, contends the department doesn't need legislative approval to use the bonds.

Sen. James A. Cobey (D-Merced) opposed the department's plan because, he said, the issue should be decided in court, and the 1933 bonds will be needed in the future to give an "ample cushion" to the current project.

Shakespeare Tryouts

GOP Threatens To Block Budget Until Withholding Bill Defeated

SACRAMENTO (AP)—Assembly Democrats jumped on Republicans today for threatening to block the state budget until Gov. Edmund G. Brown's withholding tax proposal is defeated.

Republicans announced yesterday that all 28 GOP assemblymen and 12 of the 13 senators had voted to take that position.

"The only leverage we have is to hold firm as a Republican team in connection with our vote on the budget," a spokesman said.

Democrats outnumber Republicans in the Assembly, 52-28. Budget passage requires 54 votes. Democrats hold the bare necessary two-thirds majority in the Senate, 27-13.

Chairman Robert W. Crown (D-Alameda), of the Assembly Ways and Means Committee, denounced the GOP decision to use the budget to oppose the tax measure.

He called it a "callous disregard for the non-partisan effort which has gone into the budget," and said it would endanger education, welfare, mental health and other vital programs.

Assemblyman Nicholas C. Petris (D-Oakland), author of the withholding bill, said "I had hoped that the Republicans . . . would adopt a more responsible attitude."

McNamara, Officers At Odds Over Revamping Of Pentagon

No, say McNamara's aides, "We aren't unifying the services, we are unifying the effort."

They mention his "package" program under which each service with a similar function has been brought under central, coordinated direction. Examples are the strategic roles of the Air Force and Navy and the tactical roles of the Army and Air Force, now in a combined "Strike Commmand."

As a former automobile executive McNamara is a product of the industrial world. To him, the reorganization spells "cost effectiveness" — getting back the worst of investment in dollars and manpower for national defense.

In the uniformed military family, the objections are not to more effectiveness, but to McNamara's techniques.

There is a feeling in the Pentagon that the military man, including those on the Joint Chiefs of Staff, is being downgraded and by passed, that strategy is being devised by civilians and orders issued directly by civilians to field commands.

McNamara denies he ignores the Joint Chiefs of Staff in his decision-making. He was asked about his relations with the chiefs during a hearing by the House Armed Services Committee earlier this year.

He said he tries to anticipate "controversial issues" in advance and asks the chiefs to study and report their views. He then reviews a written report for the president.

"If in this memorandum my conclusions differ from those of the chiefs, I will also include the views of the chiefs, and if they are split I include the split views of the chiefs and the reasons for these views in contrast to the reasons for my own recommendations," McNamara says.

Reorganization, of course, isn't the only point of dispute that has shaken the Pentagon in these recent months.

There is the TFX.

In this argument, everybody has joined—the Pentagon civilians the military, Congress and the public.

It almost certainly was an element in McNamara's disapproval of continuing Anderson in his job and cutting down the time left for LeMay.

Three chiefs—Anderson, LeMay and Gen. Earl G. Wheeler of the Army — recommended that the contract for development of the new long range fighter-bomber for the Air Force and Navy go to the Boeing Co., the lower of two bidders.

But McNamara — supported by the civilian secretaries of the Air Force and Navy, Eugene M. Zuckert and Fred Korth—held that Boeing's bid was unrealistic and awarded it to the General Dynamics Corp.

A Senate committee opened an investigation. It is still going on. McNamara testified early in the hearing, requested an opportunity to reappear later.

Only once during the hearing has there been anything reported that resembled courtroom drama.

McNamara was described as showing emotion during one of the closed sessions, telling the senators that his young son wanted to know when he would be cleared of complaints leveled against him.

There are two versions of this incident. One said that McNamara impulsively telling the story to the senators, broke down and cried—an account denied by Pentagon officials.

The other version: McNamara, en route that morning to the hearing, told an associate that he would cite the incident as an example of the pressure which had come upon him as a result of the TFX matter.

Those who look upon McNamara as a computer—activated man — with a detailed plan for every contingency—like the latter version.

Others accept the first version, say it shows he is human and is struggling under the immense burden of administering the nation's largest government establishment.

Warning Is Planned On Toll Gate Checks

Directors of the Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District today decided commuters should be given full warning against "bootlegging" their commute book tickets before there are any more toll gate checks such as those that backed up traffic May 13 and 14.

Board president Ben K. Lerer of San Francisco ordered the check stopped on the third day. His action was criticized today by director Joseph J. Diviny of San Francisco, who said Leler had no right to countermand a board order.

Lerer said the backed-up traffic presented an emergency situation that required immediate action.

The check was ordered to make sure commuters had commute books with them. Directors ordered the check after hearing that the district was losing money because commuetrs were either giving or selling the 13-cent tabs to other travelers.

"It is not necessary to back up thousands of commuters and make them 10 to 15 minutes late," director Thomas D. Hardcastle of Novato said.

NATO

improve coordination and control of its nuclear deterrent forces."

The statement had been carefully negotiated between France and her partners during the past several weeks.

The draft communique stressed that NATO recognized the need "to achieve a satisfactory balance between nuclear and conventional arms."

In this context, the permanent council of the Alliance in Paris has been instructed to make further studies, in cooperation with Lemnitzer's staff, of "the interrelated questions of strategy force requirements and the resources available to meet them."

Agreement on the nuclear force was the chief achievement of the meeting.

The new interallied force bears no name, in deference to French President Charles de Gaulle, on any internationalism he doesn't dominate.

But formation of the force under U.S. Gen. Lyman Lemnitzer, the supreme allied commander in Europe, represents a major development in the political and military relations of the Western alliance for these reasons:

1. It opens the way to a sharing some U.S. nuclear secrets with the European allies, in the context of both weaponry and operations.

2. It gives West Germany an active nuclear strike role for the first time. That may mean new tensions with the Soviet Union.

3. It represents a tentative first step toward bringing present and future nuclear forces of the alliance under collective management.

Planners Disagree In Corte Madera

The Corte Madera Planning Commission last night disagreed with the town council on four items in the revised town plan envisioning a population of more than 13,000 in 1985.

It disapproved a council decision last week to eliminate plans for a major street through Madera Gardens. It voted against council recommendation that location of a civic center in the town park be considered. It disagreed with council decision on Corte Madera grade by urging paved paths on one side for safety of pedestrians. And it insisted on its recommendation that a proposed heliport farther west than shown on the map.

DISEASE

treated by private physicians are not reported.

Diseases such as measles and mumps, which keep children out of school, are reported to the county by the schools. "With venereal disease, the schools have no way of knowing," she said.

To combat teen-age venereal disease, the County Health Office this year began an education program for teen-agers. A movie called "Innocent Party" has been shown to seniors at Tamalpais High School and to sophomores at Redwood and Tamalpais high schools.

"We have had no boomerangs from the parents. If anything, we were encouraged by them," Dr. Tonelli reported.

Dr. Tonelli said the movie was shown to a mixed group of 10th graders. "We have decided this is the best way to present it and plan to show it to boys and girls together in the future."

A Public Health Service epidemiologist said yesterday that half of the Los Angeles VD victims between 12 and 21 "had no prior knowledge" of the disease.

Misses Three Deer —Hits Utility Pole

John Caryl House swerved his car to miss three deer on a Novato street and hit a utility pole instead.

House, 24, of 670 Olive Street, Novato, was northbound on Sutro Avenue at 5:55 a.m. today when the deer ran in front of him, he told the California Highway Patrol. He swerved to miss them and rammed the pole about 200 feet north of Vineyard Road. He was treated at Novato Hospital for a cut upper lip.

STOCKS TODAY

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock market prices turned weaker at the close today.

They had been generally mixed most of the session.

Trading was moderately active.

Steels extended their losses near the end of trading and carried some others down with them.

There was nothing particular to blame for the weakness in steels as production has risen.

The sugars took some rather sharp losses as profit taking continued and a congressional investigation of soaring sugar prices was announced.

Following are closing stock prices.

Refugees Report Russ Cuba Buildup

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Heavy movement of Soviet troops in Cuba's Oriente Province, which lies just across the Windward Passage from troubled Haiti, was reported today by one of 751 refugees arriving in Florida on the cargo ship Morning Light.

Ramon de la Tollre, a farm worker from near Holguin in Oriente Province, declared that in some areas "you can see two Russians for every Cuban."

It is general knowledge in Holguin, he said, that the Russians have a submarine base near the city at Puerto Rico Beach and Russians are frequently seen in the waters there. The Soviets, he added, have erected hundreds of oil tanks in the area.

Another refugee, who declined to permit use of his name because he has a son in Havana, said homes in the heart of Havana have been without running water for months because of a water plant breakdown.

In Havana's fashionable Vedado section, where he lived, he said people get water from street faucets.

"There is not enough electric power to pump water into the homes," he related. "There are no parts to replace those that wear out, and sabotage may have contributed to the trouble."

Austins Back From Down Under

By PHIL FRADKIN

The Ward H. Austins of Larkspur have returned from a nine-month trip to the South Pacific and now know what such road signs as "panel beater" and "steady" mean.

Explains Austin, retired College of Marin president, "panel beater" designates a body and fender repair shop and "steady" corresponds to a "drive carefully" sign.

But the Austins' observations on their travels, mostly in Australia and New Zealand, were not confined to road signs.

Some of their observations are:

1. People in both countries are very friendly and hospitable, but "we didn't feet at home there."

2. The Australian train system is inefficient because three different gauges of tracks require changing trains seven times from Perth to Cairns.

3. The tempo of life is slower in New Zealand than in the United States, and the vintage of automobiles is considerably older because of their high cost.

4. Integration, through intermarriage, of the Maori natives in New Zealand is almost complete, with few full-blooded Maoris left.

5. In Australia, coffee without milk or cream is almost impossible to buy.

6. Both countries feel closer to the United States since World War II because "they believe our country is the reason for their existing today."

7. The bond of friendship is growing stronger with the United States, while it weakens with England. This is true especially in Australia.

For the Austins, their trip to Australia, New Zealand, Hong Kong, Malaya, the Fiji Islands, Manila and Singapore was something "we had always looked forward to."

Their primary interest was in wildlife and plants and flowers. They traveled by luxury liner, freighter, banana boat, car, bus, camper, airplane and train.

In New Zealand, they spent four months on both North and south Islands traveling in a camper. Christmas last year found the Austins celebrating quietly in an auto camp.

Christmas, Mrs. Austin said, is "practically ignored in New Zealand. Most people spend the day at the beach as it is during the summer holidays."

The highlight of the trip for Mrs. Austin was hiking the 33-miles Milford Sound trail. Austin got particular pleasure out of photographing yellow-eyed penguins at the southern tip of New Zealand.

Austin took about 900 color slides of the trip and spoiled only one 36-exposure roll. He double exposed the roll and pictures of native huts came out superimposed on the captain's party aboard ship.

One of the more unusual experiences was taking a 19-day banana boat trip through the Fiji Islands. The boat carried 75 cabin passengers, 85 deck passengers—who were natives traveling from island to island—and a load of 30,000 cases of bananas.

Returning May 8, the Austins remain bitten by the travel bug. Next on the schedule is a tour of the United States and then south by camper on the highway to Panama.

11 Outstanding High School Seniors Honored

Eleven high school seniors—one from each high school in Marin County—were honored yesterday by the California Savings and Loan League as the outstanding members of their graduating classes.

Medallions were presented to the 11 at a recognition luncheon at Peacock Gap Golf and Country Club. There will be $100 checks, too, to be presented at school honors assemblies.

The ceremonies will be broadcast as tape-recorded yesterday on Radio KTIM tomorrow at 12:15 p.m.

Fred F. Enemark, chairman of the league's Marin County school relations committee, expressed pride that this year, for the first time, every high school in the county participated. Joining this year were Terra Linda High School—which is graduating its first seniors next month, San Rafael Military Academy, Dominican Upper School, and Katharine Branson School.

The winners, chosen by their school administrators, were:

R. James Troppmann, son of Coach and Mrs. Robert J. Troppman of 6 Key Largo Cove, Corte Madera, from Redwood High School; Judith Rae Huckins, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Alva Ray Huckins Jr. of Ojai, Ventura County, from Katharine Branson School; Marcia Frideger, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward J. Frideger of 175 Prospect Avenue, San Anselmo, from Marin Catholic High School; Wendy Anne Hardcastle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas D. Hardcastle of 7 English Court, Novato, from Novato High School; Marie Bertolli, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Bertolli of 8 Bradcliff Court, San Rafael, from Dominican Upper School; Bruce H. Howard, son of Dr. and Mrs. Frank Howard of 55 Montecito Road, San Rafael, from San Rafael High School; David E. Good, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Good of 243 Poplar Drive, Kentfield, from San Rafael Military Academy; Linden Press, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Press of 8 Brookside Court, San Anselmo, from Sir Francis Drake High School; Margaret Ruth Allen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Boyd Allen of 337 Magee Avenue, Mill Valley, from Tamalpais High School; Wesley A. Davison Jr. of 545 Miller Creek Road, Marinwood, from Terra Linda High School, and Merissa Tobler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Werner Tobler of Olema, from Tomales High School. Miss Tobler was ill and unable to attend to receive her award in person.

Marshall Dill Jr., chairman of the history department at Dominican College, in a speech to the winners, their parents and school administrators, stressed the importance of high schools. In high school, said Dill, the student must learn the use of English, something of history, government, great literature, music and art, the scientific approach.

"If you have not had this by the end of high school, nothing much is going to be added," he said. "If you have this foundation to build upon in college, the world is yours."

Irwin H. Diamond, dean of students at College of Marin, presented the medallions.

Five savings and loan associations participated in the program in Marin this year: Marin County Savings and Loan, Northwestern Savings and Loan, Ross Valley Savings and Loan, Tamalpais Savings and Loan, and Citizens Federal Savings and Loan — the last named joining for the first time in this county.

College Of Marin Board Approves Plans For New Gymnasium Complex

Trustees of the Marin Junior College District last night approved plans for a new gymnasium complex on the Kentfield campus estimated to cost $1,034,300.

Bids will probably be asked sometime in July. Completion is expected in the summer of 1964.

Architects Falk and Booth of San Francisco have designed four buildings and a swimming pool to be located on a 400-foot square site on the northwest corner of college land south of College Avenue.

Architect Corwin Booth said he expects state approval of the plans by mid-June.

Original cost estimate was $1,011,000 about a year and a half ago when the trustees saw first drawings. Booth said about half the increase is due to increased building costs and the other half to changes in the plan.

There will be four buildings, a main gymnasium and three buildings for lockers, showers and classrooms. The contract will also include installation of walks and topsoil.

Trustees approved planting and landscaping plans for the gymnasium complex submitted by landscape architects Wertheim and van der Ploeg of San Francisco. Ernest Wortheim estimated the cost at $16,500. Trustees authorized seeking bids on some of the larger plants now with the hope of saving money. Wortheim said the planted area will be served almost entirely by sprinkler and the sprinklers will be hooked up to a fertilizer injection system. The Kentfield campus will be one of the few campuses in the state to have fertilizer injection, he said.

Contract For Vending To Be Terminated

Termination of a contract for vending machines and a sandwich counter in the College of Marin cafeteria was authorized last night after two years of complaints by students.

A new contract with a different firm, Mannings Inc. of San Francisco, was authorized. The firm will contract with the Associated Students of College of Marin.

Students have complained that the service supplied by Bay Cities Automat Co. of San Francisco was poor and that machines for soft drinks and candy were often broken or empty.

Serious study of the Gulf Stream began in 1844.

The Marin College District Board Also:

The Marin Junior College District board also:

1. Appointed trustees Kent O. Seymour and Robert E. Rogers to serve on a committee with architects Falk and Booth and members of the college staff in selecting a site for a new campus in North Marin. The district hopes to acquire an option on land this year.

2. Learned that the college's vocaitonal nursing program was ranked second in the state by the State Board of Vocational Nurse Examiners. The college program received a score of 595.10. Average score for 29 schools examined was 525.29.

3. Approved seven new courses in law enforcement, a course in real estate, a course in library use and a course in psychology to start next fall. The law enforcement courses, ranging from the legal process to firearms, comprise a new daytime program at the college. There have been evening courses in law enforcement this year.

4. Learned that Stephen C. Bruff, geology and geography teacher, wishes to take sabbatical leave in the 1964-65 school year. No action was taken on the request last night.

5. Approved use by the Marin Art and Garden Center of college parking space during the Art and Garden Fair July 3 through 7. Visitofs will be carried from the college parking area to the fair by shuttle bus.

6. Went on record against AB 2373, a pending bill which would make it a misdemeanor for a school official to use coercion to force an employee to join or not to join an employee organization. Also opposed AB 2615 which would require review of employment practices by an appointed panel.

7. Adjourned until June 13.

Goal Of $11,407,000 Is Set For United Bay Area Crusade Drive

A goal of $11,407,000 from the five Bay Area counties was set today by the United Bay Area Crusade for its October drive.

The money will help support 183 health, welfare and youth service agencies. It represents an increase of three and one-half per cent increase over the $11,020,000 donated to the crusade last year, according to Nils Eklund, campaign president.

A breakdown of how much each county is expected to contribute will be made during late spring or summer.

For the second year, the drive's theme will be "One Gift Works Many Wonders."

Requests of the United Crusade agencies total $15,490,000, said Eklund. "Although this figure is our ultimate objective, we felt that it must be approached in a series of smaller increases," he said.

The board of governors for the crusade approved the increased goal, Eklund said, because of the rising cost of living and because some nine new agencies have applied for participation in the 1963 drive.

Injunction Is Asked To Block Gov. Wallace

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Justice Department today asked the U.S. District Court in Birmingham, Ala., to issue an injunction preventing Gov. George Wallace from interfering with the enrollment of qualified Negroes at the University of Alabama.

Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy said the camplaint was filed to get an immediate court test of Wallace's announced position of "legal resistance and legal defiance" of federal court orders admitting two Negroes to the university June 10.

Wallace has said he personally will bar enrollment of Negroes Vivian J. Malone and David M. McGlathery to the university.

The complaint was filed in the same court where Judge H. Hobart Grooms on May 21 ordered Miss Malone and McGlathery admitted to the university under a 1955 court order.

Judge Seybourn H. Lynn set hearing for 10 a.m., June 3 to show cause why the order should not be issued.

Shortly after Grooms ordered the two Negroes admitted, Wallace publicly stated he would be present to bar entrance of any Negro attempting to enroll in the university. He said this would test his "constitutional standing" as governor and as "direct representative" of the people of Alabama.

Russians Launch New Unmanned Satellite

MOSCOW (UPI)—The Soviet Union today launched an unmanned satellite in its continuing research of space.

Tass News Agency said the satellite, Cosmos 18, carried scientfic apparatus "to continue space research in accordance with the program announced by Tass on March 16, 1962."

It was the fifth unmanned satellite launched by the Russians in the past six weeks, and the seventh to be launched this year.

Cosmos 17 was launched just two days ago.

The recent flurry of Soviet space activity, after a layoff of several months, has prompted speculation that the Russians are about to launch a new manned space project.

Earlier this month Moscow announced it was beginning a series of test firings of long range rockets into the Pacific Ocean presumably in connection with space projects.

The first Soviet satellite launched this year was Cosmos 13, on March 21.

On April 2, Lunik IV, a 3,128 pound moon probe, was fired off but missed the moon by 5,270 miles and went into orbit around the earth. All the other launchings were in the Cosmos series.

House Armed Services Group Slashes $243 Million Requests

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House Armed Services Committee—reflecting the mood of an economy-minded Congress—today cut nearly 243 million dollars from Pentagon requests for military construction projects at home and abroad.

The committee approved a $1,663,472,000 measure authorizing buildings, hospital and other facilities at military bases. Included in the measure were 10,000 new homes Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara said were needed to house some servicemen now living in shabby quarters. Those homes will cost $181,519,000.

The Defense Department sent to the committee—headed by House Dean Carl Vinson (D-Ga.)—requests totaling $1,876,455,000. The committee whacked about 13 per cent from that total.

Defense agencies had their requests reduced nearly 76 per cent, mainly because the committee decided that a new 17.2-million-dollar intelligence building in nearby Arlington, Va., was not needed now.

The measure merely authorized new construction for fiscal 1964, but without specific authorization for projects no funds could be appropriated later by Congress.

The housing breakdown was Army, 1,727 units, Navy, 4,228 units and Air Force, 4,045 units.

College Tests For Marine Lab Approved

Trustees of the Marin Junior College District last night authorized biology teacher Alfonso Molina to make tests of water and tides at the college's site in Bolinas to check the feasibility of a marine laboratory there.

Last month Molina outlined a program for development of the former Coast Guard station. First step is testing, next renovation of buildings and finally installation of a sea water circulation system.

No estimate of cost of the program will be available until completion of the tests this summer.

Bye Bye Birdie

ALBERT LEA, Minn. (AP) — This call to the fire department was really one for the birds. A robin, stuck in a tree with its foot caught in a piece of string, was rescued by firemen. They untangled the string and the bird flew away.

3 Injured In Pileup On Bridge

A three-car chain-reaction crash on the Golden Gate Bridge at 8 a.m. yesterday caused minor injury to three Marin residents, the California Highway Patrol reported.

A southbound car driven by Mrs. Marty Ann Horton, 30, of 123 Golden Hind Passage, Corte Madera, hit the rear of a car driven by William Henderson, 55, of 78 Marina Vista Avenue, Larkspur. It in turn hit a halted car driven by Milton Berdinsky, 38, of 1441 Casa Buena Drive, Corte Madera, the CHP said.

Berdinsky complained of neck pain. His wife, a passenger with him, reported an arm injury, and Henderson complained of back pain. All said they would see their own doctors. The highway patrol cited Mrs. Horton for speeding.

Livestock Auction Set In Sausalito

Dust will fly tomorrow in Sausalito around the old slaughterhouse at the end of Coloma Street in Sausalito at the IDESST livestock auction.

Cows, sheep, chickens and ducks are to be sold starting at 1 p.m. to raise money for the Chamarita, annual Portuguese festival celebrating the Holy Ghost. Chamarita will be June 1 and 2 at the IDESST Hall on Caledonia Street.

Auctioneers will be Tony G. Brazil of Muir Beach, Louis Ricci of Santa Rosa and Manuel Perry of Petaluma.

Some of the cattle are donated, Brazil said, to be used for food at the festival, but slaughtering, once done at the slaughterhouse, is now done in Petaluma. Local merchants contribute items for the auction, Brazil added, and the event is open to the public.

Marin Property Taxes Now At $27,005,250

Property taxes in Marin County, doubling in the past five years, have reached a record $27,005,250, the California Taxpayers' Assn. reported today.

While the total levies have increased 100 per cent the county's population has increased 22 per cent, reported Sheffield J. Arnold, executive director of the association.

Compared with other counties in the state, Marin had the fourth highest percentage of tax increase. It was tied for 19th highest in the percentage of population increase during the 1958-63 period. Taxes went up in all counties.

The association compiled its totals from property taxes levied by cities, school districts and special districts during the fiscal year ending June 30.

Sonoma County had a 59 per cent increase in property taxes and a 19 per cent increase in population.

El Dorado County led in both categories with a 224 per cent tax increase and an 85 per cent population increase.

Statewide there was a 60 per cent tax increase from 1.6 billion dollars to $2.6 billion dollars and a 20 per cent population boost.

Hub Chamber To Vote

Directors of the San Anselmo Chamber of Commerce will vote on proposed by-laws on June 6 after discussion by chamber members who have been sent copies of the by-laws. There will be no meeting next Thursday, which is Memorial Day.

BOOK SALE GOING WELL AT LIBRARY

"They came in like vultures," said Mrs. Eleanor Murray happily. "They're buying books by the boxful."

Mrs. Murray, chairman of the San Rafael Library board, referred to the two-day book sale on the library lawn which got off to a rousing start at 8:15 a.m. today—45 minutes early.

"We were supposed to start at 9 a.m.," said Mrs. Murray, "but there must have been a hundred people there at 8 a.m. Our cashier is so busy I don't know how long she'll last."

The sale, conducted by the Marin Retired Teachers Assn., is a library benefit. Proceeds will go to create a record collection for the library, which is now lacking. The sale will continue until 5 p.m. today and from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. tomorrow.

The library also added about 500 books to its shelves from books collected for the sale.

"We have 1,000 books outside now," said Mrs. Vivian Smith, chief librarian, "and we have another 1,000 inside waiting to go out. We'll add more books as they're sold, but we will save a number for tomorrow morning so those who can only come on Saturday won't waste their time."

Mrs. Murray reported an especially brisk sale in language books, including Spanish, French, German, and Japanese.

Jumps From Car As Brakes Fail

A Sausalito woman suffered bruises and scrapes at 1:10 p.m. yesterday when she jumped from a car after the brakes failed at Belle and San Anselmo Avenues, San Anselmo police reported.

Mrs. Arline Morris, 49, of 341 San Carlos Avenue, jumped after the driver told her the brakes had failed. The driver, Jeanne Alma Naughton, 49, of Daly City, stayed with the car. She was uninjured.

Police said the two women were riding along Belle Avenue when the driver applied her brakes and they failed to hold.

Mrs. Morris was treated at Marin General Hospital.

Inheritance Tax Measure Is Gaining

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO—A bill to put inheritance tax appraisers under civil service, thus eliminating the last major source of patronage in California politics, won its first test in Assembly committee yesterday.

Marin Assemblyman William T. Bagley's bill (AB 1049) was given a close voice-vote approval by the Committee on Governmental Organization and moved to the Ways and Means Committee.

Testifying for Bagley was legislative analyst A. Alan Post, who called the present appointment of the appraisers by the controller "outmoded." He said that only four states now have such a system and that most of these use civil service rolls to select appraisers.

Post estimated that by putting the appraisers on civil service salary, rather than fees, the state could save half a million dollars a year.

This was contested by Ralph McCarthy of Controller Alan Cranston's office. McCarthy said they figure the plan would cost the state between two and three million dollars more per year. He vigorously opposed the measure, which would require the controller to appoint all appraisers from the civil service rolls. At present Cranston has about 140 inheritance tax appraisers serving at his pleasure.

Bagley held on the committee's file for future consideration, two other bills on the same subject. AB 1323 would make the assessor of each county the inheritance tax and probate appraiser, putting all fees for such service in the county general fund. AB 2315 would eliminate all fees for inheritance tax appraisals.

Hospital Aide Hurt In Crash

A Ross Hospital surgical technician was treated at San Rafael General Hospital early today for scalp cuts after his car rolled over on Highway 101 north of Lucas Valley Road.

He was transferred in good condition to Ross Hospital.

The driver, Roger Charles Le Page, 30, of Tennessee Valley Road, Mill Valley, was driving south about 11:55 p.m. yesterday when another car without warning cut in front, he told the California Highway Patrol. The car hit the divider guard rail, then bounced into a metal bridge rail on the right.

College Officers Elected In Big Turnout Of Voters

In the largest vote that can be recalled at College of Marin, David Campbell of Inverness has been elected student body president for next fall in the first election permitting all students to vote.

Formerly only those student body cards—about 800 last February — were permitted to vote or hold office.

Election committee chairman Jeremy S. Smith said 406 ballots were cast—about 31 per cent of those eligible—contrasted to 150 in the February elections for class representatives. The turnout for major officers last December was about 180.

Campbell, unopposed on the ballot, got 325 votes, to a total of 41 votes for 10 write-in candidates.

Also elected without opposition by students nominated by petition were:

Paul Molinari, San Anselmo, vice president, 366 votes; Ann Buel, Mill Valley, secretary, 355; Edward Hodges, Kentfield, treasurer, 351; Marilin Heller, Mill Valley, yell leader, 339, and Sandra McKay, San Rafael, song leader, 329.

David Lehman, Corte Madera, was elected public relations commissioner with 236 votes, defeating William Zimmer, Sausalito, 146.

Ronald Foster, Marin City, was elected rally commissioner with 219, defeating Michael Thiercof, Larkspur, with 164.

Seven students received a total of eight votes for vice president; nine got a total of 10 for secretary; five got six for treasurer; two got one each for public relations; two got one each for rally commissioner; five got six for yell leader; and one received one for song leader.

The winners will be sworn in at an assembly at noon June 4 and take office in September. Four class representatives will be nominated and elected in fall semester.

Marin Youth Is Found Guilty Of Manslaughter On Highway

William Arthur Acree, 20, whose car struck and killed a Kentfield youth last New Year's Eve, is guilty of misdemeanor manslaughter, a Marin Superior Court jury ruled last night.

A jury of eight men and four women deliberated for more than five hours, spurning dinner, and brought in the guilty verdict at 7:15 a.m.

Judge Joseph G. Wilson set 10 a.m. Monday to hear a motion for a new trial by the defense and for sentencing. Misdemeanor manslaughter carries a maximum sentence of one year in county jail. Felony manslaughter, with which Acree was charged, carried a maximum penalty of five years in prison.

About 10:30 p.m. New Year's Eve, Acree's car struck two youths who were walking alongside Highway 101 near Marin City. Robert T. McMullen, 19, of Kentfield died from the injuries the next day, to become the first traffic fatality in Marin for 1963. His buddy, William R. Costello Jr., 19, of Larkspur suffered severe injuries but survived.

The jurors, headed by foreman Lynn L. Davis of San Rafael, found Acree guilty of manslaughter without gross negligence. Dist. Atty. Roger P. Garety, during the seven-day trial, pressed for a felony manslaughter conviction.

"We will definitely move for a new trial," said defense attorney William O. Weissich. "I am still convinced my client was not guilty of any criminal act.

"The jurors found that Mr. Acree was not exceeding 85 miles per hour but found that he violated the basic speed law —driving at a speed unsafe for the existing conditions," Weissich added. "The Highway is wide at that point, and at 10:30 p.m. I do not believe that driving 65 or under is an unsafe speed."

The defense contended that defective brakes caused the accident.

At the time of the accident, both Acree and his passenger, Penny Heide, 16, told patrolmen that she was driving. Later, Acree admitted he had been the driver. Acree's driver's license had been suspended last November after a property-damage accident.

CHP Warns On Highway Deaths

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The California Highway Patrol, looking toward next week's Memorial Day holiday, has warned that highway fatalities this year have exceeded those recorded at the same time in 1962.

Commissioner Bradford M. Crittenden said yesterday that the first four months of this year resulted in 1,228 traffic deaths. Last year at the same time 1,168 persons had died.

In areas patrolled by the CHP, 734 persons had died in 617 accidents. Last year 677 persons died in 556 fatal accidents. The other deaths occurred in cities and towns.

Special Job Centers

ROME (AP)—The Italian government maintains public works centers to provide employment for laborers who are too old, untrained or physically unsuited for normal jobs. The centers provide employment for about a quarter of a million men, who work on roads, public buildings, land reclamation and forestry projects.

Automation is Not the No. 1 Bogeyman

It is generally agreed the automobile business is a basic industry in our country; a bell-weather with sensitive effect on the entire economy. Measuring the all-encompassing impact of this industry, from raw materials, fabrication, manufacturing, distribution, sales, maintenance, and ultimate junking, to begin yet another cycle, is a staggering task.

Researching the entire cycle, reduced to a single American-made automobile, to ascertain its contribution to our economy in terms of jobs provided and money in circulation, is a project I intend to embrace with a fervor reminiscent of my eager days at Wayne University. The automobile business has been good for me. I am certain it has likewise been good for millions of other Americans.

It is because of my intense love of this business that I am alarmed over the apparent increasing inroads being made by imports. Each year finds more and more numbers and percentages of foreign-made cars sold in this country. True, some of these "toys" are no longer coming, but a few of the old die-hards keep arriving, like a swarm of locust.

The two most prominent reasons offered by the exponents for the imports to select their products over the home-grown models are economy and superior workmanship. The claim of superiority of construction I refute vehemently. American craftsmanship and know-how make most foreign offerings shoddy by contrast.

Economy of operation when limited to gasoline mileage alone suggests quite obviously the alternative of a bicycle or pogo-stick which use no gas at all. The fact of the almost non-existent use of imports by the major national fleet and lease operators who must, of necessity, reduce costs of maintenance and operation to fractions of pennies, should in itself deflate the economy contention of the imports.

Much concern and hand wringing has been made these past few years over the ominous threat of automation. Jobs are fast disappearing, the harbingers of doom predict. And, in the parking lot adjacent to the meeting hall, you can count the imports—a lot of them; each one of which represents a greater loss of jobs than probably any single automation advance.

If we're going to sing the blues let's make sure first we can carry a tune. Personally, we at Ames Ford will try to sell our American-made products in a positive manner, convinced of their superiority and greater value. And hoping to convince you, too.

DINING OUT AND INNS

By HARRY CRAFT

There's A Bit Of New Orleans Music Playing At Confucius

There's a certain touch in the fingers of John Whelan now at the organ at Confucius that betrays his New Orleans musical background, and it shows up even more at the piano. John has brought in his Baldwin concert organ to make Friday, Saturday and Sunday night appearances at the Greenbrae restaurant. Whether it's the organ itself or cocktail lounge, the acoustics are excellent. We're convinced, however, that Horace Fong should do a little remodeling and move the piano so John can alternate from one to the other.

Still favorites on the menu here — asparagus beef, also sesame chicken. And Horace's kitchen will prepare such things as rice vermicelli or bird nest soup by special request. The latter, by the way, is made from tiny mushroom growth that sprouts from certain vacated nests in Borneo, and is a treat by any gourmet standards.

MUSIC AND BUSINESS. Pianist Fred Gennert at the Blue Rock Inn, Larkspur, runs a San Francisco business consulting firm; banjoist Bill Fischer teaches college English and is completing a doctorate at U.C. Both have played at many top clubs.

Chef Louis Jackson at the Blue Rock is trying to convince Bob Hosmer he should add whole broiled Maine lobster to the menu. Bob is wondering if the customers will go for it. You might tell him.

MENUS SEEM TO BE MADE larger these days — four of them will cover a complete table. San Rafael Joe's is one of the places that uses them, but here it's necessary—so many dishes are offered. Items long remembered after the menus are put away at Joe's are the lobster steak, the New Yorks and dinner steaks—and the salads of Maria Naklicki.

In sunshine and warm weather, the latter are especially memorable, dietetically welcome and tasty. Maria deems to pick up renewed interest in direct proportion to the demand. Try Joe's mermaid salad sometime with crab, shrimp, prawns and lobster, the stuffed avocado, or the "Green Goddess." And one of Maria's real specialties is a fruit salad that should be written in capital letters.

I HAVE BEEN ASKED to name a full dozen Marin restaurants that most closely satisfy the requirements of a typical lunchtime business group (not including club gatherings).

This type of group, it should be explained, usually comes in numbers from two to eight, with probably a foursome as the median. It consists of executives or salesmen entertaining important customers, frequently out-of-town businessmen. Wives are sometimes included.

It usually conducts a certain amount of business discussion —either as a continuance of morning meetings, or complete in itself by appointment for that particular purpose. Requirements, therefore would be: Convenient location, surroundings conducive to discussions, and perhaps a certain flair.

Since I am limited to a choice of 12, it does not follow that there are no others which might not qualify, but alphabetically the list would run something like this:

Alta Mira Hotel, Sausalito; Buckeye, Sausalito; Confucius, Greenbrae; Dock, Tiburon; Dominic's, San Rafael; Franchini's Chateau, north of San Rafael; Nero's, Ignacio; Peacock Gap Golf and Country Club, Marin Bay; Rickey's Rancho Rafael, Ignacio; Sabella's, Alto; Sam's ,Tiburon, and Spinnaker, Sausalito.

SEVEN COURSES. Kirby Atterbury's Caprice in Tiburon may be compact, but the dinners are otherwise. Make reservations.

NEW AT DRAKE'S ARMS, Inverness: Strudel — in three varieties: Apple, poppy seed and cheese. Vladimir Nevl makes them fresh every morning. Probably has to, because they're eaten so fast. Good afternoon snack with tea or coffee.

Vladimir also reports that the Inverness Equestrians who meet regularly at Drake's Arms have planned an all-day English horse show for Father's Day, June 16. It will be held from 9:30 a.m. at the Inverness Lodge riding stables, but come and go as you please. No charge.

Another horse show is scheduled for later in the year — probably October — for crippled children in Marin.

LE CAFE FRANCAIS, serving French and American food in a nice setting (this is the former Fleur de Lys location), and at reasonable prices, opens tonight at 112 Spalding Avenue, San Anselmo. Dinners will be served only on Friday, Saturday and Sunday nights, and include soup, salad, entree and dessert. Prices from $3 and a la carte.

PLENTY OF SPACE. Tomahawk Lodge, north of Novato, has facilities for groups up to 200 and separate bar. An easy drive from almost anywhere in Marin. You can count on good food from Don Giavannoni's kitchen.

RUBINI'S in Fairfax will be closed next Thursday — Memorial Day.

Civic Affairs Unit To Elect

Election of officers tops the agenda for the Monday meeting of directors of the Marin Council for Civic Affairs.

The meeting will begin at 8 p.m. in room 413 at the Marin County Civic Center. The positions of chairman, vice chairman and treasurer must be filled as well as four members at large on the executive board. Committee appointments are the second item of business .

There will be a report on a book drive by Harold Stockstad and a report on the Marin Transit Act by Margaret Azevedo.

Meters Suggested For Locust District

Directors of the Mill Valley Chambers of Commerce Wednesday appointed Jerry Gooch as chairman of a committee to investigate possibility of installing parking meters on Miller Avenue in the Locust business district.

The action was taken after the board heard a report by Bert K. Mixon, sales engineer for Magee-Hale Park-O-Meter Co., who suggested the district is a "borderline" case. If installed, he recommended meters be in the center strip only. Meters have been suggested by the city council as a means of raising city revenues.

Theodore Roosevelt, youngest man to attain the presidency at 42 began his political career as a New York assemblyman when he was 23 years old.

Non-Teaching Group Elects

Mrs. Christine Sewell has been installed as president of the newly chartered San Anselmo chapter of the California School Employees Assn.

Other officers are Al Luddit, vice president; Mrs. Nancy Harris, secretary-reporter, and Mrs. Ferne Whitney, treasurer.

The association membership is made up of non-teaching school personnel. There are 350 chapters in California.

'The Robe' Showing On Hub Screen

By LESLIE DARD

Here's what's doing this weekend on Marin County screens:

TAMALPAIS THEATER

"The Robe," a gigantic story filled with romance, action and biblical pageantry is now doing a re-run here. In Technicolor, it was the first CinemaScope film ever made.

Richard Burton stars in this story of Christianity under the Romans. Burton plays a Roman who grudgingly makes the transition to Christianity.

Handed the routine job of supervising the execution of Christ, Burton spends the time on Calvary playing dice for His robe. In the shattering story that follows the Crucifixion, he loses the robe, his slave (Victor Mature) and apparently his sanity.

Convinced he has been bewitched, he returns to Palestine to investigate the Christian sect. He finds Mature and the robe at Cana, and the gentle behavior of the Christians puts him on the road to conversion.

Others in the cast include Jean Simmons, Dean Jagger, Michael Rennie.

TIBURON PLAYHOUSE

A semi-historical re-enactment of the last day in the life of Mahatma Ghandi makes a fine suspense story in "Nine Hours to Rama," now showing.

The amazingly authentic film uses India's millions to tell its part-history, part-fiction story. The plot against the Mahatma discovered, there is a day-long search throughout Delhi for the chosen terrorist assassin, identity unknown.

Horst Buchholz stars as the youthful fanatic, drawing a tense portrait of smoldering emotion. Jose Ferrer is excellent as a police superintendent racing against time to save Ghandi. A Ghandi look-alike, J. S. Casshyap, plays the role most convincingly.

Co-featured is "Period of Adjustment," the film version of Tennessee Williams' comedy, starring Jane Fonda, Jim Hutton, Anthony Francisca and Lois Nettleton.

MOTOR MOVIES

A little-known figure in biblical history is brought to life in "Barabbas," a 10-million-dollar Italian-produced (English language) spectacle, opening Sunday.

Barabbas was the murderer-thief spared by Pontius Pilate on the day Christ was crucified. The scriptures tell little else about him. Sweden's Nobel Prize author Par Lagerkvist explored the question in the 1951 novel upon which this film is based.

Anthony Quinn suffers mightily in the title role. Sylvano Mangano plays Barabbas' girl, who follows Christ and is stoned to death. Jack Palance is seen as a sadistic gladiator, Vittorio Gassman as an early martyr and Arthur Kennedy as Pilate.

101 DRIVE-IN

"Son of Flubber" opens Sunday, the sequel to Walt Disney's highly successful "Absent Minded Professor." Fred MacMurray again stars as the professor who invents flubber (flying rubber) and proceeds to turn the town upside down.

Flying autos, halfbacks that are passed the length of the field and a football that is kicked into orbit are a few of the hilarious activities you can expect on this crazy campus.

Co-featured is "Papa's Delicate Condition," starring Jackie Gleason, Glynis Johns and Charlie Ruggles in recollections of her youth by silent screen star Corinne Griffith.

RAFAEL THEATER

Truth indeed is stranger than fiction, but few factual incidents are ever stranger, more provocative and more shocking than the trial which comes to the screen as "Free, White and 21" opens Sunday at the Rafael. "Free, White and 21" stars Frederick O'Neal and Annalena Lund and the highlight of the ending is that you are the jury which must decide the merits of the case.

It's man's word against woman's but it is the question whether the facts will be allowed to decide his fate—the fate of a Texas Negro charged with violating by force a white woman. It is not a racial conflict because the woman is not a Southerner, but a Swedish citizen who came to Texas as a Freedom Rider and a friend of the Negro people. This is truly an adult film, and children or juniors will not be admitted.

SEQUOIA THEATER

"West Side Story," Leonard Bernstein's 11-Oscar winning musical, offers music, choreography, camera work and drama that all rate superlatives.

Essentially, it is a tragic Romeo and Juliet love story. Natalie Wood stars as the pretty, innocent Puerto Rican girl who makes the mistake of falling in love with a neighborhood boy from an enemy gang (Richard Beymer).

Their love becomes the center of a fierce conflict, and the means by which the film delivers its powerful sociological message.

NOVATO THEATER

The comedy "Forty Pounds of Trouble," stars Tony Curtis, Suzanne Pleshette and little Claire Wilcox.

Claire is the 40 pounds of the title, a five-year-old moppet abandoned by her gambler father in Harrah's Club at Lake Tahoe. Curtis, who plays the proprietor takes charge of her.

But Tony's life is complicated by legal maneuverings of his ex-wife, who's determined to hook him for alimony. He's just as determined to dodge her—and California laws. It all finally lands in Disneyland, however, for one of the best film looks at the place we've had.

FAIRFAX THEATER

John Huston's "Freud" is held over.

The picture is a searching analysis of the life and works of the controversial Viennese neurologist whose career changed medical history.

We see Freud develop theories about the human mind, advancing from hypnosis into free association and dream analysis. We see the birth of his theories on infantile sexuality and the various complexes.

Montgomery Clift is convincing in the title role. Susannah York plays his tormented young patient and Larry Parks is strong as his faithful friend.

LARK THEATER

The evergreen humor of Peter Sellers remains on view in the cops-and-robber farce, "Wrong Arm of the Law."

Sellers plays a Cockney who runs a fancy French dress shop as a cover for his serious profession: leading an association of criminals. Organized like a modern business, the syndicate offers its members such niceties as paid vacations, training films, etc.

All of which is very nice until three out-of-town talents, impersonating police officers, move into the syndicate's territory. Sellers arranges a 24-hour truce with Scotland Yard and cops and robbers go after the outsiders.

Delightful relaxation.

Dixie Students Prove To Have Very High IQs

Boys and girls who get "C" grades in the Dixie School District would probably get "B" grades in most other schools, according to Penrod Moss, district curriculum consultant.

Dixie has "many more bright youngsters than the average United States school district." This, plus a high level of education of parents in the district makes it "difficult to assess just what a 'C' really is," Moss told the district's board of trustees this week.

His comments were based on the analysis of intelligence tests which were given last fall to 817 children in fourth, fifth and eighth grades.

As in similar examinations gvien two years ago, the tests showed a high proportion of above-average students, he said. Twenty per cent of the children in the fourth grade have an average IQ above 131, whereas normally only 2 per cent would be in this category, with the average IQ score being 100.

But Moss pointed out that "some of the more gifted children are not doing as well as they might in arithmetic and spelling."

Except for those two subjects, he said, "we are doing a teaching job that is up to and beyond the normal in most cases."

He suggested the tests themselves may contribute to some lower scores, for many pupils are learning the "new math" spelling tests are simple tests but IQ tests are not geared to these recent methods. Some of "proofreading ability, not really spelling," he said.

Moss said grades given to freshmen at Terra Linda High School are "much higher" than grades earned while in the Dixie District eighth grades.

His six-page report and 25 charts and tables on the testing program was accepted by the board for further study.

Remedial Reading

Remedial reading, given for the first time this year in Mill Valley School District, will be the subject of a report by Dr. Logan T. Miles, assistant superintendent, at a meeting of the board of trustees at 8 p.m. Monday. Michael Healy, guidance consultant, will report on testing.

Dennis Lannigan is unopposed for vice president, and Laura Gavre is also running alone for secretary. Pamela Edison and Gary Phillipet are competing for treasurer.

Two groups are seeking election as songleaders for the fall. The "Candid 8s" are made up of Judy Sherseth, Valerie Sanz, Terri Blodget, Tina Press, Mary Galagher, Linda Hunter, Nancee Little and Pat Arey.

The "Nauti Gals" consist of Lynn Feldmeyer, Cindy Dunning, Helene Ruzicka, Sue Travis, Mary Annes, Linda Siem and Pat Bullwinkel.

Two groups are trying for the yell leader posts. The "Salty Briners" consist of Marilyn LaBoube, Bill Carey, George Girvin and Pat Cunningham. The "Riggers" are Terry Politi, Linda Hunsaker and Bobby DeMartini.

DRIVE THE SAME CAR FOR 11 YEARS?

That's right . . . the average Volvo owner in Sweden drives his car for 11 years before he trades it in for a new one. And that's 11 years of hard driving because Swedish roads are often icy, bumpy, and generally rough.

VOLVO'S "HIDDEN" PLUSES

Volvo is rugged! It has dozens of quality features that are not seen by the eye. But the Volvo owner knows they are there . . . his proof is in Volvo's performance. Volvo is quality from back to front bumper. For example special care is taken to make Volvo rust-proof. Every Volvo has special rust-proof paint, hand painted, under hinges, bolt plates, and in areas that will be enclosed . . . then the factory sends the car through a rust-proofing dipping process.

BEAUTY with a PURPOSE

Volvo is beautiful, but its lines are dictated by sound engineering principals. Volvo's design gives it special structural strength . . . strength to make it safer, virtually indestructible, and trouble-free . . . proof of the pudding is at trade-in time.

QUALITY...VOLVO'S PRICELESS INGREDIENT

Credit Supervisors, Counsel For Rapid Transit Action

Without going into the details of the proposal and without quibbling about crossed t's and dotted i's, we think the Marin Board of Supervisors has done a real service to the people of Marin in its proposal for a Marin County Transit District.

There will be plenty of time for adjustment of the detail, but the need of the moment is to have a plan in such condition that it can be started through the circuitous halls of the State Capitol.

The proposal as compiled by County Counsel E. Warren McGuire has all the basic requirements of a good transit district. It has a realistic 5 cent tax maximum, which is all that should be required in the early years of the district.

Ever since the county was, in effect, kicked out of the Bay Area Rapid Transit District, there has been a need for some agency to carry on rapid transit planning. Transit is something we must eventually have.

The reason we need such an agency now has been made more urgent because of the proposed state gasoline tax increase. Under this bill as it now stands, a major sum of money will be earmarked for rapid transit from the 1 cent tax boost. If Marin motorists are to pay the tax, they might as well benefit from it.

An agency here wouldn't be wasting the money. Rapid transit is badly needed even worse in the years immediately ahead. The state funds, added to what we can provide ourselves, should be more than adequate for proper study and solution of our problem.

We hope Assemblyman Bagley acts promptly and successfully on the proposed bill. But in the meantime, interested persons in Marin should study it and make suggestions. Changes can be made in it now. Amendment is easy at this stage of the game.

However, even if it passes and becomes law, bugs can still be eliminated at subsequent legislative sessions.

We congratulate the supervisors and County Counsel McGuire on a necessary bit of legislation, promptly attended to.

JUDGE FAVORS PARROT

Polly can ask for a cracker any time and in any way she pleases, accoording to one magistrate's ruling.

The parrot's owner was brought into an Ohio court on a charge that his pet was disturbing the peace by whistling, screaming and hollering day and night.

But Polly was saved on a technicality. The judge threw out the case on the grounds that the law specifies that a disturbance of the peace may be caused only by the use of horns, bells, radios or other instruments or devices.

While there may be legitimate differences of opinion as to how much it takes to disturb the peace, all of us have a built-in standard of what is approximately reasonable.

It is concisely summed up in the divine standard stressed by Christ when He said:

"As you wish men to do to you, so also do you to them." (Luke 6:31)

By showing others the same consideration that you would expect in their circumstances, you will be sure to strike a happy balance in respecting their rights as well as protecting your own.

Help me to look at things from the other person's point of view, O Lord.

Questions For Peace People

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

If the recent Interfaith Conference For Peace held at the Civic Center really succeeded in bringing Catholics, Protestants, and Jews together to discuss their concern for peace, it is a little short of miraculous.

However, Marin County is chock full of organizations that get people together for a lot of talk but little or no action.

Therefore, I would like to ask a few questions of these Interfaith Peace Conference people in order to clarify their intentions for Marin County.

1. Certainly, everyone who is sane desires peace, but what kind of peace are they seeking? Peace of mind? Peace at ANY PRICE? Complete disarmament? Peace among persons, or among nations? What is their goal?

2. How is it possible to discuss peace with other nations, without those nations being represented?

3. How does a peace conference in Marin County have any effect in the world . . . on Communist China, for example?

4. If the peace conference is meant to be a "seed" or beginning, how does it grow? What do they expect an ordinary person to do to attain peace? They must have some kind of plan. What is it?

5. I recall much talk about peace in the Thirties, which was quickly forgotten when our shipping lines were attacked. Is there any difference now?

I don't know who will answer these questions, but assume that since the three major faiths were able to get together for a conference, there must be some leadership to disseminate information to the citizens. We would like to know what it is all about.

Get The Facts Before Attacking

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

Those who know and understand the facts behind Sausalito's ambulance policy would not, I feel, be so quick—as Mme. Sally Stanford was in her letter of last week — to verbally assault the city manager.

Attacks based on partial knowledge and incomplete understanding (and what appears to be an axe to grind) tend to reflect unnecessarily on the integrity of our public officials.

It is true that City Manager Charles Brown decreed that the city's ambulance should not leave the firehouse unless two qualified personnel were aboard. The policy, it should be noted, has the concurrence of Fire Chief Matts Perry. The City Council knew of it when it was established—and offered no veto. Furthermore, notice of the policy was published in an Independent-Journal news story.

The policy was withdrawn after the city manager became concerned about the potential danger to patients riding in an ambulance manned only by the driver. Also a concern was the possibility of lawsuits rising out of such eventualities. Thus Brown consulted with physicians, hospital personnel, and the fire chief. The conclusions drawn were that:

1. It is false to assume that if an ambulance does not arrive immediately at the scene of an emergency the patient is certain to suffer grievous harm. In other words, rarely does a few minutes' delay become a life-or-death matter.

2. It is extremely dangerous to the health and safety of a patient to ride in an ambulance manned only by the driver.

3. To dispatch an ambulance with two men when only three firemen are on duty is unthinkable as regards the city's fire protection. The fire chief prohibits it.

Sausalito has seven firemen. Sometimes there are four at the firehouse; sometimes there are three. When there are four, the ambulance can roll. When there are three, it cannot.

By mid-summer, the city should have four new firemen, fully trained. This number will be enough to permit the ambulance to promptly answer calls at any time.

Like Mme. Stanford, I deplore the inability of the city's ambulance to promptly answer all emergency calls. But, while I have no personal involvement in this matter, I feel strongly that those who attack our dedicated, hard-working, long-suffering public officials, ought first to gather the facts and think them through.

Determined To Justify Tributes

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

Your editorial commemorating the California Teachers Association's centennial observance has been called to my attention.

I'm sure that all CTA members in your circulation area shared my several reactions: deep gratitude for this recognition, thankfulness for our predecessors in California education who earned this reputation over the past century, and determination to continue to justify the tributes you paid to the association.

We hopefully share the belief that the teaching profession, through its statewide association, has provided the needed leadership to keep standards of education in California high and its quality improving. However, without the understanding support of the people of this state our achievements would have been restricted; and understanding support without the informative and interpretive aid of newspapers such as the Independent-Journal would have been unattainable.

Again, I express the association's appreciation for such gratifying editorial recognition.

THE LIGHTER SIDE

Everybody Playing 'Tom Swifties' —Scribe Tells How It's Done

By DICK WEST

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Almost everywhere you look nowadays you find people exchanging "Tom Swifties."

For the benefit of the fortunate few who have been kept in the dark about this thus far, I shall attempt to explain what "Tom Swifties" are.

A "Tom Swiftie" is a type of pun. Its roots lie in the Tom Swift adventure books that boys used to read about four decades ago.

IF YOU RECALL these books, you may remember that Tom and his companions spoke in adverbs. Virtually everything they said was said adverbally. A typical bit of dialogue might go something like this:

"Don't worry, chaps, I'll find a way out," Tom said calmly.

"We're with you, Tom," the others said trustingly.

Now, if you make up a quotation of your own and apply the adverb in such a way that it forms a pun, you've got a "Tom Swiftie."

For example, my wife and I had a "Tom Swiftie" conversation at the breakfast table this morning.

"What's the matter with this coffee?" I asked bitterly.

"You forgot to put sugar in it," she replied sweetly.

"It still doesn't taste right," I said blackly.

"Try putting cream in it," she muttered thickly.

"There's something else wrong," I said coldly.

"Maybe you didn't plug in the percolator," she said heatedly.

ONE OF OUR local "Tom Swiftie" experts, Jerry Doolittle of the Washington Post, recently compiled a list that included:

"Where could that arrow have landed?" he remarked aimlessly.

An experienced "Tom Swifties" player would immediately respond to that with one of his own, like:

"It's in my back," she screamed piercingly.

Or: "It's in my foot," he said pointedly.

Once you get the hang of it, you can make "Tom Swifties" fit almost any situation, such as this recent piece of news:

"I'm getting married again," Gov. Rockefeller announced happily.

"To whom?" asked Prince Rainier gracefully.

Astronaut Gordon Cooper's recent flight opened up many avenues for "Tom Swifties" addicts.

"Everything is A-OK," NASA reported initially.

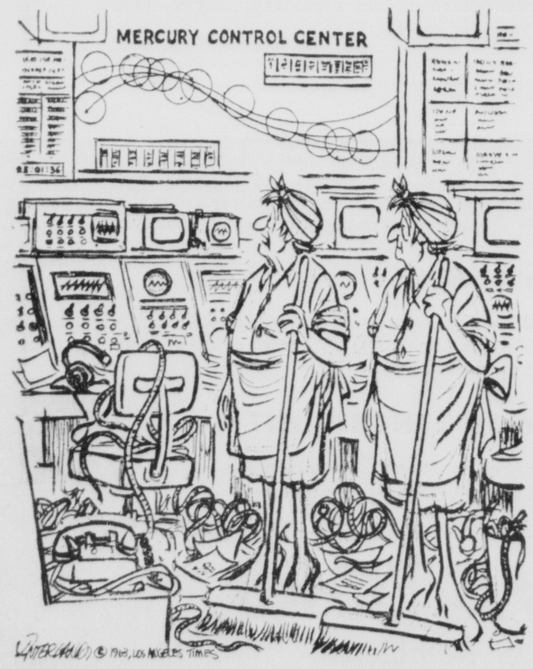
President Kenendy's legislative program likewise offers a fertile field for "Tom Swifties."

"Get busy on my tax bill," he told Congress cuttingly.

"But Medicare was one of my campaign promises," the President pleaded brokenly.

If this fad follows the usual pattern, the next step will be for someone to bring out a "Tom Swifties" coloring book.

THE CYNIC'S CORNER By Interlandi



"Who needs computers to analyze the data from Cooper's flight? All I know is, after Birmingham, it made me proud to be an American again!"

20 YEARS AGO

In an effort to control the rapidly changing stream of manpower in Marin County shops, a second War Manpower Commission organized by the buliding industry went into action. Builders were to be assured of holding essential men until they could be replaced by a provision that workers must notify of job changes in advance, and get approval before they quit.

Parking spaces on the west side of San Rafael's B Street were released by the army, allowing renewed civilian parking.

TRY AND STOP ME

BENNETT CERF

A new customer asked for the head of a Wall Street brokerage house, and once admitted to the inner sanctum, explained succinctly, "I have a really tough investment problem." "We're here precisely for cases like yours," the broker assured him cheerily. "Just what is your problem?" The customer said, "I haven't any money."

One of Groucho Marx's most famous rejoiners was made when a friend stopped short on Sunset Boulevard and exclaimed, "I must find a Western Union office. I've got to wire my father." "What's the matter?" demanded Groucho. "Can't he stand up by himself?"

Good advice from the flyleaf of a book of quips printed in Boston over a hundred years ago:

"Build for yourself a strong box;
Fashion each part with care.
Fit it with hasp and padlocks;
Put all your troubles there.
Hide there your every failure,
As each bitter cup you quaff;
Lock all your heartaches within it—
Then sit on the lid and laugh."

In Race For Space (Office Space) Only A Wall Protects The Victor

Marin County's supervisors acted just in time a week or so ago when they authorized a "space study" for future office needs of county departments.

The way departments were beginning to haggle over available space at the Civic Center, it looked as though open warfare might break out any moment. With word from the board that an investigation of the problem was under way, an uneasy situation was calmed—at least for a time.

OUR LOCAL SPACE program is hardly on the scale of the national one, but it's no less vital to the welfare and enlightenment of county officials. The study of space needs, with an eye to the proposed second wing of the Civic Center, will prevent hallway skirmishes over disputed square footage and midnight forays by department heads in search of empty rooms.

Administrative departments had no sooner moved to the new center last Christmas when territorial rights were called into question. Anybody maintaining his own office soon learned it was a mistake to boast about how pleasant and roomy his quarters were. Such intelligence was quickly passed on by agents of aggressive powers seeking to expand their Civic Center domains.

BORDER FIGHTS popped up everywhere. Now and again an outright invasion was launched. The race for space reached a point where a department was safe from the envy of others only if it were miserably overcrowded.

The county library had never had a home of its own before moving to the center. It was at last happily established under the center dome. But before long a highly organized search party spotted empty corners.

A campaign was whipped into shape with the objective of installing the new parks and recreation department in the library conference room. The move was thwarted when a conference room on another floor appeared more attractive to the space explorers.

The space cold war even pushed its way to the Old Courthouse in San Rafael where departments left behind began jostling each other.

APPARENTLY THE most effective means of safeguarding one's office was to throw up a wall around one's desk as soon as possible. This also became the strategy of the expansionists. As soon as they had conquered extra floor space, they sent out a request for materials and carpenters and began fortifying their new empire.

The Civic Center, with its interior walls, looks like a honeycomb made of countless little glass and plaster compartments. The press room did not escape this superfluous construction. I now have my own wall, separating me forever from the outside world and protecting me from the space hunters.

MY ONLY COMPLAINT is that it is an uninteresting wall. Unlike the wall in Bottom's interlude about Pyramus and Thisbe, it is not by any means the wittiest partition that ever did exist.

It lacks a chink for spying and offers no diverting discourses. It doesn't even soar all the way to the ceiling like the county auditor's new wall does. It's just a stunted, stupid wall.

At least it designates, once and for all, the boundaries of my share of space.

THE ALLEN-SCOTT REPORT

Stevenson To Geneva, Adm. Anderson To UN

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — Ambassador Adlai Stevenson is the hub of a new senstional story going the rounds in inner administration circles.

According to this startling tale, circulating in the highest quarters, President Kennedy is seriously deliberating shifting Stevenson from the United Nations headquarters in New York to the UN office in Geneva—where, it is being said, that post is to be greatly upgraded.

In Stevenson's place as UN ambassador in New York, goes this remarkable backstage report, will be named Adm. George Anderson, recently dropped as chief of naval operations.

STILL ANOTHER remarkable feature of this blockbuster is that this switching around is wholly agreeable to Stevenson; that he knows all about it and has acquiesced to it.

The eye-popping game of musical chairs, which inevitably would trigger other major changes, reputedly is scheduled to take place in August when Admiral Anderson relinquishes his place as a member of the Joint Chiefs of Staff to Adm. David McDonald, commander of U.S. Naval Forces in Europe.

The President is weighing this extraordinary plan, it is said, for two reasons:

TO REORGANIZE his international negotiating team in preparation for next year's torrid election battle, and to strengthen his position in Congress, where key leaders are increasingly critical of Defense Secretary McNamara's repeated overruling of military authorities on major issues.

Significant credence is given the story by Stevenson's surprise appearance before the House Foreign Affairs Committee last week to urge approval of the bill recommended by the President to upgrade this country's representation at the Geneva office of the United Nations.

Also significant, Stevenson was accompanied before the House committee by Asst. Secy. of State Harlan Cleveland, in charge of international organization affairs. Insiders say he is one of the few officials with whom the President has discussed the Stevenson-Anderson plan.

IN RESPONSE to questions by committeemen, Cleveland acknowledged that the legislation sought by the administration, in addition to greatly enhancing the importance of the Geneva representation, would empower the President to make other changes in the State Department and White House without obtaining congressional approval.

Among White House insiders, the President's relations with Stevenson are characterized as friendly but reserved. The President is described as regarding highly the 1952-56 Democratic standard bearer's intellectual ability, integrity and standing with foreign diplomats—but being leery of his judgments.

A bridge player is not without honor, save in his own game. But he must expect a good roasting in his own game, no matter how well he plays.

All of which may explain the comments made when Ernest Keller, Los Angeles insurance executive, got out from under in today's hand.

South took the ace of hearts and stole a look at his opponents. Keller, at his right, looked a trifle too satisfied with life so declarer came to the conclusion that the king of clubs was in unfavorable position.

SOUTH DRAWS

Having come to this conclusion, South drew two rounds of trumps, cashed the king of hearts, and ruffed a heart. He next led a diamond to dummy's king.

Keller saw what was coming and dropped the queen of diamonds under dummy's king.

When declarer continued with the ace of diamonds Keller dropped the jack of diamonds.

CONTINUES DIAMONDS

Declarer went on with the diamonds, and Keller played the deuce and held his breath.

Fortunately for the defense, West had the nine of diamonds and was able to win the trick.

West returned a club through dummy's queen, and Keller eventually took a club trick to defeat the contract.

"BAD BREAK"

If Keller had won the third round of diamonds he would have been forced to lead away from the king of clubs, and South would have avoided the loss of a club trick.

"What miserable breaks," South grumbled. "That lucky Keller didn't see the deuce of diamonds until it fell out of his hand."

"You still haven't seen the point," West put in. "It's no accident when Keller makes a good play. It's a miracle."

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Mill Valley Thefts Linked To Teeners

Mill Valley police yesterday apprehended two Mill Valley boys, 16 and 15 years old, who allegedly committed four burglaries over the past three days.

Recovered from the 15-year-old's home were $82 and seven transistor radios valued at $225, believed stolen from Tad's TV and Radio at 398 Miller Avenue.

The younger of the two, a burglary parolee from San Francisco Guidance Center, was placed in juvenile hall. The 16-year-old was cited to juvenile court to appear Wednesday.

Police Chief Dan Terzich said the method of burglary matched an earlier one for which the 15-year-old was arrested two weeks ago.

Questioned, the 15-year-old admitted breaking into Tad's Tuesday night, taking $82 in cash. Wednesday, he told officers, he and the 16-year-old went to the same store and took the radios plus $2 in cash. Then they broke into Edna Maguire School, stole $18 and 25 bottles of soft drinks, and broke into Alto School but took nothing there. They did damage estimated by school officials at $22 at Edna Maguire and $50 at Alto, Terzich said.

Novato Finance Aide Tentatively Approved

A finance office for the city of Novato was tentatively approved by the city council last night at its first study session on the 1963-64 budget.

Salary for the office was set at $8,305. The city council will appoint the finance officer.

The position of cashier clerk, also requested in the budget, was eliminated by the council. Capital outlay for the city clerk's budget was cut from $2,490 to $2,000.

The council approved a position of assistant city planner at $583 per month.

The budget for the city attorney was tentatively approved as submitted.

Other changes included raising city council expenditures for memberships and meetings from $1,000 to $1,600. The city administrator's vehicle operation budget was cut from $500 to $400.

The council adjourned to 8 p.m. Sunday for its second budget study meeting.

Biggest Gold Theft In Britain

LONDON (UPI)—Four bandits clad in blue over-alls, their faces covered by women's silk stockings, stole half a ton of gold bullion bars worth $700,000 today in what police said was Britain's biggest gold theft.

The thieves grabbed the gold in a spectacular lunchtime raid on a bullion broker's warehouse in the City of London business section.

The simplicity of the operation recalled a classic British gangster movie, "The Lavender Hill Mob." Police were reported amazed.

Three of the members of the gang pounced on warehouse guard Percy Houghton, a 55-year-old former policeman, immediately after a bullion truck delivered 80 gold bars from Rothschild's bank.

They clubbed him and tied him to a chair. Then they loaded 40 of the bars, each weighing 28 pounds, into a delivery truck and sped away in the wrong direction on a one-way street.

Directors Authorize Toll Study

Study of a one-way toll plan for Golden Gate Bridge, designed to speed up rush-hour traffic, was authorized today by directors of the Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District.

Traffic engineer Arthur C. Jenkins will make the study for $10,000. The study was recommended yesterday by the joint finance and building and operating committee of the district.

Under the proposal, motorists would pay double fare to come into San Francisco from Marin, but would get a free ride going out of the city.

Directors also today took a firm stand against proposed state legislation that would make Golden Gate Bridge toll-free. Directors claimed the bill was premature.

Gets Jail For Exposing Self

Russell Evan Fabian, 21, of Ignacio, an apprentice mechanic, must serve 30 days in Marin County Jail for outraging public decency.

Judge Leonard A. Thomas of Marin Municipal Court yesterday put Fabian on one year supervised probation and ordered him to serve a month in jail, with work furlough privilege.

San Rafael police arrested Fabian on March 9 for exposing himself at Sun Valley playground.

Six Buses Will Take Marinites To Market Street Rights March

Six buses are to leave Mill Valley at 1 p.m. Sunday, making stops at Marin City and Sausalito, to take Marin residents to San Francisco for a civil rights demonstration on Market Street.

The move was initiated by Brunhilde Liebes of Mill Valley.

Maggie Grant, Greyhound lines agent in Mill Valley, said buses being chartered will be paid for by passing the hat. She is giving her commission for her contribution. "If more is collected," she said, "it will be given to an organization such as CORE or the Southern Christian Leadership Conference."

"We hope for a large caucasian turn-out," she added.

The parade is to begin at the Ferry Building and go to the City Hall Plaza, where Rev. Bernard Lee of Birmingham, Ala., is to be principal speaker. Lee is vice president of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference. The demonstration is sponsored by Church Labor Conference, the Baptist Ministers Union of San Francisco, and the Hunter's Point Clergy Fellowship.

It is expected that the Marin contingent will return about 5 p.m., Mrs. Grant said.

Giants Better Than L.A. In Power, Defense; Pitching Appears Equal

CONNOLLY

Some people say writing baseball is a nasty habit, an evil trend, because when you write what you think, it generally hurts someone. That is what makes me sad and weary recalling all the mean things I've written and said about the el foldo of the Dodgers in the waning days of last season.

Let's repent and say the Dodgers didn't "blow" the pennant because they were weak kneed and without courage. Rather they "bogged down" with turmoil and dissension, jealously and other things, eh?

The three-game weekend series starting tonight and continuing Saturday and Sunday afternoons is so intense that more than 120,000 cash customers are likely to pile into Candlestick Park to see the rumpus.

The Dodgers were favorites last year to cop the pennant because they had two ace righthanders in Don Drysdale and Stan Williams and two kingpin southpaws in Sandy Koufax and Johnny Podres, and a well healed and healthy bullpen.

THIS YEAR they come up to the Giants with only one righthander of ace proportions —Drysdale—and one sure fire southpaw—Sandy Koufax.

It was the loss of Koufax with an ailing finger that hurt the Dodgers, in fact, sunk 'em out of the pennant last year.

With the loss of Sandy it put an extra burden on Drysdale and while he accepted the heavy burden, he balked at times, or is supposed to have balked, and that balking by Drysdale gave Manager Alston a pain in the neck and before the season ended Don and Walter were not speaking to each other.

SO THE same two teams that battled it all the way down to the finish are at it again. And strangely the Dodgers figure they are stronger NOW than the Giants. And it just don't make sense.

For money, marbles or chalk the Giants have more power, better defense and just as varied and strong a pitching staff, if not better, than the Dodgers.

Drysdale, Koufax and Podres carry the load with help from Bob Miller and the bullpen of Perronski, Reichert, Roebuck, Ortega, Moeller and Smith doing the best they can.

Drysdale, so they say, is unbeatable when right.

For than matter, so are Sanford and Marichal.

YOU GET the same sort of argument when you compare Sandy Koufax with Billy O'Dell. Sandy strikes out more than Billy but he has his off days and gets thumped occasionally.

So measuring the ball club from last year's form chart one discovers that the Dodgers on occasions are tougher when Drysdale and Koufax are steaming than when Sanford and O'Dell are doing likewise.

I'd have to say that the trouble with the Dodgers is they have the same traits of the Giants. When they're good, they're perfect and when they're bad, they are bad and more of it.

SO STARTING tonight all the ratings go out the window. It's hard to compare two clubs like the Giants and Dodgers in a three-game setto. But that depends whose side you are on. The Dodgers, after plunking the Giants three in a row last time they met, figure they can repeat.

But in my method of calculating the Dodgers might take one game, either with Sandy Koufax, or, if not him, with Drysdale. So if that crack doesn't put the hex on the S.F. club, next time I'll think up something worse.

Marichal Vs. Koufax In Opener Tonight

National League pennant favorites Los Angeles and San Francisco, already pulling away from the rest of the field, open a three-game series tonight at Candlestick Park that draws memories from 1962.

The Giants, thanks to a faster start, hold a one game edge over Los Angeles. But the Dodgers have won eight straight and 11 of 12 games in a bid for the lead. Third-pace St. Louis is 4½ games back.

Two weeks ago, the Dodgers swept a three-game set from the Giants in their first meeting since San Francisco won the 1962 pennant playoff.

Sandy Koufax, 6-1, who no-hitted the Giants 8-0 May 11, pitches tonight against Juan Marichal, 5-3, who was 3-1 against the Dodgers last year.

Billy O'Dell will face Los Angeles' Johnny Podres tomorrow and the Giants' Jack Sanford meets Don Drysdale Sunday.

The Giants are hoping they will bounce back from the shellacking in Los Angeles just as they did last year.

Los Angeles won three straight at home in late July 1962 but the Giants reopened the pennant race in mid-August with three straight over the Dodgers at Candlestick Park.

That was the "Malibu Beach" series, where the Dodgers accused Giants groundskeepers of flooding and sanding the infield to slow the Los Angeles base stealers.

Groundskeeper Matty Schwab insists he has no tricks up his sleeve this year and will water the field just enough to keep the dust down.

While even a sweep would give Los Angeles only a two-game lead at this early stage of the season, a resultant 6-0 edge over the Giants could establish a strong psychological advantage for the two contenders' coming meetings.

Through a schedule oddity, the Giants and Dodgers will meet five more times from June 10 to 19, then won't see each other for more than two months until they tangle seven times in 11 days beginning Aug. 29.

San Francisco won seven of 10 Candlestick meetings with the Dodgers last year in a bizarre set that included:

The "Malibu Beach" affair; an 8-7 Dodger victory where Willie Mays raced from a Superior Court hearing, arrived in the seventh inning and killed two rallies with a strikeout and popup; a hotly disputed foul tip call that went against the Dodgers and opened the gates for six Giants runs in an 11-2 victory; six-inning no-hit bids by Sanford and Koufax on successive days; ten Dodger errors in two days; a five-run ninth-inning Dodger rall that fell short, 19-8.

Pete Hoffman, the ticket manager of the Giants, says that all reserved seats at Candlestick already have been sold for the series which is expected to attract 120,000 fans.

The Giants aren't expected to be exactly pushovers for the fast-moving Dodgers. San Francisco has won seven of its last nine games at Candlestick.

"It's the best series in baseball these days," says Dark. "We are going to have to beat the Dodgers to win the pennant again. Pitching will be the big thing in this, or any other, series."

Not around to pester the Giants is Maury Wills, baseball's all-time base-stealing champion of the Dodgers. He has been hampered by leg injuries this year. The Giants believe that the absence of Wills just about makes the two clubs equal.

INTERNAT'L GOLF

Yank Walker Cup Team Takes Lead

TURNBERRY, Scotland (AP)—The United States took a 2-1 lead over Great Britain in the Walker Cup international golf competition today by winning two of the morning scotch foursomes in the opening day's play and halving another.

Labron Harris Jr., U.S. Amateur champion from Stillwater, Okla., and Downing Gray of Pensacola, Fla., gave the U.S. the lead when they defeated Joe Carr of Ireland and Christy Green of Scotland, 2 up.

Deane Beman of Bethesda, Md., former U.S. and British amateur champion, and Charlie Coe of Oklahoma City won the other point for the United States by beating David Sheahan and Michael Lunt 5 and 3.

Bob Gardner of Essex Fells, N.J., and Dr. Ed Updegraff of Tucson, Ariz., halved their match with Britain's David Medeley and Ronnie Shade after being two down at the 11th hole.

BRITISH VICTORY

Michael Bonallack and Stuart Murray turned in the only British victory, beating Billy Joe Patton of Morgantown, N. C., and Dick Sikes of Springdale, Ar., 4 and 3.

The matches were played in rain and bitter cold that played havoc with the Americans' game. They had putting troubles from the start and no one came close to par on the 7,025-yard, par 37-35—72 Turnberry course.

San Rafael Wins Prep Golf Title

Coach George Lester's San Rafael Bulldogs breezed to the team championship and Novato's sharp-shooting Barry Hachmyer reaped all the individual glory yesterday in the first annual Marin Athletic League golf tournament at the Indian Valley course in Novato.

San Rafael's four-man team, led by Bruce Wold's two-over par 74, scored an aggregate of 335 strokes, 13 better than runner-up Tam High's 348. Following were Redwood and Novato in a tie at 357, Drake 374, Marin Catholic 381 and Terra Linda 384. Each school entered its four best golfers.

Hachmyer, a junior who has parred or broken par on every course in Marin County during the past two years, equalled Indian Valley's par 72 figure yesterday in spite of a two-stroke penalty for a double bogey on the second hole. He also bogeyed holes 8, 12, 14 and 15, but chopped all those extra strokes with six birdies on the first, fourth, sixth, ninth, tenth and thirteenth holes.

San Rafael's easy team victory would have been much easier except for a horrendous 16 on the final hole by Craig Ballentine which skyrocketed his round to a 93—far above his usual game. Ballentine spent more time out of bounds than an AWOL sailor on that nightmarish final hole.

San Rafael's other scorers besides Wold's 74 and Ballentine's 93 were Jim May with an 80 and Tom Degenhardt 88.

Some of the other better individual scores of the day were turned in by Doug Ferguson, Terra Linda, 79; Bob Richeda, Drake, 80; Terry Van Buskirk, Tam, 82, and Rick Webb, Redwood, 83.

Nats No Better Under New Boss

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

On the strength of his first night on the job, Gil Hodges appears to be on no danger of having to leave the country.

Hodges, moving from cellar to cellar, took over as manager of the last place Senators last night, shifting from the New York Mets who occupy a similar position in the National League.

Before the game, the appointment came up for discussion on Capitol Hill, where one congressman said if Hodges can do anything with the slumping Senators he will be just the man to take over the U.S. foreign aid program.

Gil seems to be safe at home for a while. The Senators responded to new leadership by rolling over quietly before Robin Roberts and the Baltimore Orioles, 6-0, for their 11th loss in their last 12 games.

Roberts held the Senators to two hits, both by shortstop Ed Brinkman, and didn't walk a man as he pitched his third straight complete victory. The his first four this season.

ORIOLES LEAD

The victory, Baltimore's ninth in 10 games, moved the Orioles a half game in front in the American League over the idle Chicago White Sox.

The other two games on the slim baseball card also produced shutouts, both in the National League.

The St. Louis Cardinals moved back into third place with a 1-0 victory over the Chicago Cubs, and the Cincinnati Reds defeated the Milwaukee Braves 2-0.

Ernie Broglio, the Cardinal ace, ran his record to 5-1 with a five-hitter. Lefty Dick Ellsworth, who allowed only four hits in seven innings, was the Cub victim. Catcher Gene Oliver's home in the fifth accounted for the only run.

Jim O'Toole won his seventh against three losses on a three-hitter against the Braves. Denny Lemaster, the loser, threw a four hitter. The Reds scored in the fourth on an error and a pop double by Daryl Spencer. They added a run in the ninth on another error, a stolen base and a single by Ken Walters.

Scanlon Prepares For Capitol Bout

Winner of the fight, agreed on Thursday, is expected to obtain a match with former lightweight champion Joe Brown.

After 49 Day Delay, Marin Tourney Resumes Tomorrow

Remember the Marin Athletic League Baseball Tournament?

Semi-finals and final games will be played tomorrow at San Rafael's Albert Field after a 49-day postponement from the original schedule.

Opening round games of the 1963 tourney were played April 5 but rains that night and the next day called a halt to the proceedings before the opening round game between Marin Catholic and Drake and the final round games could be played on April 6.

In the meantime, Drake High School compiled an 11-1 MCAL record to run off with the loop championship flag, three games ahead of second-place Redwood.

But in the opening round game of the tourney, made up on April 12, Marin Catholic knocked Drake out of the championship bracket with a 6-4 victory.

Tomorrow's action will start at 10 a.m. with five games on tap. In the opener Redwood and Terra Linda will tangle in the first semi-final tilt, followed by the other semi-final game between Tamalpais and Marin Catholic at 12:15 p.m.

Consolation game action will find guest San Rafael Military Academy battling Novato at 2:30 p.m. and San Rafael and Drake clashing at 4:45 p.m.

CHAMPIONSHIP GAME

The final game of the evening, for the championship, will be played at 7 p.m. Winners of the Redwood-Terra Linda and Tam-Marin Catholic games will be playing in this one.

Other first round results found Terra Linda bombing San Rafael Military Academy 17-3, Redwood dropping Novato 4-1, and Tamalpais shutting out San Rafael 4-0 in a game that was called after five innings because of rain.

If it rains tomorrow, the tournament will be canceled.

Big 6 Stars Perform At Berkeley Tomorrow

BERKELEY (UPI) — The Big Six track and field championships will be staged at University of California tomorrow—with University of Southern California Trojans the odds-on favorites to win it.

But much of the spotlight will be on a couple of athletes representing other schools. Brian Sternberg of University of Washington is one of the world's greatest pole vaulters and held the world record at 16 feet, 5 inches for a few hours earlier this spring.

Dave Weill of Stanford is the NCAA discus throwing champion and is about ready to take a crack at the 200-foot mark.

But the trojans have the balance of power. They have such outstanding men as Rex Cawley in the 440 dash and hurdles; Julio Marin, ace three-miler; Brian Polkinghorne and Bob Pierce, who could finish one-two in the hurdles; and Lew Hoyt, the seven-foot high jumper.

Among the other outstanding contenders for crowns will be Harry McCalla, Stanford's great miler; Dave Archibald, California quarter-miler; and the incomparable C. K. Yang of UCLA.

Yang, who holds the world record in the decathalon, has a sore back. So he'll probably pass up the pole vault, where he has cleared 16 feet.

But he plans to compete in the javelin, high hurdles, 220 or 100 yard dash, the broad jump—and lead off for UCLA in the mile relay.

Nicklaus Ace Gives Him Tie For Lead

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UPI)—Jack Nicklaus, thanks to a spectacular hole-in-one—first of his professional career—shared the lead with seven other golfers today going into the second round of the $50,000 Memphis Open Tournament.

His 185-yard ace, the second in six years of Memphis Open history and the season's ninth for the PGA, came on the par-3 third green of the rolling course.

The boyish-faced Nichlaus carded a 32-35—67 to join hometown favorite Cary Middlecoff at 32-35—67; Jerry Edwards 34-33—67, Buster Cupit 33-34—67; Fred Hawkins 35-32—67; Dick Mayer 33-34—67; John Pott 36-31—67 and Tony Lema 32-35—67. Lema ranks third behind Nicklaus and Gary Player in current PGA money winnings.

Player, a pre-tournament favorite, fell behind 25 leaders with a par 70.

Mrs. Cann Winner At Meadow Club

Mrs. John Cann fired a low gross of 81 yesterday in the Meadow Club's women's guest day medal handicap golf tournament.

Net leaders:

Class A—Mrs. H. C. Transue, 92-18—74; Mrs. Ed Vest, 90-15—75; Mrs. Aubrey Babson, 86-11—75; Mrs. Clifton Morrill, 96-19—77.

Class B—Mrs. J. F. Harrison, 91-21—70; Mrs. R. J. Fuite, 98-24—74; Mrs. R. L. Hibbett, 101-22—79; Mrs. L. H. Arfsten, 101-21—80.

Class C — Mrs. Hal Carmona, 103-29—74; Mrs. Norman Ackley, 100-25—75; Mrs. Arthur Latno, 102-26—76; Mrs. Milt Gabbs, 103-25—78.

There will be a meeting for sponsors and managers of teams interested in joining the Marin Semi-Pro Baseball League next Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. at the Taveggia-Brusatti Sport and Saddle Shop, San Rafael.

Rome Brusati and Frank Quinn, commissioners of the league, said the loop will start next month.

Sohner Softballers Trek To Santa Rosa

Sohner Tree Service softballers trek to Santa Rosa tomorrow night to battle the highly-touted Santa Rosa Athletic Club in an 8 p.m. doubleheader.

Righthanders Jay Leatherwood and Lou Jerazzo are expected to handle the pitching chores for the Treemen.

Battle S.F. Spiders

Keith Chapman will be on the mound when the Mill Valley Merchants take on the San Francisco Spiders Sunday at 1:30 p.m. in a semi-pro baseball on the Project 17 diamond in Mill Valley.

16 Night Games, 40 Day Contests Slated For AFL

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—Sixteen night games and 40 daytime affairs are on the schedule of the American Football League with Kansas City, a new member via moving the Dallas franchise, having the honor of launching the campaign.

The schedule couldn't be announced by Commissioner Joe Foss until it was certain that Dallas was going to Kansas City. The word came Wednesday.

The transplanted Kansas City club will meet Denver at Denver Sept. 6 in a night game that gets the race under way.

Kansas City also plays Denver in the Thanksgiving Day feature and will clash with the New York Jets Saturday, Dec. 14, in a nationally-televised game from Kansas City.

PREP TRACKMEN IN NCS FINALS

Competition will be rough when Marin's top prep trackmen who qualified in the divisional meet last Saturday bump heads with the qualifiers of the other two divisions in the North Coast Section meet tomorrow at Pittsburg High School.

The sectional meet, a prelude to the state meet May 31 and June 1, will start at 9:30 a.m. with the opening final event scheduled for 1:30 p.m.

The Marin Athletic League will send two Division III winners into tomorrow's meet. San Rafael's swift Mike Shafer won the quarter-mile with a time of 49.7 and Tamalpais High School's Ellis Williams won the broadjump with a leap of 21-5 1/4.

Shafer is the defending winner of the sectional 440, taking top spot last year at 49.2. San Rafael track coach Bill O'Bayley has said his quarter-mile is in the "best shape of the year."

San Rafael sprinter Bob Olson and Williams will be running against lightning in the meet. Berkeley sprinter Jerry Williams has been clocked at 9.5 and 20.5 in the 100 and 220, not to mention a 9.4 clocking last week which was disallowed because of mix-ups in the watches.

MARIN RECORD

Olson has set the Marin Athletic League record this year at 9.9, so you can see what he has in front of him. Both Olson and Williams of Tam will be running against the Berkeley flash in the 220, and Olson will be against him in the century.

Other varsity performers from Marin who will be competing in the sectional are:

Redwood's Tom Strathairn in the 180 low hurdles and 120 highs; Bill Gillingham of Tam and Harley Miller of Drake in the 880; Fred Harris of Tam and Jim Duff of Drake in the 440; Art Foster of Tam and Henry Solen of San Rafael in the high jump, and the Redwood 880-yard relay team of Bob Piro, Pete Holter, Dave Auerbach and Strathairn.

Redwood's Randy Keller, top miler in Marin, was expected to qualify in the Division III meet last Saturday but an injury prevented him from running up to form. He limped to a 4:56 clocking last week, 26 seconds off his normal time.

It will be the final meet of the year for the Class B cindermen. Leading the Marin entrants will be Drake High School's flash, Dean Lazzarini, winner of both the 75 and 150-yard dashes in the Division III match last week.

Other B division winner from Marin in tomorrow's meet will be Terra Linda's Doug Barnard who won the 120-yard low hurdles in 13.8.

FOUR HOMERS PACE GIANTS OVER TACOMA

TACOMA, Wash. (AP) — Ed Bailey banged out two home runs Thursday night and Matty Alou and Orlando Cepeda each contributed one circuit clout as the San Francisco Giants jumped on their Pacific Coast League farm club, Tacoma, for a 6-1 exhibition baseball victory.

The win went to Jim Duffalo, who pitched eight innings. Bonus rookie Al Stanek took over in the ninth and set the side down in order.

MAJOR LEAGUE TRANSACTIONS

Piersall Traded To Mets; Reds, Pirates In Key Deal

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

It wasn't an even exchange, but the New York Mets got Jimmy Piersall and the Washington Senators wound up with John F. Kennedy.

Completing a quick double-play—without a fumble—the Senators fired the controversial Piersall over to the Mets yesterday in what appeared to be the conclusion of the deal in which Gil Hodges took over as Washington manager.

Hodges, of course, lost a ballplayer before he even got started with his new club, but the Senators gave him three in return by latching onto pitcher Pete Burnside, outfielder Barry Shetrone and an infielder named John F. Kennedy.

In another trade, Pittsburgh acquired Jerry Lynch, pinch hitter deluxe, with the home run touch, from Cincinnati in a straight player deal that sent outfielder Bob Skinner to the Reds.

The Kansas City Athletics shipped outfielders Manny Jiminez, who hit .301 as a rookie last year, and Jose Tartabull to Portland while elevating Hector Martinez and John Wojcik from their Pacific Coast League farm club.

Piersall figures to be a fixture in the Mets' center field and fits Manager Casey Stengel's description of "my type of player."

Piersall expressed little surprise at the deal. "I've been in baseball 16 years. You never know what's going to happen," he said. "I'm happy to go play for Stengel. He was my biggest booster when I was a rookie. He made the compliments on my fielding that caused people to begin to notice me."

Piersall did other things to make people notice him. He had frequent run-ins with umpires, exchanged words of an uncomplimentary nature with managers, and throughout his career has been a favorite target for hostile fans.

He should be well received by the Mets' fans, who love their own.

Piersall's credentials, despite his antics, speak well of Piersall the ballplayer. He carried a .274 lifetime average over a 12-year span into this season and is rated one of the finest fielding outfielders in the game.

To get Piersall, the Mets also sent along a bundle of cash and will ship a player to be named later to the Senators.

After completing the Piersall deal the Senators optioned pitcher Art Quirk, called up Shetrone from their Columbus team in the International League, signed free agent Burnside and elevated Kennedy, a youngster with the famous name who last year broke in by hitting a homer in his first at-bat in the majors.

The Lynch-Skinner transaction likely will have considerable bearing on the pennant races. The Pirates pick up a slugger in Lynch and the Reds round out a top outfield with Skinner joining Vada Pinson and Frank Robinson.

Skinner said he had an idea he might be traded, despite the fact he hit .302 last year with 20 homers and 75 runs batted in.

Reds' President Bill Dewitt said he gave up Lynch because "Skinner is a year younger, a better runner and a better outfielder."

Lynch has compiled an astonishing record as a pinch-hitter. He has a career total of 13 pinch homers, one shy of the major league record held by George Crowe.

That home run punch seemed to impress the Pirates. Said General Manager Joe L. Brown: "He carries a big bat and can do the job as a regular or on the bench. He's the kind of player that can spark a club."

Anybody For Croakers? They're Running In Upper San Pablo Bay

STEVENS

Anybody for Croakers?

They've been getting them the past few days off Buoy 5 in the upper San Pablo Bay. Johnny Sivera netted 30 of them on Sunday; one lad working alone caught several and threw them back, not knowing what they were or that they are very fine eating. Joe Nerviani of Santa Venetia reported a few brought into his place by fishermen who asked what they were.

WHAT IS a Croaker? It is a fish belonging to a large and very important family. About 30 genera and 150 species, only two of which frequent our waters . . . the Black Croaker and the Spotfin Croaker.

I judge from Johnny's description that the species now in the bay are the Spotfins, sometimes called the Golden Croaker. The local Game Warden, contacted by Johnny, named them Canadian Croakers, which is probably a local, unauthorized name. Others incorrectly call it a Kingfish.

THESE FISH are well named. They actually grunt, snore or croak when first landed. They are very good to eat, and probably should be classed as a game fish to judge by the battle they are said to put up on light tackle. Seldom are they found in deep water or about rocks; apparently they prefer to forage (or maybe to spawn) in fairly shallow water close to shore.

Like the Queenfish, which it resembles, the Spotfin Croaker has a small mouth. If you try for them (they should be around for another month), use very small hooks—about the size you use to catch flounders—and small pieces of bait. Keep a taut line and set the hook quickly. Some specimens go to five and six pounds, but Johnny Sivera told the majority he has netted have been 15 and 16 inches. If not too heavy a tide is running, you might get in some top flight sport on a light spinning rod. I understand the Spotfin Croaker puts up a real battle when hooked on very light tackle.

NOT MUCH to report anent striper striving generally. An occasional bass has been caught, but the average fish per rod has been very very low. I was told, however, that a number of dead bass along with smelt and at least one dead shark, have been seen in the South Bay and the Alameda Estuary. I contacted Cecil Martin, polution officer of the F&G, and he is making an investigation.

The Sea Horse, out of Berkeley, on Tuesday netted 15 salmon out near the Farralones. The fish ran to 27 pounds.

'Mile Of Century' Will Be Televised

MODESTO (AP) — Tomorrow's mile run between New Zealand world record holder Peter Snell and American citizen's record holder Jim Beatty will be nationally televised.

The American Broadcasting Company (channel 7) said it will show the latest "Mile of the Century" between 9:45 and 10:30 p.m. EST.

Managers of the California Relays moved the time of the race up more than an hour to accomodate the national audience.

Snell, who opened his U.S. tour last Friday with a 4:00.3 performance in Los Angeles, holds the record of 3 minutes, 54.4 seconds. Beatty has run 3:56.3.

Flying Safety Award Goes To 349th Wing

The Air Force's Flying Safety Award has been presented to Brig. Gen. Rollin B. Moore Jr., commander of the 349th Troop Carrier Wing, last week by Brig. Gen. Andrew B. Cannon, commander of the Sixth Air Force reserve region.

This is the second consecutive year that the 349th or Golden Gate Troop Carrier Wing has won the award. It is for 20,000 accident-free flying hours up to last Dec. 31.

In Norway a road has been carved to the North Cape on the Barents Sea.

Heroic Pilot Is Honored At Hamilton

Maj. Irving G. Williams of the 349th Troop Carrier Wing Reserve at Hamilton Air Force Base was selected as "Pilot of Distinction" for May by the tactical air command.

Williams received the honor for risking his life to save his crew and aircraft when it developed difficulty in lowering the landing gear on a night flight last Feb. 9.

As the C-119 Flying Boxcar approached Hamilton Air Force Base, the nose wheel gear was not in a safe landing position.

Major Williams, co-pilot, removed his parachute, climbed into the open gear housing and forced the nose gear down into locked position.

There was nothing between Williams and the lights below except 5,000 feet of space.

Williams lives in Santa Rosa.

Hamilton Wildlife Program Gets Award

The wildlife conservation program at Hamilton Air Force Base won second place in the Air Defense Command's fish and wildlife conservation program.

Maj. Gen. C. F. Necrason, commander of the 28th Air Division, recently received this award at the quarterly Air Defense Command conference at Tyndall Air Force Base, Fla.

The show, which is sponsored by the Ballet Aquacade Branch of Marin General Hospital Auxiliary, will again be given at the Ann Curtis School of Swimming in Terra Linda starting at 2:30 p.m. both days.

UNDER THE DIRECTION of Mrs. Ralston Hodgson of Ross, the show was started in 1946 with four swimmers and a fashion show.

This year Mrs. Ralph Noah of Belvedere and Ernie Smith of Sausalito, former sportscaster, will be the commentators.

Seventy-five girls combine swim and ballet in the opening number entitled "A Garden in Marin". At the climax they all form a "French Bouquet". The swimmers are coached by Mrs. Barbara Corrigan, Mrs. Arthur Poganski and Kathy Poganski.

"WAITING FOR the Robert E. Lee' is the title of the swim number which includes 14 senior girls. This minstrel routine is coached by Mrs. Will Hinkley and Mrs. Thomas Clark both of Kentfield.

In "Puff the Magic Dragon" the 16 younger swimmers were coached by Mrs. Peter Brajkovich. They will appear in Chinese suits and will feature the Chinese dragon.

"I Enjoy Being a Girl", a swimming number including Dominican high school girls, will follow in a routine coached by Mrs. Jane Pike and Mrs. Fred Enemark. A precision swim number done by 16 Scottish lassies to the music of bagpipes will follow in the number entitled "Bonnie Lassie" coached by Mrs. Leland Eggleston of Novato and Mrs. Raymond Rovero of San Rafael.

THE SECOND BALLET "A Princess for the Prince" with 85 dancers will follow the intermission in which the queen mother is reminded by her court chancellors that her four young sons, being of marriageable age, must select brides. There will also be a "Court Scene" with the colorful dances of each princess and her court.

A rhythm routine done in a two color arrangement of swimmers entitled "Fascination" will include 16 girls, coached by Mrs. Terres Ronneberg of Ross and Mrs. A. E. Allen of Larkspur.

Ann Curtis Cuneo's medal swimming synchronized swim team will then present "Rodeo", a cowboy number, followed by Marin County High School boys and guest diver, Jay Rodrigo from the University of California in a diving exhibition.

THE FINALE "A Teenager's Tribute," which will include 100 girls participating in a patriotic routine both swimming and dancing.

The engine room of the new MG Sports Sedan not only houses the world's number 1 competitive engine, but holds it crosswise instead of lengthwise, so that the family room can comfortably seat 5 passengers. Yes, 80% of the length of this exciting new car is devoted to passengers and luggage . . . making it the smallest big sedan on the road, a car that comfortably makes room for full-grown human beings. Ah, but that engine room! . . . front wheel drive (the engine pulls instead of pushes) for incredible stability, even on slippery roads in blustery gales.

And the family room? Two racy bucket seats up front and a true, three passenger seat in the back. Enormous rear window and curved side windows for maximum visibility plus shoulder room. And—there's even a light in the ash tray.

Raw power under the hood . . . speeds in excess of 80 mph . . . 4-speed stick shift and crunchproof synchromesh gear box . . . the guts, spirit and joy of a true MG. Parts and service through over 1,000 dealers in the United States and Canada. Solid comfort. So easy and agile, even the ladies can drive it with complete enjoyment. Behaves beautifully in city traffic, slides easily into the tiniest parking slots and turns out a pleasant 24 to 30 mpg. Built by one of the world's oldest, most well-established automobile names, racily designed in true British sports car tradition, it is an economical sports car for the family man; for the man with a wife, children, pets and guests. A dandy little sedan with a revolutionary new fluid suspension system (no springs, no shock-absorbers) that quietly flattens rough roads and high hills into soft, creamy, level rides. It is a little giant, bigger on the inside than it appears on the outside, with aircraft-type front wheel disc brakes for safer, surer stops. From the moment you put it onto the road, you'll find the new MG Sports Sedan a gallant performer, a sporting dignitary . . . a most elegant rascal.

Etiquette For Second Wedding—

By MARGERY McELHENY

CHICAGO (UPI)—The divorcee or widow who marries for the second time often faces many taboos.

Take the matter of the white dress. It's not true that white is improper for a second wedding, say etiquette experts. The custom of a white dress has its origins in economics.

In early Saxon days, the poorer bride dressed in a plain white robe to show that she brought nothing with her to her marriage. This indicated that her husband was not responsible for her debts.

ALTHOUGH THERE is no restriction against wearing white, the bride's choice should be based on comfort. If she feels more comfortable in an off-white shade or pastel she can select beige, pink, blue, green or whatever is most becoming.

A veil symbolizes maidenhood, and is taboo for a second marriage. So is a formal gown with a train, since a formal wedding with many attendants is not in keeping with a second marriage.

THE GOWN should be ballerina or street length, and instead of a veil, a small flower hat, a cap or a head dress complementing the gown may be worn.

The style of the gown is determined by the time of day of the wedding, but shoulder and upper arms should be covered. If the bride wears an after-five or dinner dress, the maid of honor and bridesmaids should dress accordingly.

IT IS better to wear a suit or simple street dress if the wedding takes place at the pastor's home, say the experts.

The choice of engraved or hand-written invitations is governed by the number of invited guests. Hand-written invitations are correct for weddings of 50 guests or less. If more than 50 guests are invited, engraved invitations may be sent.

The invitation should carry the bride's full name, including her given name, maiden name and name by a previous marriage.

GUESTS ARE not obliged to present a gift to the previously married bride, but most will.

If you have been a widow or divorcee for a long time, you may invite to the wedding both families as well as close friends on both sides.

Etiquette does not determine whether children of a first marriage should be present for the second wedding. The choice is up to the engaged couple.

Whether the children directly participate depends on the type of ceremony. Since the wedding will be informal, there will be no flower girls or ring bearers. However, the daughter of the bride may be her mother's attendant.

Computer Has Fashion Facts On Sportswear

By GAY PAULEY
UPI Women's Editor

NEW YORK—Feed a computer facts on fashion—and out comes a forecast.

From another experiment of the electronics age comes the conclusion that blues will be the most popular colors in next fall's sportswear wardrobes, with greens running a strong second.

In silhouettes, look for wrap skirts, a-flare skirts and culottes, with a "pronounced down-grading" of straight skirts. So says the machines which are doing a lot of the fashion planning for a Cleveland, Ohio, firm, specializing in sports and casual year for the younger women.

The computers have been in use for a year at one of the nation's largest manufacturers of sportswear for the young.

"They've proved remarkably accurate in forecasts," said Burton K. Kamberg, the company's vice president for marketing. The company uses the machines' decisions to coordinate its production with sales demand.

Kamberg said the computers "eat" information at the rate of 11,000 five-digit additions per second and are capable of reading accumulated data at a rate equivalent to five newspaper pages of type per second.

Operators feed information from orders placed by store buyers, specifying sizes, colors and styles.

From its conclusions, the forecasts are made on overall trends for the young adults.

According to early analysis of computer-digested information, leading fall colors after blue and green will be cranberry red and gold, the firm reported in a forecast which came across our desk today.

Preference in sweaters, a perennial favorite of high school and college women, will run to Italian-styled, bulky mohairs. Collar designs range from V-neck to cowl and crew.

Road To Ruin In Dunce Primer

MONTICELLO, Ill. (UPI) — Students at the Monticello College for women know what it takes to flunk.

W. F. Starkey, the college's director of information, prepared what he called "a guide for college freshmen," to be used only if the girls want to fail.

Starkey's list of things to do led off with "classes," which he said, "the women should attend as few as possible. This will give you more time for such all-important character-rounding activities as bridge, beer drinking and sleeping."

Second on Starkey's list was "books," which he advised, "don't open any more than is absolutely necessary because unused text books bring a higher resale price at the end of the year."

"Cars" were third. Starkey said automobiles on the campus "will provide transportation for week-night dating . . . and a means of escaping from the daily grind of classes."

Starkey included "pranks" on his list. He said "a sample of good thinking would be to paint the college president's office in beautiful colors, or to do this to the alma mater statue, or better yet, pour detergent in the campus fountains or swimming pool."

Starkey said of "organizations," join as many as possible and "do a good job in these organizations and don't let studies interfere."

Remove from the flame and add one cup of cornstarch which has been mixed with one-half cup of cold water. Stir quickly. The mixture should be the consistency of still dough. If the mixture does not thicken, place over a low flame and stir until it forms a smooth, pliable mass.

Air View Of A Fully Developed Valley

In contrast to the valley shared by Corte Madera, Larkspur, Greenbrae and Kentfield at the top of this picture, the western portion of San Rafael, encompassing most of the central business district, spreads from the San Rafael Hill (bottom) to Bret Harte Heights.

San Rafael's basic rectangular street design, with a few angular off-shoots, is clearly defined by looking south from over San Rafael Hill. It is not until the streets reach the hills nestling the business section of the city that they become narrow and twisting.

A white space just to the right of dead center is the former E Street School property. To the right of the school property is the new Pacific Telephone Co. building.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Lead Poisoning Can Be Hazard For Artist, But Hard To Find

Lead poisoning is an occasional hazard to artists. The diagnosis is not always easy to make, especially when the victim is an amateur, painting for fun. A New Zealand soldier posed this problem when he developed colicky abdominal pain along with severe constipation. His story was told in the New Zealand Medical Journal.

VAN DELLEN

The man's physician had no reason to suspect that surgery was necessary to correct an intestinal obstruction. Exploration of the abdominal cavity did not disclose the cause of his symptoms. He seemed to improve for a few days after the operation but colic returned. Tests were then done for lead poisoning and the results were positive.

IT DEVELOPED that the soldier was a landscape painter and recently had spent five weeks pursuing his hobby. Special tests were made on some tubes of paint and the container designated "flake white" was found to be made up almost entirely of white lead. At least 18 large tubes of this oil paint had been used and at times he applied it with the fingers rather than the brush. In addition, the man had a nervous habit of stroking the cheek and upper lip with his fingers.

Shortly thereafter, another artist with similar symptoms turned up. The physician was on the alert this time and made the diagnosis within a few days. This artist copied miniatures for sale and used the same product as the soldier. While painting, she would lick the brush to clean it, even after she had been warned of the hazard in this practice.

THE TREATMENT of lead poisoning has changed in the last decade. Chelating agents are most useful in deleading the body. The remedy works quickly and with complete safety. The New Zealanders used calcium disodium versenate, which displaces the lead and allows the kidneys to excrete the poison.

Chelation is a chemical process in which one ion is lifted out of a structure and replaced by another. In these cases, the lead ion was lifted out in exchange for the calcium ion in the chelating agent. The lead is thus made harmless and excreted by the kidneys.

(Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.)

A URINARY FINDING

C.M. writes: Is albumin in the urine serious?

REPLY

Not necessarily. We know this manifestation can occur even though the kidneys are normal. In orthostatic albuminuria, for example, albumin appears only after getting up; it disappears with rest. On the other hand, if albumin is present in large amounts, the chances are greater that a kidney lesion exists.

LIP PEELING

W.G. writes: Is there any help for peeling lips?

REPLY

Yes. Eliminate any source of irritation as from cosmetics or inflammation. Stop pulling off shreds of skin and don't keep moistening the lips with the tongue. The use of hypoallergenic lipstick or one of the lip or sun sticks will provide a protective coating.

GLASS SLIVERS

A.C. writes: I have several pieces of glass imbedded in my left hand. It feels as though they are touching the bone. Do you think I should have them removed by operation?

REPLY

Yes, but if you wait until this answer appears I'm sure several will have festered.

EVENING SNACKS

Mrs. C. writes: What suggestions do you have for nervous eating in the evening? I'm not bothered during the day.

REPLY

Moonlighting, you need something to divert your attention from the refrigerator.

Today's Health Hint — Be considerate of your health.

Yank Tourists Are Valuable

WELLINGTON, New Zealand (AP) — An American visitor to New Zealand is worth 190 cases of apples, or 95 fat lambs, or three-and-a-half bales of wool.

The Government Publicity Division told of the analysis that valued an American—in terms of foreign exchange. It said 169 Americans recently spent 16 days in New Zealand and spent, on an average, 190 New Zealand pounds ($530) each. That's the value of those apples, lambs, or wool on the export market.

The statement said U.S. visitors have increased seven-fold in the last decade. The tourist industry now was the sixth biggest earner of overseas exchange.

Another Namesake

ROME (AP)—The Amerigo Vespucci, Italy's naval school ship, is named for the 15th Century Florentine navigator for whom America was named.

Questions At Hotel

NEW YORK (UPI) — The most asked question of telephone operators by guests at a hotel here is: "What's the weather forecast for today?" Second is "What time is it?"

Hy Silver Says:

I've been sitting in my office wondering why more people don't come in to buy our good used cars. It occurred to me that a lot of people don't know we're in business. Then it occurred to me that a lot of people do know and don't care. So it naturally follows that we've got to give people a reason to come to our lot, and here it is: If you come to our lot in Novato, I will personally guarantee that no one will spit in your eye! I mean that literally and figuratively. We won't try to insult your intelligence with a bunch of ridiculous claims. If you try out one of our cars and find something wrong with it, we'll try to fix it for you. If you are worried about payments or not having enough money to put down, or not having any money to put down, come in and talk over your problems. We can't work miracles, but we've had years of experience in financing cars and we can put this experience to work for you. Even if you don't want to buy a car, come on in and chin a little. We get mighty lonely sometimes. You'll find us at Hy Silver Used Cars, 1119 Grant Ave., Novato.

Palsey March Gets $14,335 In County

United Cerebral Palsey of Marin collected $14,335.87 in its fund march on Jan. 15,it was announced today by president Ben Barton Jr. who said the final figure had just been calculated.

Barton said part of the funds went to two New York doctors who performed an operation which developed a technique for immediately treating crushed or paralyzed limbs resulting from industrial or automobile accidents.

The operation consisted of grafting the nerves from a dead person onto the injured part of a living person. The operation advanced knowledge of how to restore damaged nerves, Barton said.

The Guadalupe range, one of the southernmost outcroppings of the Rockies, rises in southern New Mexico and extends southward 50 miles into Texas.

Until you need it, this money is earmarked for a very important job. And you can be sure it isn't building a 27-mile barrier of brick, barbed wire, and concrete.

Every dollar you save with Uncle Sam goes directly into keeping our country strong, with its affairs in good order, so that we can carry on the struggle for freedom—at remote outposts, at conference tables, in outer space.

Tens of millions of American families have accumulated $45 billion in E and H Bonds—part of our strength as individuals. And part of the strength of the nation.

Start putting part of your savings to work for your country while it works for you. Buy U.S. Savings Bonds at your bank regularly or where you work, and see if you don't feel good about it.

EMPHYSEMA INCREASE — Atomized medication for an emphysema patient is discussed by Dr. Robert W. Clarke, head of the Marin County Medical Department emphysema clinic, with clinic nurse Mrs. Albert Citti. Sharp statewide increase in the disease from 1950 to 1960, during the same period that tuberculosis was on the decline, is shown on the graph. Marin and other tuberculosis associations started fighting chronic respiratory diseases several years before TB and emphysema "curves" crossed in 1957. (Independent-Journal photo)

Marin Campaign Is On To Alert Public Of Emphysema Increase

The only way to "cure" emphysema is to prevent it.

Second best is to detect the disease in its early stages so that it can be slowed or even completely arrested.

So says Dr. Robert W. Clarke, head of the emphysema clinic of the Marin County Medical Department. For 20 years a specialist in pulmonary diseases and tuberculosis, Dr. Clarke was interviewed in connection with the Marin Tuberculosis and Health Assn.'s current campaign to alert the public to early symptoms of disabling chronic respiratory diseases.

Emphysema (Greek meaning "inflation") destroys lung tissue and causes collapse of the small airways. As a result, stale carbon dioxide-laden air is trapped in the lungs and both their capacity and function are increasingly impaired. The first signs are shortness of breath and persistent coughing. These warnings ignored, complete disability may rapidly follow.

"We are finding more and more emphysema in the age group starting at age 40—particularly in heavy smokers," Dr. Clarke reports.

About 75 per cent of emphysema victims are men. The disease is frequently associated with chronic bronchitis, but is not connected with childhood ills, nor is it usually associated with other diseases. It is definitely not contagious.

Marin County established an emphysema clinic two years ago when local incidence of the disease reflected the 300 per cent increase that has taken place in California during the eight previous years.

"We had two purposes," Dr. Clarke says: "To make these people as comfortable as possible, and to keep them out of the hospital. I think we have been fairly successful in our first objective, and I'm sure we have been in the second."

The first Friday of each month, Dr. Clarke sees emphysema sufferers at the Medical Department in the Civic Center. All have the disease in such advanced stages that they are unable to work, despite the robust appearance of some. Patients return to the clinic every two to four months.

Between times, should any become acutely ill, medical department personnel are instructed by Dr. Clarke "to run me down" immediately. He might be on the Terrace (tuberculosis annex) of Ross Hospital; at a clinic of the County Health Department, for which he is a consultant; at the Marin or San Francisco TB Assn. on whose boards he serves; at the U.S. Medical Center, where he is associate clinical professor, or with his private patients in San Francisco or Marin.

As to the cause of emphysema, Dr. Clarke opines: "It is thought to be closely associated with air pollution — and the most concentrated air pollution is from smoking." While a large percentage of sufferers are heavy smokers, he admits only a small percentage will give up the habit.

"What can you do," he asks, "when a patient says I know you're going to tell me to quit smoking, but I'm not going to —and then asks you to help him?"

Nevertheless, help is given in several ways: Removing pollutants (for those who will cooperate); controlling infections (thought to be a contributing cause) through use of antibiotics; preventing respiratory infections with regular flu innoculations; using positive pressure breathing machines. A standard aid given to all emphysema patients to carry with them is a mist-making atomizer containing a drug that dilates the bronchi when inhaled through the mouth.

For what signs should the public be alert? A persistent cough and shortness of breath, Dr. Clarke declares. His rule of thumb: If a cough lasts longer than two weeks, see your doctor.

An Historic Day For Name Droppers

BY FREDERICK M. WINSHIP

NEW YORK (UPI) — Name dropping wasn't a game at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel yesterday, it was a way of life.

Traffic jams developed around the famed hostelry all day as the great and the near-great came and went. Crowds of curiosity seekers flooded the lobbies hoping to glampse "Jack," "Wally," "Ike," "Gordo," "Bobbie," "Pat," "Chet," "Hank" or "Mel."

The Duke and Duchess of Windsor checked in during the morning and found the usual pomp surrounding their arrival completely eclipsed by a record aggregation of celebrity guests. They disappeared into their permanent apartment in the Waldorf Towers to wait for the competition to thin.

Royalty, even of the "Eddie" and "Wally" variety, could hardly outshine President John F. Kennedy and half the Kennedy clan, two of the three living former presidents, two vice presidents, six astronauts, two World War II heroes, Democratc party leaders, a Roman Catholic Cardinal, and a light brigade of movie and show business personalities.

Frank G. Wangeman, executive vice president and general manager of the Waldorf, was ecstatic. It was, he said, "a memorable day."

"Make that historic, not just memorable," he said, summoning adjectives as well as 20 extra security guards to protect his priceless guests. "It's another day for the Waldorf, a historic day for the city, maybe even for the world."

The hotel's historian had to get up early in the morning to record the day's stellar orbitings around 49th and 50th streets between Park and Lexington avenues.

First of all, "Gordo" (Gordon Cooper) and family and five other astronauts checked out with 13 suitcases among them, having had their day of glory. The Duke and Duchess, toting 90 pieces of luggage, arrived soon after.

Lunch time found the national Father's Day committee hosting Gen. Mark Clark, "Chet" (Huntley), "Hank" (Fonda), "Tom" (Tresh), "Don" (McNeill) and Paul Ford among others. "Jack" (President Kennedy) was named father of the year but couldn't make it to the Waldorf until dinner time.

Up in the Towers, "Herbie" (former President Hoover) received the Magellan Medal of merit from the Circumnavigators Club in his apartment while his neighbor, "Mac" (Gen. Douglas MacArthur), remained in his usual splendid seclusion. Down in the Empire Room there was a lunch for Francis Cardinal Spellman.

Meanwhile, Audrey Hepburn and Mel Ferrer had checked into The Towers. Walt Disney already was in residence. So was "Ike" (former President Eisenhower) who was joined by his vice president, "Dick" (Nixon) who registered for a two-day sojourn.

The president's birthday dinner, providing $600,000 worth of ammunition for the Democratic warchest, drew the guest of honor along with "LBJ" (Vice President Johnson), "Bobbie" (Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy), Jean Kennedy Smith, "Pat" (Patricia Kennedy Lawford), Senators Mike Mansfield and Warren Magnuson, and "Bob" (Mayor Wagner).

They were entertained by "Jimmy" (Durante), "Mitch" (Miller), "Louie" (Armstrong), "Sexy Rexy" (Harrison), "Bob" (Newhart), Peter Lawford, Carol Channing, "Van" (Johnson), "Eddie" (Fisher), Ed Sullivan, David Susskind, and "Bobby" Darin. Also a nicknameless girl who calls herself ever so simply, Ann-Margret.

While Democratc paid tribute to their leaders in the Empire and Sert rooms, tycoons of the American Iron and Steel Institute did homage to Eisenhower in the grand ballroom, giving him a gold (not an iron nor a steel but a gold) medal.

Footnote to the Waldorf's day to remember: "Wally" Windsor confided that she is happy about "Happy":

"I think the Rockefellers are very much in love and it was right for them to get married."

KEEPING EYE ON REDS

A Soviet Badgar plane is kept under surveillance by two U.S. Navy F-4 Phantom fighters last January when the Russian aircraft flew over the attack carrier Kitty Hawk (background) in the North Pacific. The Department of Defense, which released this photo yesterday in Washington, D.C., said the plane was kept under surveillance during the time it was in the vicinity of the Kitty Hawk. (AP Wirephoto)

EDITOR'S NOTE: Structural change is under way at the Pentagon, military men are reported at odds with Secretary Robert S. McNamara and other civilian chiefs, the TFX contract hangs overhead like a dark cloud. Elton C. Fay, who has covered the Pentagon beat for the Associated Press for two decades, reviews the situation in the following article.

By ELTON C. FAY

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara's vast revamping of the military establishment — its administrative organization, its chain of command, its multibillion-dollar operation — is all but complete.

Reorganization of the Navy remains to be completed. Some final moving around of offices, furniture and people in other agencies to carry out consolidation plans will continue for some months more, although the broad changes have been made.

The revamping has been done without asking Congress for new legislation, with McNamara acting under provisions of the unification law and its revisions.

Criticism by Congress members generally has been restrained.

But within the military, there have been stated objections by some officers, sharp private disagreement by others. One of the high commanders is on the way out, with McNamara opposing reappointment of Adm. George W. Anderson to a second term as chief of naval operations. And Gen. Curtis E. LeMay was given only half of a usual two-year tenure for his reappointment as Air Force chief of staff.

A deep and pervading silence has settled among generals and admirals.

Will this end disputes within the Pentagon?

President John F. Kennedy does not think so.

"I am sure there'll continue to be disputes," he says.

The people in the Pentagon are "strong-minded men," says Kennedy, but completely loyal to their country. He says, too, that "we have to have a secretary to make the final judgment."

Some officers worry that the thrust of McNamara's reorganization is toward eventual merger of the services into one single unit.

NATO To Beef Up Atom Force

Disquiet On Cuba, W. Berlin

OTTAWA, Ont. (AP)—The North Atlantic Treaty Organization nations today ended a three-day parley with an agreed program to beef up the nuclear power of their forces.

A communique approved by the North Atlantic Council of Ministers also expressed disquiet about continuing Communist pressures in Cuba, Laos and Berlin.

The declaration warned that the pressure of Soviet military personnel in Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro's island is producing repercussions throughout the Caribbean area which still give cause for concern.

DEFEND BERLIN

The ministers reaffirmed their resolve to defend West Berlin against any outside attack, Just as if the divided and isolated city were part of their own territory.

A four-point program set forth in the communique heralded a new phase of North American-European cooperation in nuclear weaponry and it spelled out these moves:

1. The assignment of Britain's V-bomber force and three American Polaris submarines, with their H-weapons, to Gen. Lyman L. Lemnitzer, supreme Allied commander, Europe.

2. Establishment by Lemnitzer at his headquarters near Paris of a deputy to take charge of nuclear affairs. The deputy has not yet been chosen although a Dutch general is being considered for the post.

NUCLEAR PLANS

3. Arrangements for NATO member states to participate in nuclear activities in Allied commands and in coordination of operational planning at Omaha, Neb., headquarters of the U.S. Strategic Air Command.

4. Interchange of fuller nuclear information from member countries, both in a military and policy sense.

The joint communique, which is expected to win formal approval of the NATO foreign ministers, said the four measures had been designed to:

"Increase the effectiveness of the nuclear capability at the disposal of the Alliance and to

DESPITE RAFFERTY

Slang Dictionary To Stay In Marin

By ALTON S. BOCK

"The Dictionary of American Slang," which State Supt. of Schools Maxwell Rafferty calls objectional, will stay on the shelves of high school libraries in Marin.

In fact, one school which has lost its copy has ordered another.

Rafferty yesterday said the dictionary is "completely unsuitable for the children of California" and urged that it be removed from school library shelves. His suggestion brought an accusation of "censorship" from Jesse M. Unruh, speaker of the State Assembly.

Supt. Bert C. Corona of San Rafael schools said today he was not inclined to follow Rafferty's advice.

"The book has a place in a good school program," Corona said. "It can help students understand slang in various parts of America and can help teachers understand what students are saying."

"We do not have the book in our library now," said Terra Linda High School librarian Barbara Burington. "It mysteriously disappeared about three months ago, as high school library books do now and again. But we have re-ordered it . . . as a librarian, I am opposed to any kind of censorship of this sort."

Corona said the reference book is not in the San Rafael High School Library.

Robert H. Prather, principal of Tamalpais High School, said the book was not in the school library, but "we do have the classic 'Dictionary of Slang and Unconventional English' by Eric Partridge. We feel it is a legitimate acquisition. There are some four-letter words in it, but no more than in many other books—if people are looking for them."

The Partridge book, which lists terms related to sex and replaces vowels of such words with asterisks, is also in the County Library in the Civic Center.

"People have to know about such words before they can look them up anyway," said county reference librarian Oloallne Palen. "Since all this controversy about such books was started, we have had no interest at all from students. It has just sat on the shelf."

County Supt. of Schools Virgil S. Hollis said, "I want no part of censorship. We must encourage inquiry on a mature level, but you can't stifle thinking."

Novato High School and Tomales High School officials said neither "The Dictionary of American Slang" nor the Partridge book is in their libraries.

"I don't think we will be in a hurry to go out and get it since the state superintendent has objected to it," said Novato High School Principal Robert J. McKeay.

Anthony Matulich, Tomales High principal, said, however, "This whole matter of censoring is a delicate thing. I am opposed to censorship, but at the same time there should be control over the kind of thing students read."

Tentative Boundaries Are Set For Tiburon City

The Tiburon Peninsula Incorporation Committee, augmented by representatives of property owners groups and interested residents, last night tentatively set boundaries for a proposed City of Tiburon.

By a vote of 38-2 the group decided to consider a considerably smaller area than in last year's incorporation move.

The proposed boundary extends west on Trestle Glen Road, through Greenwood Beach out to Oyster Canal, across to Saucelito Canal to Belvedere city limits. Following the city line through Corinthian Island, it includes the area Belvedere is considering annexing, goes out into the bay to the San Francisco city line, includes Angel Island, back into Tiburon just east of Lyford Cove, and down the top of the ridge to the intersection of Paradise Drive and Trestle Glen Road.

Excluded are Paradise Drive, Belveron Gardens, Reedlands and Bel Aire. Strawberry has not been considered in this incorporation move. Opposition has been expressed in all of these areas.

However, as this is not a final map, the areas may join now or seek annexation after incorporation, according to chairman Elva Paske. The final map will not be drawn for 10 days and until then other areas may request inclusion, she said.

Included are Little Reed Heights, Del Mar, Hawthorne Terrace, Little Reed Park, Rolling Hills, Marinero, downtown Tiburon, Lyford Cove, and Hill Haven.

Fred C. Hannahs said the area will be easy to police and provide services and is a section that has a strong incorporation feeling. He estimated assessed valuation at eight million dollars.

Herbert Streiter of Bel Aire predicted residents of that area would be opposed to being included.

Lester Gorsline, a past president of the Paradise Property Owners Assn., said he would not consider the vote by the association at Wednesday's meeting conclusive. The association voted to be excluded from incorporation.

Harry Bragg, president of the Tiburon Property Owners Assn., argued in favor of incorporation. "My taxes 'have gone up every year. I am not getting five cents worth of additional service. Maybe if we incorporate we can tell where the money goes," he declared.

Rodney Blakey of Belveron Gardens said he was personally opposed to incorporation because the tax structure would go higher. "I am satisfied with the police and fire protection now. Incorporation would not benefit me in the least," said Blakey.

Hannahs said the tax load would be borne by smaller groups as areas were taken cut.

Blakey continued: "Once the local government is formed, the nucleus will expand. There are no Santa Clauses in this day and age."

To this statement Mrs. Arthur E. Lang replied: "We must be forearmed against depredations by other communities. The status quo will never remain."

Everest Climbers Send SOS

KATMANDU, Nepal (AP)—The American Everest expedition asked today for an emergency helicopter flight to take Barry C. Bishop and William F. Unsoeld to a hospital in Katmandu. They got to the top of Everst Wednesday, Bishop by the south col, Unsoeld by the west ridge.

A radio report from the base camp said they were frostbitten on all their toes during a night spent without shelter 28,000 feet up on the mountain following the summit climbs.

Thomas F. Hornbein and Luther G. Jerstad escaped serious frostbite so far as he knows, expedition leader Norman R. Dhyrenfurth radioed.

Unsoeld, from Corvallis, Ore., made his climb with Hornbein, from San Diego. Bishop, from Washington, D.C., and an employe of the National Geographic Society, which sponsored the expedition, climbed with Jerstad, from Eugene, Ore.

Guiseppe Ongaro, 85, Dies At Fairfax Home

Guiseppe (Joseph) Ongaro, who came to Marin County 56 years ago, seeking opportunity in the construction business, died at his Fairfax home today after a year's illness. He was 85.

He leaves a large family in Marin County, and two local construction firms bear his name.

A native of Venice, Italy, he and his wife, Carolina M. Ongaro, moved to British Columbia 58 years ago. For two years he worked in coal mines there. Then the couple came to Marin County and settled in Fairfax.

He worked for building contractors for many years and eventually went into the construction business on his own. He built several homes in the county, one in Fairfax where he and his family lived for several years.

He retired 31 years ago. Some of his sons established their own firms. Ernest Ongaro and Sons Inc. is a plumbing firm in San Anselmo. J. J. and Quin Ongaro Inc. is a Kentfield construction firm.

Ongaro's wife died 10 years ago. During his retirement he kept busy at his hobby of gardening. At the time of death, his home was at Willow Avenue and Sir Francis Drake Boulevard.

He is survived by five sons, John J. Ongaro of Belvedere, Frank Ongaro of Santa Rosa, Ernest Ongaro of San Rafael, Ned Ongaro of San Anselmo, and Quin Ongaro of Kentfield; a daughter, Mrs. Lily Santisteban of Fairfax, 14 grandchildren, and 10 great-grandchildren.

The funeral cortage will gather at the Chapel of the Hills at 9 a.m. Monday and go to St. Rita's Church in Fairfax, where a Requiem Mass will be offered at 9:30 a.m. Rosary will be recited at 8 p.m. Sunday at Chapel of the Hills. Entombment will be at Mount Olivet Cemetery, San Rafael.

TO SET A SUN DIAL YOU MUST HAVE SUNLIGHT

For three days Melvin H. Klyce has been trying to set the sun dial on a stand newly erected by Rotarians in front of the Mill Valley bus depot.

Klyce, a general contractor and Rotarian, arrives each day exactly at 1 p.m.

The dial must be set when the sun is directly overhead, he explains. Normally this would be noon but it's 1 p.m. with daylight saving time.

"But each day," says Klyce, "it's the same thing. No sun."

Marinites Held In Bookie Raid

DALY CITY (UPI) — Internal Revenue agents and sheriff's deputies raided five locations in northern San Mateo County today and arrested six persons —including a Mill Valley man labeled the "kingpin"—in an alleged $25,000-a-day bookmaking ring.

Clarence Krause, Internal Revenue Service intelligence chief in San Francisco, said only one suspect, Richard A. Andrews, 30, Sausalito car salesman, was charged with a federal violation of wagering without possessing a $50 wagering stamp.

He said the others would face state charges. They are: Clarence M. O'Neill, 34, Mill Valley, who Krause said was the "kingpin"; Gene Findley, 32 ,San Francisco; Raymond S. Nielson, 31, San Jose; Sal Prieto, 44, San Francisco, and Charles Tibbetts, 40, Daly City.

VD Is On Increase Among Teen-Agers

Marin's teen-agers had 20 per cent of the infectious spyhilis and 26 per cent of the gonorrhea cases reported to the Marin County Health Department in the first three months of this year.

The number of cases reported during the period, 20 syphilis and 63 gonorrhea, constitute "an endemic if not an epidemic," according to Dr. Mary Jo Tonelli, assistant county health officer.

"An endemic," she said, "is the constant occurrence of a disease without enough cases to make it an epidemic."

"As of last year there is a rise in the number of cases of venereal disease among the older teen-agers in Marin. And," she added, "there is a good possibility that at least half the cases aren't reported."

The rise of spyhilis and gonorrhea among Marin teen-agers coincides with statistics recorded in all major urban centers in the country.

In Los Angeles, where venereal disease was the top ranking communicable disease problem last year, the rate among 15 to 19-year-olds rose from 7.1 cases in 1956 to 39.5 cases last year for each 100,000 persons living in Los Angeles, it was reported yesterday at the Northern California Public Health Assn.'s annual meeting in San Francisco.

In Marin County, four cases of infectious syphilis were reported last year among persons under 21. Two cases of infectious syphilis in teenagers in the county were reported this year among the 13 cases still in the "catching" stages.

For the same teen-age group, 18 cases of gonorrhea were reported in the county last year and 16 cases already this year.

"I'm interested to know why Marin, which is not primarily an urban center, has had the same rise in teen-agers' venereal disease," said Dr. Tonelli.

She said the high general rates of venereal disease in the county are partly caused by a large number of homosexuals living in Marin.

Half the cases of venereal disease recorded by the County Health Office were reported directly to the office by the patients. "We offer treatment at the office," said Dr. Tonelli. The second half of the venereal cases were called in by private physicians, according to Dr. Tonelli. But many cases

Demos Cash In On Kennedy Birthday

NEW YORK (AP)—A birthday salute wafted kind words and soft music in President John F. Kennedy's direction — and cold cash into Democratic coffers Thursday night.

More than 600 New Yorkers marked Kennedy's 46th birthday, which comes next Wedesdnay, at a star-studded dinner at the Waldorf-Astoria.

Each of the diners had contributed at least $1,000 to the Democratic party this year—yet the White House insisted it was a bipartisan gathering. This little joke seemed to be part of the birthday fun.

After the dinner and a rousing entertainment, Kennedy drove to the uptown apartment of Mr. and Mrs. Earl E. T. Smith, old friends who entertained him until nearly 2 a.m.

Then Kennedy returned to his own quarters at the Carlyle Hotel to rest before flying back to Washington. He will be guest tonight at the annual White House press dinner.

Just across the Waldorf-Astoria lobby from the Kennedy party, the American Iron and Steel Industry simultaneously presented an award to former President Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Kennedy didn't encounter Eisenhower during his stay at the hotel. But he couldn't resist the temptation to joke about their proximity.

"Just down the hall," he said, "the steel industry honored my distinguished predecessor, President Eisenhower, with an award as the person who has done most for the steel industry this year. Last year I won the award."

This reference to Kennedy's 1962 battle to stave off a steel price increase brought as much laughter from the President's audience as the earlier efforts of such professional comics as Bob Newhart and Jimmy Durante.

Before going to his party, Kennedy paid a 10-minute courtesy call on former President Herbert Hoover, who lives in the hotel, the presidential visit interrupted Hoover's dinner.

The Kennedy party, featuring top entertainers, was a fun affair from start to finish.

Even Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson succumbed to the light-hearted spirit of the occasion.

Johnson, 54, said he had been "asked to speak on behalf of my fellow youths in this administration and extend best wishes to the oldest active living Democratic President" — meaning Kennedy.

In what was perhaps his only serious moment at the celebration, Kennedy quoted Emerson as saying there is a party of hope and a party of memory.

"We are the party of hope," he said.

BIRMINGHAM GETS NEW LEADERSHIP

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — Progressive leadership in this sprawling steel city's racial troubles has been pledged by a new government which also must grapple with serious economic problems.

Mayor Albert Boutwell and nine councilmen, confirmed yesterday as the legal government by the Alabama Supreme Court, were hailed by a Negro leader as symbols of a new era.

"The Negro people look to the Boutwell administration for direct progress in the area of race relation," said the Rev. F. L. Shuttlesworth a key figure in a lengthy desegregation drive which landed about 2,400 Negroes in jail for demonstrations.

"Justice and progress have triumphed," said Shuttlesworth.

"Birmingham's image has already improved."

Boutwell and the council took over the government when the court ousted a three-commissioner system dominated by Police Commissioner Eugene Connor, a bitter segregationist, who personally directed policemen in handling demonstrations.

The new mayor, considered a moderate, said he would appraise the city's racial problem "and work toward its harmonious solution."

Almost simultaneous with the legal victory for the mayor-council, a Chamber of Commerce committee warned that the city's economy had been severly damaged by racial strife.

Hosmer Rips Udall Stand On A-Plant

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Craig Hosmer (R-Calif.) saying that nuclear reactors have been used at more shock-prone sites than the San Andreas earthquake fault, blasted Interior Secretary Stewart L. Udall's objections to a Bodega Bay nuclear power plant as "specious and phoney."

Udall had written the Atomic Energy Commission that the Bodega site, near the earthquake fault, should be thoroughly investigated for seismic hazards before Pacific Gas and Electric Co. is permitted to build the 325,000 kilowatt power plant.

Hosmer, ranking house member of the Joint Committee on Atomic Energy, said Thursday that earthquakes present no particular hazard to nuclear power reactors.

"They are safe enough to put aboard ships at sea," he said, "have been designed for use in airplanes and rockets and have been built to be hauled over rough terrain on heavy trailers.

It May Be Bye, Bye Billboards

SACRAMENTO (AP) — You're driving along a state or federal highway, and something's missing. It's the billboards.

The legislature is getting close to a decision on whether that will happen in California before long.

Gov. Edmund G. Brown's billboard control bill cleared the Assembly Ways and Means Committee yesterday, not quite as strict as when it was introduced. A house vote is likely next week.

Another Assembly committee junked a proposal for mandatory annual vehicle inspections. It approved a bill to stretch the 65 miles per hour speed limit to 70 on some freeways.

The billboard control measure was presented both as a boon to scenic beauty and traffic safety.

The original terms banned signs in an 800-foot corridor on either side of a federal interstate freeway or state highway not used as city streets.

Prompted by billboard industry opposition, Assemblyman Edwin L. Z'berg (D-Sacramento), the author, agreed to amendments permitting billboards in unincorporated areas zoned as commercial and industrial.

Another amendment turns over the policing to a new California Commission on Roadside Control and Scenic Beauty, instead of the state director of professional and vocational standards.

The bill requires signs within the proscribed area to be torn down within five years.

Industry spokesman based their main objections on this provision, but the Assembly committee refused to delete it.

The legislation would permit official highway signs, including those offering special help to motorists or advertising adjacent businesses.

Assemblyman John L. E. Collier (D-Los Angeles) frowned on allowing billboards in industrial areas where he said the most accidents occur.

Then he indicated he thought billboards might be safer to look at than scenery.

"With billboards you glance but with a scene you take a nice big look," said Collier. "What is more dangerous, a look or a glance?"

Z'berg replied that a New York safety study showed it was more dangerous to look at a billboard.

Offering another complaint, Assemblyman Edward Gaffney (D-San Francisco) said "you're excluding the county roads where there is the most scenery."

Assemblyman Tom Bane (D-North Hollywood) terminated the discussion.

"The bill's not tough enough but I'll move it out do-pass," he said.

Demos Join GOP In Trying To Block Old Water Bonds

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Democrats have joined Senate Republicans in a double-barrelled assault on the Brown administration plan to help build the State Water Project with bonds authorized in 1933.

By a 29-5 vote yesterday, with only Democrats opposed, the 40-member upper house passed a bill and two resolutions aimed at preventing the State Water Resources Department from using the 325 million dollars in revenue bonds authorized for the old Central Valley Project on the current program.

However, chances of the bill's passage in the Assembly are dim—and the governor has stated he will veto it should it reach him.

The Central Valley Project bonds never were used because federal money was used instead, so it was proposed to use that money to help finance the 1.75-billion-dollar State Water Project authorized by voters in 1960.

Miller's bill would repeal provisions of the Central Valley Project Act which authorized issuance of the bonds.

Sen. George Miller Jr. (D-Martinez) labeled the plan "as phony as phony can be. The issue is a moral one," he added, since the 1933 bonds were not authorized for the use proposed in 1963.

Sen. Edwin J. Regan (D-Weaverville) agreed. "The plan isn't in good faith with the people of this state. If the legislature is going to have any say about water development in the future, we should not accept these CVP bonds," he declared.

William E. Warne, water resources director, contends the department doesn't need legislative approval to use the bonds.

Sen. James A. Cobey (D-Merced) opposed the department's plan because, he said, the issue should be decided in court, and the 1933 bonds will be needed in the future to give an "ample cushion" to the current project.

GOP Threatens To Block Budget Until Withholding Bill Defeated

SACRAMENTO (AP)—Assembly Democrats jumped on Republicans today for threatening to block the state budget until Gov. Edmund G. Brown's withholding tax proposal is defeated.

Republicans announced yesterday that all 28 GOP assemblymen and 12 of the 13 senators had voted to take that position.

"The only leverage we have is to hold firm as a Republican team in connection with our vote on the budget," a spokesman said.

Democrats outnumber Republicans in the Assembly, 52-28. Budget passage requires 54 votes. Democrats hold the bare necessary two-thirds majority in the Senate, 27-13.

Chairman Robert W. Crown (D-Alameda), of the Assembly Ways and Means Committee, denounced the GOP decision to use the budget to oppose the tax measure.

He called it a "callous disregard for the non-partisan effort which has gone into the budget," and said it would endanger education, welfare, mental health and other vital programs.

Assemblyman Nicholas C. Petris (D-Oakland), author of the withholding bill, said "I had hoped that the Republicans . . . would adopt a more responsible attitude."

McNamara, Officers At Odds Over Revamping Of Pentagon

No, say McNamara's aides, "We aren't unifying the services, we are unifying the effort."

They mention his "package" program under which each service with a similar function has been brought under central, coordinated direction. Examples are the strategic roles of the Air Force and Navy and the tactical roles of the Army and Air Force, now in a combined "Strike Commmand."

As a former automobile executive McNamara is a product of the industrial world. To him, the reorganization spells "cost effectiveness" — getting back the worst of investment in dollars and manpower for national defense.

In the uniformed military family, the objections are not to more effectiveness, but to McNamara's techniques.

There is a feeling in the Pentagon that the military man, including those on the Joint Chiefs of Staff, is being downgraded and by passed, that strategy is being devised by civilians and orders issued directly by civilians to field commands.

McNamara denies he ignores the Joint Chiefs of Staff in his decision-making. He was asked about his relations with the chiefs during a hearing by the House Armed Services Committee earlier this year.

He said he tries to anticipate "controversial issues" in advance and asks the chiefs to study and report their views. He then reviews a written report for the president.

"If in this memorandum my conclusions differ from those of the chiefs, I will also include the views of the chiefs, and if they are split I include the split views of the chiefs and the reasons for these views in contrast to the reasons for my own recommendations," McNamara says.

Reorganization, of course, isn't the only point of dispute that has shaken the Pentagon in these recent months.

There is the TFX.

In this argument, everybody has joined—the Pentagon civilians the military, Congress and the public.

It almost certainly was an element in McNamara's disapproval of continuing Anderson in his job and cutting down the time left for LeMay.

Three chiefs—Anderson, LeMay and Gen. Earl G. Wheeler of the Army — recommended that the contract for development of the new long range fighter-bomber for the Air Force and Navy go to the Boeing Co., the lower of two bidders.

But McNamara — supported by the civilian secretaries of the Air Force and Navy, Eugene M. Zuckert and Fred Korth—held that Boeing's bid was unrealistic and awarded it to the General Dynamics Corp.

A Senate committee opened an investigation. It is still going on. McNamara testified early in the hearing, requested an opportunity to reappear later.

Only once during the hearing has there been anything reported that resembled courtroom drama.

McNamara was described as showing emotion during one of the closed sessions, telling the senators that his young son wanted to know when he would be cleared of complaints leveled against him.

There are two versions of this incident. One said that McNamara impulsively telling the story to the senators, broke down and cried—an account denied by Pentagon officials.

The other version: McNamara, en route that morning to the hearing, told an associate that he would cite the incident as an example of the pressure which had come upon him as a result of the TFX matter.

Those who look upon McNamara as a computer—activated man — with a detailed plan for every contingency—like the latter version.

Others accept the first version, say it shows he is human and is struggling under the immense burden of administering the nation's largest government establishment.

Warning Is Planned On Toll Gate Checks

Directors of the Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District today decided commuters should be given full warning against "bootlegging" their commute book tickets before there are any more toll gate checks such as those that backed up traffic May 13 and 14.

Board president Ben K. Lerer of San Francisco ordered the check stopped on the third day. His action was criticized today by director Joseph J. Diviny of San Francisco, who said Leler had no right to countermand a board order.

Lerer said the backed-up traffic presented an emergency situation that required immediate action.

The check was ordered to make sure commuters had commute books with them. Directors ordered the check after hearing that the district was losing money because commuetrs were either giving or selling the 13-cent tabs to other travelers.

"It is not necessary to back up thousands of commuters and make them 10 to 15 minutes late," director Thomas D. Hardcastle of Novato said.

NATO

improve coordination and control of its nuclear deterrent forces."

The statement had been carefully negotiated between France and her partners during the past several weeks.

The draft communique stressed that NATO recognized the need "to achieve a satisfactory balance between nuclear and conventional arms."

In this context, the permanent council of the Alliance in Paris has been instructed to make further studies, in cooperation with Lemnitzer's staff, of "the interrelated questions of strategy force requirements and the resources available to meet them."

Agreement on the nuclear force was the chief achievement of the meeting.

The new interallied force bears no name, in deference to French President Charles de Gaulle, on any internationalism he doesn't dominate.

But formation of the force under U.S. Gen. Lyman Lemnitzer, the supreme allied commander in Europe, represents a major development in the political and military relations of the Western alliance for these reasons:

1. It opens the way to a sharing some U.S. nuclear secrets with the European allies, in the context of both weaponry and operations.

2. It gives West Germany an active nuclear strike role for the first time. That may mean new tensions with the Soviet Union.

3. It represents a tentative first step toward bringing present and future nuclear forces of the alliance under collective management.

DISEASE

treated by private physicians are not reported.

Diseases such as measles and mumps, which keep children out of school, are reported to the county by the schools. "With venereal disease, the schools have no way of knowing," she said.

To combat teen-age venereal disease, the County Health Office this year began an education program for teen-agers. A movie called "Innocent Party" has been shown to seniors at Tamalpais High School and to sophomores at Redwood and Tamalpais high schools.

"We have had no boomerangs from the parents. If anything, we were encouraged by them," Dr. Tonelli reported.

Dr. Tonelli said the movie was shown to a mixed group of 10th graders. "We have decided this is the best way to present it and plan to show it to boys and girls together in the future."

A Public Health Service epidemiologist said yesterday that half of the Los Angeles VD victims between 12 and 21 "had no prior knowledge" of the disease.

Misses Three Deer —Hits Utility Pole

John Caryl House swerved his car to miss three deer on a Novato street and hit a utility pole instead.

House, 24, of 670 Olive Street, Novato, was northbound on Sutro Avenue at 5:55 a.m. today when the deer ran in front of him, he told the California Highway Patrol. He swerved to miss them and rammed the pole about 200 feet north of Vineyard Road. He was treated at Novato Hospital for a cut upper lip.

Planners Disagree In Corte Madera

The Corte Madera Planning Commission last night disagreed with the town council on four items in the revised town plan envisioning a population of more than 13,000 in 1985.

It disapproved a council decision last week to eliminate plans for a major street through Madera Gardens. It voted against council recommendation that location of a civic center in the town park be considered. It disagreed with council decision on Corte Madera grade by urging paved paths on one side for safety of pedestrians. And it insisted on its recommendation that a proposed heliport farther west than shown on the map.

STOCKS TODAY

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock market prices turned weaker at the close today.

They had been generally mixed most of the session.

Trading was moderately active.

Steels extended their losses near the end of trading and carried some others down with them.

There was nothing particular to blame for the weakness in steels as production has risen.

The sugars took some rather sharp losses as profit taking continued and a congressional investigation of soaring sugar prices was announced.

Following are closing stock prices.

Refugees Report Russ Cuba Buildup

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Heavy movement of Soviet troops in Cuba's Oriente Province, which lies just across the Windward Passage from troubled Haiti, was reported today by one of 751 refugees arriving in Florida on the cargo ship Morning Light.

Ramon de la Tollre, a farm worker from near Holguin in Oriente Province, declared that in some areas "you can see two Russians for every Cuban."

It is general knowledge in Holguin, he said, that the Russians have a submarine base near the city at Puerto Rico Beach and Russians are frequently seen in the waters there. The Soviets, he added, have erected hundreds of oil tanks in the area.

Another refugee, who declined to permit use of his name because he has a son in Havana, said homes in the heart of Havana have been without running water for months because of a water plant breakdown.

In Havana's fashionable Vedado section, where he lived, he said people get water from street faucets.

"There is not enough electric power to pump water into the homes," he related. "There are no parts to replace those that wear out, and sabotage may have contributed to the trouble."

Austins Back From Down Under

By PHIL FRADKIN

The Ward H. Austins of Larkspur have returned from a nine-month trip to the South Pacific and now know what such road signs as "panel beater" and "steady" mean.

Explains Austin, retired College of Marin president, "panel beater" designates a body and fender repair shop and "steady" corresponds to a "drive carefully" sign.

But the Austins' observations on their travels, mostly in Australia and New Zealand, were not confined to road signs.

Some of their observations are:

1. People in both countries are very friendly and hospitable, but "we didn't feet at home there."

2. The Australian train system is inefficient because three different gauges of tracks require changing trains seven times from Perth to Cairns.

3. The tempo of life is slower in New Zealand than in the United States, and the vintage of automobiles is considerably older because of their high cost.

4. Integration, through intermarriage, of the Maori natives in New Zealand is almost complete, with few full-blooded Maoris left.

5. In Australia, coffee without milk or cream is almost impossible to buy.

6. Both countries feel closer to the United States since World War II because "they believe our country is the reason for their existing today."

7. The bond of friendship is growing stronger with the United States, while it weakens with England. This is true especially in Australia.

For the Austins, their trip to Australia, New Zealand, Hong Kong, Malaya, the Fiji Islands, Manila and Singapore was something "we had always looked forward to."

Their primary interest was in wildlife and plants and flowers. They traveled by luxury Lner, freighter, banana boat, car, bus, camper, airplane and train.

In New Zealand, they spent four months on both North and south Islands traveling in a camper. Christmas last year found the Austins celebrating quietly in an auto camp.

Christmas, Mrs. Austin said, is "practically ignored in New Zealand. Most people spend the day at the beach as it is during the summer holidays."

The highlight of the trip for Mrs. Austin was hiking the 33-miles Milford Sound trail. Austin got particular pleasure out of photographing yellow-eyed penguins at the southern tip of New Zealand.

Austin took about 900 color slides of the trip and spoiled only one 36-exposure roll. He double exposed the roll and pictures of native huts came out superimposed on the captain's party aboard ship.

One of the more unusual experiences was taking a 19-day banana boat trip through the Fiji Islands. The boat carried 75 cabin passengers, 85 deck passengers—who were natives traveling from island to island—and a load of 30,000 cases of bananas.

Returning May 8, the Austins remain bitten by the travel bug. Next on the schedule is a tour of the United States and then south by camper on the highway to Panama.

11 Outstanding High School Seniors Honored

Eleven high school seniors—one from each high school in Marin County—were honored yesterday by the California Savings and Loan League as the outstanding members of their graduating classes.

Medallions were presented to the 11 at a recognition luncheon at Peacock Gap Golf and Country Club. There will be $100 checks, too, to be presented at school honors assemblies.

The ceremonies will be broadcast as tape-recorded yesterday on Radio KTIM tomorrow at 12:15 p.m.

Fred F. Enemark, chairman of the league's Marin County school relations committee, expressed pride that this year, for the first time, every high school in the county participated. Joining this year were Terra Linda High School—which is graduating its first seniors next month, San Rafael Military Academy, Dominican Upper School, and Katharine Branson School.

The winners, chosen by their school administrators, were:

R. James Troppmann, son of Coach and Mrs. Robert J. Troppman of 6 Key Largo Cove, Corte Madera, from Redwood High School; Judith Rae Huckins, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Alva Ray Huckins Jr. of Ojai, Ventura County, from Katharine Branson School; Marcia Frideger, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward J. Frideger of 175 Prospect Avenue, San Anselmo, from Marin Catholic High School; Wendy Anne Hardcastle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas D. Hardcastle of 7 English Court, Novato, from Novato High School; Marie Bertolli, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Bertolli of 8 Bradcliff Court, San Rafael, from Dominican Upper School; Bruce H. Howard, son of Dr. and Mrs. Frank Howard of 55 Montecito Road, San Rafael, from San Rafael High School; David E. Good, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Good of 243 Poplar Drive, Kentfield, from San Rafael Military Academy; Linden Press, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Press of 8 Brookside Court, San Anselmo, from Sir Francis Drake High School; Margaret Ruth Allen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Boyd Allen of 337 Magee Avenue, Mill Valley, from Tamalpais High School; Wesley A. Davison Jr. of 545 Miller Creek Road, Marinwood, from Terra Linda High School, and Merissa Tobler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Werner Tobler of Olema, from Tomales High School. Miss Tobler was ill and unable to attend to receive her award in person.

Marshall Dill Jr., chairman of the history department at Dominican College, in a speech to the winners, their parents and school administrators, stressed the importance of high schools. In high school, said Dill, the student must learn the use of English, something of history, government, great literature, music and art, the scientific approach.

"If you have not had this by the end of high school, nothing much is going to be added," he said. "If you have this foundation to build upon in college, the world is yours."

Irwin H. Diamond, dean of students at College of Marin, presented the medallions.

Five savings and loan associations participated in the program in Marin this year: Marin County Savings and Loan, Northwestern Savings and Loan, Ross Valley Savings and Loan, Tamalpais Savings and Loan, and Citizens Federal Savings and Loan — the last named joining for the first time in this county.

College Of Marin Board Approves Plans For New Gymnasium Complex

Trustees of the Marin Junior College District last night approved plans for a new gymnasium complex on the Kentfield campus estimated to cost $1,034,300.

Bids will probably be asked sometime in July. Completion is expected in the summer of 1964.

Architects Falk and Booth of San Francisco have designed four buildings and a swimming pool to be located on a 400-foot square site on the northwest corner of college land south of College Avenue.

Architect Corwin Booth said he expects state approval of the plans by mid-June.

Original cost estimate was $1,011,000 about a year and a half ago when the trustees saw first drawings. Booth said about half the increase is due to increased building costs and the other half to changes in the plan.

There will be four buildings, a main gymnasium and three buildings for lockers, showers and classrooms. The contract will also include installation of walks and topsoil.

Trustees approved planting and landscaping plans for the gymnasium complex submitted by landscape architects Werthheim and van der Ploeg of San Francisco. Ernest Wortheim estimated the cost at $16,500. Trustees authorized seeking bids on some of the larger plants now with the hope of saving money. Wortheim said the planted area will be served almost entirely by sprinkler and the sprinklers will be hooked up to a fertilizer injection system. The Kentfield campus will be one of the few campuses in the state to have fertilizer injection, he said.

Contract For Vending To Be Terminated

Termination of a contract for vending machines and a sandwich counter in the College of Marin cafeteria was authorized last night after two years of complaints by students.

A new contract with a different firm, Mannings Inc. of San Francisco, was authorized. The firm will contract with the Associated Students of College of Marin.

Students have complained that the service supplied by Bay Cities Automat Co. of San Francisco was poor and that machines for soft drinks and candy were often broken or empty.

Serious study of the Gulf Stream began in 1844.

The Marin College District Board Also:

The Marin Junior College District board also:

1. Appointed trustees Kent O. Seymour and Robert E. Rogers to serve on a committee with architects Falk and Booth and members of the college staff in selecting a site for a new campus in North Marin. The district hopes to acquire an option on land this year.

2. Learned that the college's vocaitonal nursing program was ranked second in the state by the State Board of Vocational Nurse Examiners. The college program received a score of 595.10. Average score for 29 schools examined was 525.29.

3. Approved seven new courses in law enforcement, a course in real estate, a course in library use and a course in psychology to start next fall. The law enforcement courses, ranging from the legal process to firearms, comprise a new daytime program at the college. There have been evening courses in law enforcement this year.

4. Learned that Stephen C. Bruff, geology and geography teacher, wishes to take sabbatical leave in the 1964-65 school year. No action was taken on the request last night.

5. Approved use by the Marin Art and Garden Center of college parking space during the Art and Garden Fair July 3 through 7. Visitofs will be carried from the college parking area to the fair by shuttle bus.

Goal Of $11,407,000 Is Set For United Bay Area Crusade Drive

A goal of $11,407,000 from the five Bay Area counties was set today by the United Bay Area Crusade for its October drive.

The money will help support 183 health, welfare and youth service agencies. It represents an increase of three and one-half per cent increase over the $11,020,000 donated to the crusade last year, according to Nils Eklund, campaign president.

A breakdown of how much each county is expected to contribute will be made during late spring or summer.

For the second year, the drive's theme will be "One Gift Works Many Wonders."

Requests of the United Crusade agencies total $15,490,000, said Eklund. "Although this figure is our ultimate objective, we felt that it must be approached in a series of smaller increases," he said.

The board of governors for the crusade approved the increased goal, Eklund said, because of the rising cost of living and because some nine new agencies have applied for participation in the 1963 drive.

Injunction Is Asked To Block Gov. Wallace

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Justice Department today asked the U.S. District Court in Birmingham, Ala., to issue an injunction preventing Gov. George Wallace from interfering with the enrollment of qualified Negroes at the University of Alabama.

Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy said the camplaint was filed to get an immediate court test of Wallace's announced position of "legal resistance and legal defiance" of federal court orders admitting two Negroes to the university June 10.

Wallace has said he personally will bar enrollment of Negroes Vivian J. Malone and David M. McGlathery to the university.

The complaint was filed in the same court where Judge H. Hobart Grooms on May 21 ordered Miss Malone and McGlathery admitted to the university under a 1955 court order.

Judge Seybourn H. Lynn set hearing for 10 a.m., June 3 to show cause why the order should not be issued.

Shortly after Grooms ordered the two Negroes admitted, Wallace publicly stated he would be present to bar entrance of any Negro attempting to enroll in the university. He said this would test his "constitutional standing" as governor and as "direct representative" of the people of Alabama.

Russians Launch New Unmanned Satellite

MOSCOW (UPI)—The Soviet Union today launched an unmanned satellite in its continuing research of space.

Tass News Agency said the satellite, Cosmos 18, carried scientfic apparatus "to continue space research in accordance with the program announced by Tass on March 16, 1962."

It was the fifth unmanned satellite launched by the Russians in the past six weeks, and the seventh to be launched this year.

Cosmos 17 was launched just two days ago.

The recent flurry of Soviet space activity, after a layoff of several months, has prompted speculation that the Russians are about to launch a new manned space project.

Earlier this month Moscow announced it was beginning a series of test firings of long range rockets into the Pacific Ocean presumably in connection with space projects.

The first Soviet satellite launched this year was Cosmos 13, on March 21.

On April 2, Lunik IV, a 3,128 pound moon probe, was fired off but missed the moon by 5,270 miles and went into orbit around the earth. All the other launchings were in the Cosmos series.

House Armed Services Group Slashes $243 Million Requests

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House Armed Services Committee—reflecting the mood of an economy-minded Congress—today cut nearly 243 million dollars from Pentagon requests for military construction projects at home and abroad.

The committee approved a $1,663,472,000 measure authorizing buildings, hospital and other facilities at military bases. Included in the measure were 10,000 new homes Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara said were needed to house some servicemen now living in shabby quarters. Those homes will cost $181,519,000.

The Defense Department sent to the committee—headed by House Dean Carl Vinson (D-Ga.)—requests totaling $1,876,455,000. The committee whacked about 13 per cent from that total.

Defense agencies had their requests reduced nearly 76 per cent, mainly because the committee decided that a new 17.2-million-dollar intelligence building in nearby Arlington, Va., was not needed now.

The measure merely authorized new construction for fiscal 1964, but without specific authorization for projects no funds could be appropriated later by Congress.

The housing breakdown was Army, 1,727 units, Navy, 4,228 units and Air Force, 4,045 units.

College Tests For Marine Lab Approved

Trustees of the Marin Junior College District last night authorized biology teacher Alfonso Molina to make tests of water and tides at the college's site in Bolinas to check the feasibility of a marine laboratory there.

Last month Molina outlined a program for development of the former Coast Guard station. First step is testing, next renovation of buildings and finally installation of a sea water circulation system.

No estimate of cost of the program will be available until completion of the tests this summer.

3 Injured In Pileup On Bridge

A three-car chain-reaction crash on the Golden Gate Bridge at 8 a.m. yesterday caused minor injury to three Marin residents, the California Highway Patrol reported.

A southbound car driven by Mrs. Marty Ann Horton, 30, of 123 Golden Hind Passage, Corte Madera, hit the rear of a car driven by William Henderson, 55, of 78 Marina Vista Avenue, Larkspur. It in turn hit a halted car driven by Milton Berdinsky, 38, of 1441 Casa Buena Drive, Corte Madera, the CHP said.

Berdinsky complained of neck pain. His wife, a passenger with him, reported an arm injury, and Henderson complained of back pain. All said they would see their own doctors. The highway patrol cited Mrs. Horton for speeding.

Livestock Auction Set In Sausalito

Dust will fly tomorrow in Sausalito around the old slaughterhouse at the end of Coloma Street in Sausalito at the IDESST livestock auction.

Cows, sheep, chickens and ducks are to be sold starting at 1 p.m. to raise money for the Chamarita, annual Portuguese festival celebrating the Holy Ghost. Chamarita will be June 1 and 2 at the IDESST Hall on Caledonia Street.

Auctioneers will be Tony G. Brazil of Muir Beach, Louis Ricci of Santa Rosa and Manuel Perry of Petaluma.

Some of the cattle are donated, Brazil said, to be used for food at the festival, but slaughtering, once done at the slaughterhouse, is now done in Petaluma. Local merchants contribute items for the auction, Brazil added, and the event is open to the public.

New York Harbor, the world's largest seaport, receives more than 1,000 ocean-going vessels each month.

Marin Property Taxes Now At $27,005,250

Property taxes in Marin County, doubling in the past five years, have reached a record $27,005,250, the California Taxpayers' Assn. reported today.

While the total levies have increased 100 per cent the county's population has increased 22 per cent, reported Sheffield J. Arnold, executive director of the association.

Compared with other counties in the state, Marin had the fourth highest percentage of tax increase. It was tied for 19th highest in the percentage of population increase during the 1958-63 period. Taxes went up in all counties.

The association compiled its totals from property taxes levied by cities, school districts and special districts during the fiscal year ending June 30.

Sonoma County had a 59 per cent increase in property taxes and a 19 per cent increase in population.

El Dorado County led in both categories with a 224 per cent tax increase and an 85 per cent population increase.

Statewide there was a 60 per cent tax increase from 1.6 billion dollars to $2.6 billion dollars and a 20 per cent population boost.

BOOK SALE GOING WELL AT LIBRARY

"They came in like vultures," said Mrs. Eleanor Murray happily. "They're buying books by the boxful."

Mrs. Murray, chairman of the San Rafael Library board, referred to the two-day book sale on the library lawn which got off to a rousing start at 8:15 a.m. today—45 minutes early.

"We were supposed to start at 9 a.m.," said Mrs. Murray, "but there must have been a hundred people there at 8 a.m. Our cashier is so busy I don't know how long she'll last."

The sale, conducted by the Marin Retired Teachers Assn., is a library benefit. Proceeds will go to create a record collection for the library, which is now lacking. The sale will continue until 5 p.m. today and from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. tomorrow.

The library also added about 500 books to its shelves from books collected for the sale.

"We have 1,000 books outside now," said Mrs. Vivian Smith, chief librarian, "and we have another 1,000 inside waiting to go out. We'll add more books as they're sold, but we will save a number for tomorrow morning so those who can only come on Saturday won't waste their time."

Mrs. Murray reported an especially brisk sale in language books, including Spanish, French, German, and Japanese.

Jumps From Car As Brakes Fail

A Sausalito woman suffered bruises and scrapes at 1:10 p.m. yesterday when she jumped from a car after the brakes failed at Belle and San Anselmo Avenues, San Anselmo police reported.

Mrs. Arline Morris, 49, of 341 San Carlos Avenue, jumped after the driver told her the brakes had failed. The driver, Jeanne Alma Naughton, 49, of Daly City, stayed with the car. She was uninjured.

Police said the two women were riding along Belle Avenue when the driver applied her brakes and they failed to hold.

Mrs. Morris was treated at Marin General Hospital.

Inheritance Tax Measure Is Gaining

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO—A bill to put inheritance tax appraisers under civil service, thus eliminating the last major source of patronage in California politics, won its first test in Assembly committee yesterday.

Marin Assemblyman William T. Bagley's bill (AB 1049) was given a close voice-vote approval by the Committee on Governmental Organization and moved to the Ways and Means Committee.

Testifying for Bagley was legislative analyst A. Alan Post, who called the present appointment of the appraisers by the controller "outmoded." He said that only four states now have such a system and that most of these use civil service rolls to select appraisers.

Post estimated that by putting the appraisers on civil service salary, rather than fees, the state could save half a million dollars a year.

This was contested by Ralph McCarthy of Controller Alan Cranston's office. McCarthy said they figure the plan would cost the state between two and three million dollars more per year. He vigorously opposed the measure, which would require the controller to appoint all appraisers from the civil service rolls. At present Cranston has about 140 inheritance tax appraisers serving at his pleasure.

Bagley held on the committee's file for future consideration, two other bills on the same subject. AB 1323 would make the assessor of each county the inheritance tax and probate appraiser, putting all fees for such service in the county general fund. AB 2315 would eliminate all fees for inheritance tax appraisals.

College Officers Elected In Big Turnout Of Voters

In the largest vote that can be recalled at College of Marin, David Campbell of Inverness has been elected student body president for next fall in the first election permitting all students to vote.

Formerly only those student body cards—about 800 last February — were permitted to vote or hold office.

Election committee chairman Jeremy S. Smith said 406 ballots were cast—about 31 per cent of those eligible—contrasted to 150 in the February elections for class representatives. The turnout for major officers last December was about 180.

Campbell, unopposed on the ballot, got 325 votes, to a total of 41 votes for 10 write-in candidates.

Also elected without opposition by students nominated by petition were:

Paul Molinari, San Anselmo, vice president, 366 votes; Ann Buel, Mill Valley, secretary, 355; Edward Hodges, Kentfield, treasurer, 351; Marilin Heller, Mill Valley, yell leader, 339, and Sandra McKay, San Rafael, song leader, 329.

David Lehman, Corte Madera, was elected public relations commissioner with 236 votes, defeating William Zimmer, Sausalito, 146.

Ronald Foster, Marin City, was elected rally commissioner with 219, defeating Michael Thiercof, Larkspur, with 164.

Seven students received a total of eight votes for vice president; nine got a total of 10 for secretary; five got six for treasurer; two got one each for public relations; two got one each for rally commissioner; five got six for yell leader; and one received one for song leader.

The winners will be sworn in at an assembly at noon June 4 and take office in September. Four class representatives will be nominated and elected in fall semester.

Marin Youth Is Found Guilty Of Manslaughter On Highway

William Arthur Acree, 20, whose car struck and killed a Kentfield youth last New Year's Eve, is guilty of misdemeanor manslaughter, a Marin Superior Court jury ruled last night.

A jury of eight men and four women deliberated for more than five hours, spurning dinner, and brought in the guilty verdict at 7:15 a.m.

Judge Joseph G. Wilson set 10 a.m. Monday to hear a motion for a new trial by the defense and for sentencing. Misdemeanor manslaughter carries a maximum sentence of one year in county jail. Felony manslaughter, with which Acree was charged, carried a maximum penalty of five years in prison.

About 10:30 p.m. New Year's Eve, Acree's car struck two youths who were walking alongside Highway 101 near Marin City. Robert T. McMullen, 19, of Kentfield died from the injuries the next day, to become the first traffic fatality in Marin for 1963. His buddy, William R. Costello Jr., 19, of Larkspur suffered severe injuries but survived.

The jurors, headed by foreman Lynn L. Davis of San Rafael, found Acree guilty of manslaughter without gross negligence. Dist. Atty. Roger P. Garety, during the seven-day trial, pressed for a felony manslaughter conviction.

"We will definitely move for a new trial," said defense attorney William O. Weissich. "I am still convinced my client was not guilty of any criminal act.

"The jurors found that Mr. Acree was not exceeding 85 miles per hour but found that he violated the basic speed law —driving at a speed unsafe for the existing conditions," Weissich added. "The Highway is wide at that point, and at 10:30 p.m. I do not believe that driving 65 or under is an unsafe speed."

The defense contended that defective brakes caused the accident.

At the time of the accident, both Acree and his passenger, Penny Heide, 16, told patrolmen that she was driving. Later, Acree admitted he had been the driver. Acree's driver's license had been suspended last November after a property-damage accident.

Hospital Aide Hurt In Crash

A Ross Hospital surgical technician was treated at San Rafael General Hospital early today for scalp cuts after his car rolled over on Highway 101 north of Lucas Valley Road.

He was transferred in good condition to Ross Hospital.

The driver, Roger Charles Le Page, 30, of Tennessee Valley Road, Mill Valley, was driving south about 11:55 p.m. yesterday when another car without warning cut in front, he told the California Highway Patrol. The car hit the divider guard rail, then bounced into a metal bridge rail on the right.

CHP Warns On Highway Deaths

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The California Highway Patrol, looking toward next week's Memorial Day holiday, has warned that highway fatalities this year have exceeded those recorded at the same time in 1962.

Commissioner Bradford M. Crittenden said yesterday that the first four months of this year resulted in 1,228 traffic deaths. Last year at the same time 1,168 persons had died.

In areas patrolled by the CHP, 734 persons had died in 617 accidents. Last year 677 persons died in 556 fatal accidents. The other deaths occurred in cities and towns.

Special Job Centers

ROME (AP)—The Italian government maintains public works centers to provide employment for laborers who are too old, untrained or physically unsuited for normal jobs. The centers provide employment for about a quarter of a million men, who work on roads, public buildings, land reclamation and forestry projects.

Automation is Not the No. 1 Bogeyman

It is generally agreed the automobile business is a basic industry in our country; a bell-weather with sensitive effect on the entire economy. Measuring the all-encompassing impact of this industry, from raw materials, fabrication, manufacturing, distribution, sales, maintenance, and ultimate junking, to begin yet another cycle, is a staggering task.

Researching the entire cycle, reduced to a single American-made automobile, to ascertain its contribution to our economy in terms of jobs provided and money in circulation, is a project I intend to embrace with a fervor reminiscent of my eager days at Wayne University. The automobile business has been good for me. I am certain it has likewise been good for millions of other Americans.

It is because of my intense love of this business that I am alarmed over the apparent increasing inroads being made by imports. Each year finds more and more numbers and percentages of foreign-made cars sold in this country. True, some of these "toys" are no longer coming, but a few of the old die-hards keep arriving, like a swarm of locust.

The two most prominent reasons offered by the exponents for the imports to select their products over the home-grown models are economy and superior workmanship. The claim of superiority of construction I refute vehemently. American craftsmanship and know-how make most foreign offerings shoddy by contrast.

Economy of operation when limited to gasoline mileage alone suggests quite obviously the alternative of a bicycle or pogo-stick which use no gas at all. The fact of the almost non-existent use of imports by the major national fleet and lease operators who must, of necessity, reduce costs of maintenance and operation to fractions of pennies, should in itself deflate the economy contention of the imports.

Much concern and hand wringing has been made these past few years over the ominous threat of automation. Jobs are fast disappearing, the harbingers of doom predict. And, in the parking lot adjacent to the meeting hall, you can count the imports—a lot of them; each one of which represents a greater loss of jobs than probably any single automation advance.

If we're going to sing the blues let's make sure first we can carry a tune. Personally, we at Ames Ford will try to sell our American-made products in a positive manner, convinced of their superiority and greater value. And hoping to convince you, too.

DINING OUT AND INNS

By HARRY CRAFT

There's A Bit Of New Orleans Music Playing At Confucius

There's a certain touch in the fingers of John Whelan now at the organ at Confucius that betrays his New Orleans musical background, and it shows up even more at the piano. John has brought in his Baldwin concert organ to make Friday, Saturday and Sunday night appearances at the Greenbrae restaurant. Whether it's the organ itself or cocktail lounge, the acoustics are excellent. We're convinced, however, that Horace Fong should do a little remodeling and move the piano so John can alternate from one to the other.

Still favorites on the menu here — asparagus beef, also sesame chicken. And Horace's kitchen will prepare such things as rice vermicelli or bird nest soup by special request. The latter, by the way, is made from tiny mushroom growth that sprouts from certain vacated nests in Borneo, and is a treat by any gourmet standards.

MUSIC AND BUSINESS. Pianist Fred Gennert at the Blue Rock Inn, Larkspur, runs a San Francisco business consulting firm; banjoist Bill Fischer teaches college English and is completing a doctorate at U.C. Both have played at many top clubs.

Chef Louis Jackson at the Blue Rock is trying to convince Bob Hosmer he should add whole broiled Maine lobster to the menu. Bob is wondering if the customers will go for it. You might tell him.

MENUS SEEM TO BE MADE larger these days — four of them will cover a complete table. San Rafael Joe's is one of the places that uses them, but here it's necessary—so many dishes are offered. Items long remembered after the menus are put away at Joe's are the lobster steak, the New Yorks and dinner steaks—and the salads of Maria Naklicki.

In sunshine and warm weather, the latter are especially memorable, dietetically welcome and tasty. Maria deems to pick up renewed interest in direct proportion to the demand. Try Joe's mermaid salad sometime with crab, shrimp, prawns and lobster, the stuffed avocado, or the "Green Goddess." And one of Maria's real specialties is a fruit salad that should be written in capital letters.

I HAVE BEEN ASKED to name a full dozen Marin restaurants that most closely satisfy the requirements of a typical lunchtime business group (not including club gatherings).

This type of group, it should be explained, usually comes in numbers from two to eight, with probably a foursome as the median. It consists of executives or salesmen entertaining important customers, frequently out-of-town businessmen. Wives are sometimes included.

It usually conducts a certain amount of business discussion —either as a continuance of morning meetings, or complete in itself by appointment for that particular purpose. Requirements, therefore would be: Convenient location, surroundings conducive to discussions, and perhaps a certain flair.

Since I am limited to a choice of 12, it does not follow that there are no others which might not qualify, but alphabetically the list would run something like this:

Alta Mira Hotel, Sausalito; Buckeye, Sausalito; Confucius, Greenbrae; Dock, Tiburon; Dominic's, San Rafael; Franchini's Chateau, north of San Rafael; Nero's, Ignacio; Peacock Gap Golf and Country Club, Marin Bay; Rickey's Rancho Rafael, Ignacio; Sabella's, Alto; Sam's ,Tiburon, and Spinnaker, Sausalito.

SEVEN COURSES. Kirby Atterbury's Caprice in Tiburon may be compact, but the dinners are otherwise. Make reservations.

NEW AT DRAKE'S ARMS, Inverness: Strudel — in three varieties: Apple, poppy seed and cheese. Vladimir Nevl makes them fresh every morning. Probably has to, because they're eaten so fast. Good afternoon snack with tea or coffee.

Vladimir also reports that the Inverness Equestrians who meet regularly at Drake's Arms have planned an all-day English horse show for Father's Day, June 16. It will be held from 9:30 a.m. at the Inverness Lodge riding stables, but come and go as you please. No charge.

Another horse show is scheduled for later in the year — probably October — for crippled children in Marin.

LE CAFE FRANCAIS, serving French and American food in a nice setting (this is the former Fleur de Lys location), and at reasonable prices, opens tonight at 112 Spalding Avenue, San Anselmo. Dinners will be served only on Friday, Saturday and Sunday nights, and include soup, salad, entree and dessert. Prices from $3 and a la carte.

PLENTY OF SPACE. Tomahawk Lodge, north of Novato, has facilities for groups up to 200 and separate bar. An easy drive from almost anywhere in Marin. You can count on good food from Don Giavannoni's kitchen.

RUBINI'S in Fairfax will be closed next Thursday — Memorial Day.

Civic Affairs Unit To Elect

Election of officers tops the agenda for the Monday meeting of directors of the Marin Council for Civic Affairs.

The meeting will begin at 8 p.m. in room 413 at the Marin County Civic Center. The positions of chairman, vice chairman and treasurer must be filled as well as four members at large on the executive board. Committee appointments are the second item of business .

There will be a report on a book drive by Harold Stockstad and a report on the Marin Transit Act by Margaret Azevedo.

Meters Suggested For Locust District

Directors of the Mill Valley Chambers of Commerce Wednesday appointed Jerry Gooch as chairman of a committee to investigate possibility of installing parking meters on Miller Avenue in the Locust business district.

The action was taken after the board heard a report by Bert K. Mixon, sales engineer for Magee-Hale Park-O-Meter Co., who suggested the district is a "borderline" case. If installed, he recommended meters be in the center strip only. Meters have been suggested by the city council as a means of raising city revenues.

Theodore Roosevelt, youngest man to attain the presidency at 42 began his political career as a New York assemblyman when he was 23 years old.

Non-Teaching Group Elects

Mrs. Christine Sewell has been installed as president of the newly chartered San Anselmo chapter of the California School Employees Assn.

Other officers are Al Luddit, vice president; Mrs. Nancy Harris, secretary-reporter, and Mrs. Ferne Whitney, treasurer.

The association membership is made up of non-teaching school personnel. There are 350 chapters in California.

'The Robe' Showing On Hub Screen

By LESLIE DARD

Here's what's doing this weekend on Marin County screens:

TAMALPAIS THEATER

"The Robe," a gigantic story filled with romance, action and biblical pageantry is now doing a re-run here. In Technicolor, it was the first CinemaScope film ever made.

Richard Burton stars in this story of Christianity under the Romans. Burton plays a Roman who grudgingly makes the transition to Christianity.

Handed the routine job of supervising the execution of Christ, Burton spends the time on Calvary playing dice for His robe. In the shattering story that follows the Crucifixion, he loses the robe, his slave (Victor Mature) and apparently his sanity.

Convinced he has been bewitched, he returns to Palestine to investigate the Christian sect. He finds Mature and the robe at Cana, and the gentle behavior of the Christians puts him on the road to conversion.

Others in the cast include Jean Simmons, Dean Jagger, Michael Rennie.

TIBURON PLAYHOUSE

A semi-historical re-enactment of the last day in the life of Mahatma Ghandi makes a fine suspense story in "Nine Hours to Rama," now showing.

The amazingly authentic film uses India's millions to tell its part-history, part-fiction story. The plot against the Mahatma discovered, there is a day-long search throughout Delhi for the chosen terrorist assassin, identity unknown.

Horst Buchholz stars as the youthful fanatic, drawing a tense portrait of smoldering emotion. Jose Ferrer is excellent as a police superintendent racing against time to save Ghandi. A Ghandi look-alike, J. S. Casshyap, plays the role most convincingly.

Co-featured is "Period of Adjustment," the film version of Tennessee Williams' comedy, starring Jane Fonda, Jim Hutton, Anthony Francisca and Lois Nettleton.

MOTOR MOVIES

A little-known figure in biblical history is brought to life in "Barabbas," a 10-million-dollar Italian-produced (English language) spectacle, opening Sunday.

Barabbas was the murderer-thief spared by Pontius Pilate on the day Christ was crucified. The scriptures tell little else about him. Sweden's Nobel Prize author Par Lagerkvist explored the question in the 1951 novel upon which this film is based.

Anthony Quinn suffers mightily in the title role. Sylvano Mangano plays Barabbas' girl, who follows Christ and is stoned to death. Jack Palance is seen as a sadistic gladiator, Vittorio Gassman as an early martyr and Arthur Kennedy as Pilate.

101 DRIVE-IN

"Son of Flubber" opens Sunday, the sequel to Walt Disney's highly successful "Absent Minded Professor." Fred MacMurray again stars as the professor who invents flubber (flying rubber) and proceeds to turn the town upside down.

Flying autos, halfbacks that are passed the length of the field and a football that is kicked into orbit are a few of the hilarious activities you can expect on this crazy campus.

Co-featured is "Papa's Delicate Condition," starring Jackie Gleason, Glynis Johns and Charlie Ruggles in recollections of her youth by silent screen star Corinne Griffith.

RAFAEL THEATER

Truth indeed is stranger than fiction, but few factual incidents are ever stranger, more provocative and more shocking than the trial which comes to the screen as "Free, White and 21" opens Sunday at the Rafael. "Free, White and 21" stars Frederick O'Neal and Annalena Lund and the highlight of the ending is that you are the jury which must decide the merits of the case.

It's man's word against woman's but it is the question whether the facts will be allowed to decide his fate—the fate of a Texas Negro charged with violating by force a white woman. It is not a racial conflict because the woman is not a Southerner, but a Swedish citizen who came to Texas as a Freedom Rider and a friend of the Negro people. This is truly an adult film, and children or juniors will not be admitted.

SEQUOIA THEATER

"West Side Story," Leonard Bernstein's 11-Oscar winning musical, offers music, choreography, camera work and drama that all rate superlatives.

Essentially, it is a tragic Romeo and Juliet love story. Natalie Wood stars as the pretty, innocent Puerto Rican girl who makes the mistake of falling in love with a neighborhood boy from an enemy gang (Richard Beymer).

Their love becomes the center of a fierce conflict, and the means by which the film delivers its powerful sociological message.

NOVATO THEATER

The comedy "Forty Pounds of Trouble," stars Tony Curtis, Suzanne Pleshette and little Claire Wilcox.

Claire is the 40 pounds of the title, a five-year-old moppet abandoned by her gambler father in Harrah's Club at Lake Tahoe. Curtis, who plays the proprietor takes charge of her.

But Tony's life is complicated by legal maneuverings of his ex-wife, who's determined to hook him for alimony. He's just as determined to dodge her—and California laws. It all finally lands in Disneyland, however, for one of the best film looks at the place we've had.

FAIRFAX THEATER

John Huston's "Freud" is held over.

The picture is a searching analysis of the life and works of the controversial Viennese neurologist whose career changed medical history.

We see Freud develop theories about the human mind, advancing from hypnosis into free association and dream analysis. We see the birth of his theories on infantile sexuality and the various complexes.

Montgomery Clift is convincing in the title role. Susannah York plays his tormented young patient and Larry Parks is strong as his faithful friend.

LARK THEATER

The evergreen humor of Peter Sellers remains on view in the cops-and-robber farce, "Wrong Arm of the Law."

Sellers plays a Cockney who runs a fancy French dress shop as a cover for his serious profession: leading an association of criminals. Organized like a modern business, the syndicate offers its members such niceties as paid vacations, training films, etc.

All of which is very nice until three out-of-town talents, impersonating police officers, move into the syndicate's territory. Sellers arranges a 24-hour truce with Scotland Yard and cops and robbers go after the outsiders.

Delightful relaxation.

Dixie Students Prove To Have Very High IQs

Boys and girls who get "C" grades in the Dixie School District would probably get "B" grades in most other schools, according to Penrod Moss, district curriculum consultant.

Dixie has "many more bright youngsters than the average United States school district." This, plus a high level of education of parents in the district makes it "difficult to assess just what a 'C' really is," Moss told the district's board of trustees this week.

His comments were based on the analysis of intelligence tests which were given last fall to 817 children in fourth, fifth and eighth grades.

As in similar examinations gvien two years ago, the tests showed a high proportion of above-average students, he said. Twenty per cent of the children in the fourth grade have an average IQ above 131, whereas normally only 2 per cent would be in this category, with the average IQ score being 100.

But Moss pointed out that "some of the more gifted children are not doing as well as they might in arithmetic and spelling."

Except for those two subjects, he said, "we are doing a teaching job that is up to and beyond the normal in most cases."

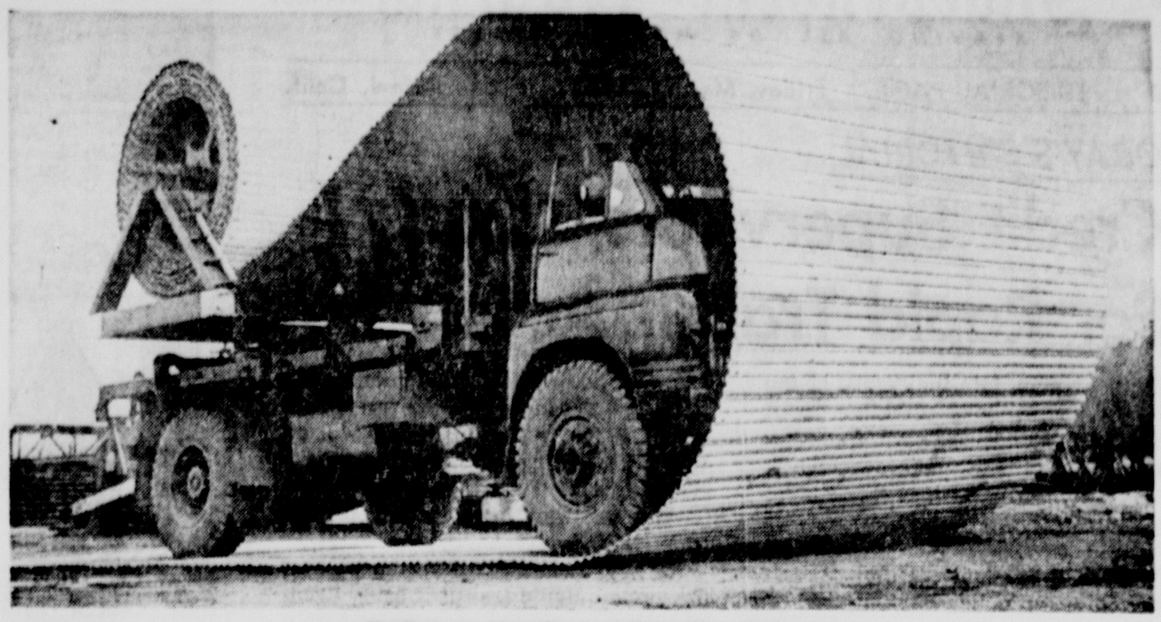
He suggested the tests themselves may contribute to some lower scores, for many pupils are learning the "new math" spelling tests are simple tests but IQ tests are not geared to these recent methods. Some of "proofreading ability, not really spelling," he said.

Moss said grades given to freshmen at Terra Linda High School are "much higher" than grades earned while in the Dixie District eighth grades.

His six-page report and 25 charts and tables on the testing program was accepted by the board for further study.

Remedial Reading

Remedial reading, given for the first time this year in Mill Valley School District, will be the subject of a report by Dr. Logan T. Miles, assistant superintendent, at a meeting of the board of trustees at 8 p.m. Monday. Michael Healy, guidance consultant, will report on testing.



ROLLING YOUR OWN

If you haven't got a road, you can always roll your own says the British Army. This truck which lays a flexible track in front of it as it moves along was demonstrated recently at the Royal Military School of Engineering at Gillingham, Kent, England. The truck can put down 55 yards of road in 11 seconds. (AP Wirephoto)

Drake High Is Voting For Student Officers

Students at Sir Francis Drake High School were voting today to elect student body officers for next fall.

Running for president are Michael Kemp and Gordon Nelson.

Dennis Lannigan is unopposed for vice president, and Laura Gavre is also running alone for secretary. Pamela Edison and Gary Phillipet are competing for treasurer.

Two groups are seeking election as songleaders for the fall. The "Candid 8s" are made up of Judy Sherseth, Valerie Sanz, Terri Blodget, Tina Press, Mary Galagher, Linda Hunter, Nancee Little and Pat Arey.

The "Nauti Gals" consist of Lynn Feldmeyer, Cindy Dunning, Helene Ruzicka, Sue Travis, Mary Annes, Linda Siem and Pat Bullwinkel.

Two groups are trying for the yell leader posts. The "Salty Briners" consist of Marilyn LaBoube, Bill Carey, George Girvin and Pat Cunningham. The "Riggers" are Terry Politi, Linda Hunsaker and Bobby DeMartini.

DRIVE THE SAME CAR FOR 11 YEARS?

That's right . . . the average Volvo owner in Sweden drives his car for 11 years before he trades it in for a new one. And that's 11 years of hard driving because Swedish roads are often icy, bumpy, and generally rough.

VOLVO'S "HIDDEN" PLUSES

Volvo is rugged! It has dozens of quality features that are not seen by the eye. But the Volvo owner knows they are there . . . his proof is in Volvo's performance. Volvo is quality from back to front bumper. For example special care is taken to make Volvo rust-proof. Every Volvo has special rust-proof paint, hand painted, under hinges, bolt plates, and in areas that will be enclosed . . . then the factory sends the car through a rust-proofing dipping process.

BEAUTY with a PURPOSE

Volvo is beautiful, but its lines are dictated by sound engineering principals. Volvo's design gives it special structural strength . . . strength to make it safer, virtually indestructible, and trouble-free . . . proof of the pudding is at trade-in time.

Credit Supervisors, Counsel For Rapid Transit Action

Without going into the details of the proposal and without quibbling about crossed t's and dotted i's, we think the Marin Board of Supervisors has done a real service to the people of Marin in its proposal for a Marin County Transit District.

There will be plenty of time for adjustment of the detail, but the need of the moment is to have a plan in such condition that it can be started through the circuitous halls of the State Capitol.

The proposal as compiled by County Counsel E. Warren McGuire has all the basic requirements of a good transit district. It has a realistic 5 cent tax maximum, which is all that should be required in the early years of the district.

Ever since the county was, in effect, kicked out of the Bay Area Rapid Transit District, there has been a need for some agency to carry on rapid transit planning. Transit is something we must eventually have.

The reason we need such an agency now has been made more urgent because of the proposed state gasoline tax increase. Under this bill as it now stands, a major sum of money will be earmarked for rapid transit from the 1 cent tax boost. If Marin motorists are to pay the tax, they might as well benefit from it.

An agency here wouldn't be wasting the money. Rapid transit is badly needed even worse in the years immediately ahead. The state funds, added to what we can provide ourselves, should be more than adequate for proper study and solution of our problem.

We hope Assemblyman Bagley acts promptly and successfully on the proposed bill. But in the meantime, interested persons in Marin should study it and make suggestions. Changes can be made in it now. Amendment is easy at this stage of the game.

However, even if it passes and becomes law, bugs can still be eliminated at subsequent legislative sessions.

We congratulate the supervisors and County Counsel McGuire on a necessary bit of legislation, promptly attended to.

Questions For Peace People

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

If the recent Interfaith Conference For Peace held at the Civic Center really succeeded in bringing Catholics, Protestants, and Jews together to discuss their concern for peace, it is a little short of miraculous.

However, Marin County is chock full of organizations that get people together for a lot of talk but little or no action.

Therefore, I would like to ask a few questions of these Interfaith Peace Conference people in order to clarify their intentions for Marin County.

1. Certainly, everyone who is sane desires peace, but what kind of peace are they seeking? Peace of mind? Peace at ANY PRICE? Complete disarmament? Peace among persons, or among nations? What is their goal?

2. How is it possible to discuss peace with other nations, without those nations being represented?

3. How does a peace conference in Marin County have any effect in the world . . . on Communist China, for example?

4. If the peace conference is meant to be a "seed" or beginning, how does it grow? What do they expect an ordinary person to do to attain peace? They must have some kind of plan. What is it?

5. I recall much talk about peace in the Thirties, which was quickly forgotten when our shipping lines were attacked. Is there any difference now?

I don't know who will answer these questions, but assume that since the three major faiths were able to get together for a conference, there must be some leadership to disseminate information to the citizens. We would like to know what it is all about.

Get The Facts Before Attacking

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

Those who know and understand the facts behind Sausalito's ambulance policy would not, I feel, be so quick—as Mme. Sally Stanford was in her letter of last week — to verbally assault the city manager.

Attacks based on partial knowledge and incomplete understanding (and what appears to be an axe to grind) tend to reflect unnecessarily on the integrity of our public officials.

It is true that City Manager Charles Brown decreed that the city's ambulance should not leave the firehouse unless two qualified personnel were aboard. The policy, it should be noted, has the concurrence of Fire Chief Matts Perry. The City Council knew of it when it was established—and offered no veto. Furthermore, notice of the policy was published in an Independent-Journal news story.

The policy was withdrawn after the city manager became concerned about the potential danger to patients riding in an ambulance manned only by the driver. Also a concern was the possibility of lawsuits rising out of such eventualities. Thus Brown consulted with physicians, hospital personnel, and the fire chief. The conclusions drawn were that:

1. It is false to assume that if an ambulance does not arrive immediately at the scene of an emergency the patient is certain to suffer grievous harm. In other words, rarely does a few minutes' delay become a life-or-death matter.

2. It is extremely dangerous to the health and safety of a patient to ride in an ambulance manned only by the driver.

3. To dispatch an ambulance with two men when only three firemen are on duty is unthinkable as regards the city's fire protection. The fire chief prohibits it.

Sausalito has seven firemen. Sometimes there are four at the firehouse; sometimes there are three. When there are four, the ambulance can roll. When there are three, it cannot.

By mid-summer, the city should have four new firemen, fully trained. This number will be enough to permit the ambulance to promptly answer calls at any time.

Like Mme. Stanford, I deplore the inability of the city's ambulance to promptly answer all emergency calls. But, while I have no personal involvement in this matter, I feel strongly that those who attack our dedicated, hard-working, long-suffering public officials, ought first to gather the facts and think them through.

Determined To Justify Tributes

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

Your editorial commemorating the California Teachers Association's centennial observance has been called to my attention.

I'm sure that all CTA members in your circulation area shared my several reactions: deep gratitude for this recognition, thankfulness for our predecessors in California education who earned this reputation over the past century, and determination to continue to justify the tributes you paid to the association.

We hopefully share the belief that the teaching profession, through its statewide association, has provided the needed leadership to keep standards of education in California high and its quality improving. However, without the understanding support of the people of this state our achievements would have been restricted; and understanding support without the informative and interpretive aid of newspapers such as the Independent-Journal would have been unattainable.

Again, I express the association's appreciation for such gratifying editorial recognition.

I-J REPORTER'S NOTEBOOK

By AL BOCK

In Race For Space (Office Space) Only A Wall Protects The Victor

Marin County's supervisors acted just in time a week or so ago when they authorized a "space study" for future office needs of county departments.

The way departments were beginning to haggle over available space at the Civic Center, it looked as though open warfare might break out any moment. With word from the board that an investigation of the problem was under way, an uneasy situation was calmed—at least for a time.

OUR LOCAL SPACE program is hardly on the scale of the national one, but it's no less vital to the welfare and enlightenment of county officials. The study of space needs, with an eye to the proposed second wing of the Civic Center, will prevent hallway skirmishes over disputed square footage and midnight forays by department heads in search of empty rooms.

Administrative departments had no sooner moved to the new center last Christmas when territorial rights were called into question. Anybody maintaining his own office soon learned it was a mistake to boast about how pleasant and roomy his quarters were. Such intelligence was quickly passed on by agents of aggressive powers seeking to expand their Civic Center domains.

BORDER FIGHTS popped up everywhere. Now and again an outright invasion was launched. The race for space reached a point where a department was safe from the envy of others only if it were miserably overcrowded.

The county library had never had a home of its own before moving to the center. It was at last happily established under the center dome. But before long a highly organized search party spotted empty corners.

A campaign was whipped into shape with the objective of installing the new parks and recreation department in the library conference room. The move was thwarted when a conference room on another floor appeared more attractive to the space explorers.

The space cold war even pushed its way to the Old Courthouse in San Rafael where departments left behind began jostling each other.

APPARENTLY THE most effective means of safeguarding one's office was to throw up a wall around one's desk as soon as possible. This also became the strategy of the expansionists. As soon as they had conquered extra floor space, they sent out a request for materials and carpenters and began fortifying their new empire.

The Civic Center, with its interior walls, looks like a honeycomb made of countless little glass and plaster compartments. The press room did not escape this superfluous construction. I now have my own wall, separating me forever from the outside world and protecting me from the space hunters.

MY ONLY COMPLAINT is that it is an uninteresting wall. Unlike the wall in Bottom's interlude about Pyramus and Thisbe, it is not by any means the wittiest partition that ever did exist.

It lacks a chink for spying and offers no diverting discourses. It doesn't even soar all the way to the ceiling like the county auditor's new wall does. It's just a stunted, stupid wall.

At least it designates, once and for all, the boundaries of my share of space.

JUDGE FAVORS PARROT

Polly can ask for a cracker any time and in any way she pleases, accoording to one magistrate's ruling.

The parrot's owner was brought into an Ohio court on a charge that his pet was disturbing the peace by whistling, screaming and hollering day and night.

But Polly was saved on a technicality. The judge threw out the case on the grounds that the law specifies that a disturbance of the peace may be caused only by the use of horns, bells, radios or other instruments or devices.

While there may be legitimate differences of opinion as to how much it takes to disturb the peace, all of us have a built-in standard of what is approximately reasonable.

It is concisely summed up in the divine standard stressed by Christ when He said:

"As you wish men to do to you, so also do you to them." (Luke 6:31)

By showing others the same consideration that you would expect in their circumstances, you will be sure to strike a happy balance in respecting their rights as well as protecting your own.

Help me to look at things from the other person's point of view, O Lord.

THE LIGHTER SIDE

Everybody Playing 'Tom Swifties' —Scribe Tells How It's Done

By DICK WEST

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Almost everywhere you look nowadays you find people exchanging "Tom Swifties."

For the benefit of the fortunate few who have been kept in the dark about this thus far, I shall attempt to explain what "Tom Swifties" are.

A "Tom Swiftie" is a type of pun. Its roots lie in the Tom Swift adventure books that boys used to read about four decades ago.

IF YOU RECALL these books, you may remember that Tom and his companions spoke in adverbs. Virtually everything they said was said adverbally. A typical bit of dialogue might go something like this:

"Don't worry, chaps, I'll find a way out," Tom said calmly.

"We're with you, Tom," the others said trustingly.

Now, if you make up a quotation of your own and apply the adverb in such a way that it forms a pun, you've got a "Tom Swiftie."

For example, my wife and I had a "Tom Swiftie" conversation at the breakfast table this morning.

"What's the matter with this coffee?" I asked bitterly.

"You forgot to put sugar in it," she replied sweetly.

"It still doesn't taste right," I said blackly.

"Try putting cream in it," she muttered thickly.

"There's something else wrong," I said coldly.

"Maybe you didn't plug in the percolator," she said heatedly.

ONE OF OUR local "Tom Swiftie" experts, Jerry Doolittle of the Washington Post, recently compiled a list that included:

"Where could that arrow have landed?" he remarked aimlessly.

An experienced "Tom Swifties" player would immediately respond to that with one of his own, like:

"It's in my back," she screamed piercingly.

Or: "It's in my foot," he said pointedly.

Once you get the hang of it, you can make "Tom Swifties" fit almost any situation, such as this recent piece of news:

"I'm getting married again," Gov. Rockefeller announced happily.

"To whom?" asked Prince Rainier gracefully.

Astronaut Gordon Cooper's recent flight opened up many avenues for "Tom Swifties" addicts.

"Everything is A-OK," NASA reported initially.

President Kenendy's legislative program likewise offers a fertile field for "Tom Swifties."

"Get busy on my tax bill," he told Congress cuttingly.

"But Medicare was one of my campaign promises," the President pleaded brokenly.

If this fad follows the usual pattern, the next step will be for someone to bring out a "Tom Swifties" coloring book.

In an effort to control the rapidly changing stream of manpower in Marin County shops, a second War Manpower Commission organized by the buliding industry went into action. Builders were to be assured of holding essential men until they could be replaced by a provision that workers must notify of job changes in advance, and get approval before they quit.

Parking spaces on the west side of San Rafael's B Street were released by the army, allowing renewed civilian parking.

THE ALLEN-SCOTT REPORT

Stevenson To Geneva, Adm. Anderson To UN

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — Ambassador Adlai Stevenson is the hub of a new senstional story going the rounds in inner administration circles.

According to this startling tale, circulating in the highest quarters, President Kennedy is seriously deliberating shifting Stevenson from the United Nations headquarters in New York to the UN office in Geneva—where, it is being said, that post is to be greatly upgraded.

In Stevenson's place as UN ambassador in New York, goes this remarkable backstage report, will be named Adm. George Anderson, recently dropped as chief of naval operations.

STILL ANOTHER remarkable feature of this blockbuster is that this switching around is wholly agreeable to Stevenson; that he knows all about it and has acquiesced to it.

The eye-popping game of musical chairs, which inevitably would trigger other major changes, reputedly is scheduled to take place in August when Admiral Anderson relinquishes his place as a member of the Joint Chiefs of Staff to Adm. David McDonald, commander of U.S. Naval Forces in Europe.

The President is weighing this extraordinary plan, it is said, for two reasons:

TO REORGANIZE his international negotiating team in preparation for next year's torrid election battle, and to strengthen his position in Congress, where key leaders are increasingly critical of Defense Secretary McNamara's repeated overruling of military authorities on major issues.

Significant credence is given the story by Stevenson's surprise appearance before the House Foreign Affairs Committee last week to urge approval of the bill recommended by the President to upgrade this country's representation at the Geneva office of the United Nations.

Also significant, Stevenson was accompanied before the House committee by Asst. Secy. of State Harlan Cleveland, in charge of international organization affairs. Insiders say he is one of the few officials with whom the President has discussed the Stevenson-Anderson plan.

IN RESPONSE to questions by committeemen, Cleveland acknowledged that the legislation sought by the administration, in addition to greatly enhancing the importance of the Geneva representation, would empower the President to make other changes in the State Department and White House without obtaining congressional approval.

Among White House insiders, the President's relations with Stevenson are characterized as friendly but reserved. The President is described as regarding highly the 1952-56 Democratic standard bearer's intellectual ability, integrity and standing with foreign diplomats—but being leery of his judgments.

A new customer asked for the head of a Wall Street brokerage house, and once admitted to the inner sanctum, explained succinctly, "I have a really tough investment problem." Player Not Without Honor —Save In His Own Game

A bridge player is not without honor, save in his own game. But he must expect a good roasting in his own game, no matter how well he plays.

All of which may explain the comments made when Ernest Keller, Los Angeles insurance executive, got out from under in today's hand.

South took the ace of hearts and stole a look at his opponents. Keller, at his right, looked a trifle too satisfied with life so declarer came to the conclusion that the king of clubs was in unfavorable position.

SOUTH DRAWS

Having come to this conclusion, South drew two rounds of trumps, cashed the king of hearts, and ruffed a heart. He next led a diamond to dummy's king.

Keller saw what was coming and dropped the queen of diamonds under dummy's king.

When declarer continued with the ace of diamonds Keller dropped the jack of diamonds.

CONTINUES DIAMONDS

Declarer went on with the diamonds, and Keller played the deuce and held his breath.

Fortunately for the defense, West had the nine of diamonds and was able to win the trick.

"BAD BREAK"

If Keller had won the third round of diamonds he would have been forced to lead away from the king of clubs, and South would have avoided the loss of a club trick.

"What miserable breaks," South grumbled. "That lucky Keller didn't see the deuce of diamonds until it fell out of his hand."

"You still haven't seen the point," West put in. "It's no accident when Keller makes a good play. It's a miracle."

As I started to say:

A bridge player is not without honor.

Today is Friday, May 24, the 144th day of 1963 with 221 to follow.

The moon is approaching first quarter. The morning stars are Venus, Jupiter and Saturn. The evening star is Mars.

On this day in history:

In 1941, HMS Hood of the British navy, the world's largest warship, was sunk by the German battleship Bismarck in a World War II engagement.

In 1962, U. S. astronaut Malcolm Scott Carpenter successfuly orbited the earth three times.

A thought for the day — German philosopher Schopenhauer said: "Everyman take the limits on his own field of vision for the limits of the world."

Mill Valley Thefts Linked To Teeners

Mill Valley police yesterday apprehended two Mill Valley boys, 16 and 15 years old, who allegedly committed four burglaries over the past three days.

Recovered from the 15-year-old's home were $82 and seven transistor radios valued at $225, believed stolen from Tad's TV and Radio at 398 Miller Avenue.

The younger of the two, a burglary parolee from San Francisco Guidance Center, was placed in juvenile hall. The 16-year-old was cited to juvenile court to appear Wednesday.

Police Chief Dan Terzich said the method of burglary matched an earlier one for which the 15-year-old was arrested two weeks ago.

Questioned, the 15-year-old admitted breaking into Tad's Tuesday night, taking $82 in cash. Wednesday, he told officers, he and the 16-year-old went to the same store and took the radios plus $2 in cash. Then they broke into Edna Maguire School, stole $18 and 25 bottles of soft drinks, and broke into Alto School but took nothing there. They did damage estimated by school officials at $22 at Edna Maguire and $50 at Alto, Terzich said.

Novato Finance Aide Tentatively Approved

A finance office for the city of Novato was tentatively approved by the city council last night at its first study session on the 1963-64 budget.

Salary for the office was set at $8,305. The city council will appoint the finance officer.

The position of cashier clerk, also requested in the budget, was eliminated by the council. Capital outlay for the city clerk's budget was cut from $2,490 to $2,000.

The council approved a position of assistant city planner at $583 per month.

The budget for the city attorney was tentatively approved as submitted.

Other changes included raising city council expenditures for memberships and meetings from $1,000 to $1,600. The city administrator's vehicle operation budget was cut from $500 to $400.

The council adjourned to 8 p.m. Sunday for its second budget study meeting.

The penalty was to take effect upon service of notice.

Biggest Gold Theft In Britain

LONDON (UPI)—Four bandits clad in blue over-alls, their faces covered by women's silk stockings, stole half a ton of gold bullion bars worth $700,000 today in what police said was Britain's biggest gold theft.

The thieves grabbed the gold in a spectacular lunchtime raid on a bullion broker's warehouse in the City of London business section.

The simplicity of the operation recalled a classic British gangster movie, "The Lavender Hill Mob." Police were reported amazed.

Three of the members of the gang pounced on warehouse guard Percy Houghton, a 55-year-old former policeman, immediately after a bullion truck delivered 80 gold bars from Rothschild's bank.

They clubbed him and tied him to a chair. Then they loaded 40 of the bars, each weighing 28 pounds, into a delivery truck and sped away in the wrong direction on a one-way street.

Directors Authorize Toll Study

Study of a one-way toll plan for Golden Gate Bridge, designed to speed up rush-hour traffic, was authorized today by directors of the Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District.

Traffic engineer Arthur C. Jenkins will make the study for $10,000. The study was recommended yesterday by the joint finance and building and operating committee of the district.

Under the proposal, motorists would pay double fare to come into San Francisco from Marin, but would get a free ride going out of the city.

Directors also today took a firm stand against proposed state legislation that would make Golden Gate Bridge toll-free. Directors claimed the bill was premature.

GENERAL STEARNS — Promotion of Newton B. Stearns of San Rafael from colonel to brigadier general on the California Air National Guard retired list was announced this week. Gets Jail For Exposing Self

Russell Evan Fabian, 21, of Ignacio, an apprentice mechanic, must serve 30 days in Marin County Jail for outraging public decency.

Judge Leonard A. Thomas of Marin Municipal Court yesterday put Fabian on one year supervised probation and ordered him to serve a month in jail, with work furlough privilege.

San Rafael police arrested Fabian on March 9 for exposing himself at Sun Valley playground.

Six Buses Will Take Marinites To Market Street Rights March

Six buses are to leave Mill Valley at 1 p.m. Sunday, making stops at Marin City and Sausalito, to take Marin residents to San Francisco for a civil rights demonstration on Market Street.

The move was initiated by Brunhilde Liebes of Mill Valley.

Maggie Grant, Greyhound lines agent in Mill Valley, said buses being chartered will be paid for by passing the hat. She is giving her commission for her contribution. "If more is collected," she said, "it will be given to an organization such as CORE or the Southern Christian Leadership Conference."

"We hope for a large caucasian turn-out," she added.

The parade is to begin at the Ferry Building and go to the City Hall Plaza, where Rev. Bernard Lee of Birmingham, Ala., is to be principal speaker. Lee is vice president of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference. The demonstration is sponsored by Church Labor Conference, the Baptist Ministers Union of San Francisco, and the Hunter's Point Clergy Fellowship.

It is expected that the Marin contingent will return about 5 p.m., Mrs. Grant said.

Giants Better Than L.A. In Power, Defense; Pitching Appears Equal

CONNOLLY

Some people say writing baseball is a nasty habit, an evil trend, because when you write what you think, it generally hurts someone. That is what makes me sad and weary recalling all the mean things I've written and said about the el foldo of the Dodgers in the waning days of last season.

Let's repent and say the Dodgers didn't "blow" the pennant because they were weak kneed and without courage. Rather they "bogged down" with turmoil and dissension, jealously and other things, eh?

The three-game weekend series starting tonight and continuing Saturday and Sunday afternoons is so intense that more than 120,000 cash customers are likely to pile into Candlestick Park to see the rumpus.

The Dodgers were favorites last year to cop the pennant because they had two ace righthanders in Don Drysdale and Stan Williams and two kingpin southpaws in Sandy Koufax and Johnny Podres, and a well healed and healthy bullpen.

THIS YEAR they come up to the Giants with only one righthander of ace proportions —Drysdale—and one sure fire southpaw—Sandy Koufax.

It was the loss of Koufax with an ailing finger that hurt the Dodgers, in fact, sunk 'em out of the pennant last year.

With the loss of Sandy it put an extra burden on Drysdale and while he accepted the heavy burden, he balked at times, or is supposed to have balked, and that balking by Drysdale gave Manager Alston a pain in the neck and before the season ended Don and Walter were not speaking to each other.

SO THE same two teams that battled it all the way down to the finish are at it again. And strangely the Dodgers figure they are stronger NOW than the Giants. And it just don't make sense.

For money, marbles or chalk the Giants have more power, better defense and just as varied and strong a pitching staff, if not better, than the Dodgers.

Drysdale, Koufax and Podres carry the load with help from Bob Miller and the bullpen of Perronski, Reichert, Roebuck, Ortega, Moeller and Smith doing the best they can.

Drysdale, so they say, is unbeatable when right.

For than matter, so are Sanford and Marichal.

YOU GET the same sort of argument when you compare Sandy Koufax with Billy O'Dell. Sandy strikes out more than Billy but he has his off days and gets thumped occasionally.

So measuring the ball club from last year's form chart one discovers that the Dodgers on occasions are tougher when Drysdale and Koufax are steaming than when Sanford and O'Dell are doing likewise.

I'd have to say that the trouble with the Dodgers is they have the same traits of the Giants. When they're good, they're perfect and when they're bad, they are bad and more of it.

SO STARTING tonight all the ratings go out the window. It's hard to compare two clubs like the Giants and Dodgers in a three-game setto. But that depends whose side you are on. The Dodgers, after plunking the Giants three in a row last time they met, figure they can repeat.

But in my method of calculating the Dodgers might take one game, either with Sandy Koufax, or, if not him, with Drysdale. So if that crack doesn't put the hex on the S.F. club, next time I'll think up something worse.

Marichal Vs. Koufax In Opener Tonight

National League pennant favorites Los Angeles and San Francisco, already pulling away from the rest of the field, open a three-game series tonight at Candlestick Park that draws memories from 1962.

The Giants, thanks to a faster start, hold a one game edge over Los Angeles. But the Dodgers have won eight straight and 11 of 12 games in a bid for the lead. Third-pace St. Louis is 4½ games back.

Two weeks ago, the Dodgers swept a three-game set from the Giants in their first meeting since San Francisco won the 1962 pennant playoff.

Sandy Koufax, 6-1, who no-hitted the Giants 8-0 May 11, pitches tonight against Juan Marichal, 5-3, who was 3-1 against the Dodgers last year.

Billy O'Dell will face Los Angeles' Johnny Podres tomorrow and the Giants' Jack Sanford meets Don Drysdale Sunday.

The Giants are hoping they will bounce back from the shellacking in Los Angeles just as they did last year.

Los Angeles won three straight at home in late July 1962 but the Giants reopened the pennant race in mid-August with three straight over the Dodgers at Candlestick Park.

That was the "Malibu Beach" series, where the Dodgers accused Giants groundskeepers of flooding and sanding the infield to slow the Los Angeles base stealers.

Groundskeeper Matty Schwab insists he has no tricks up his sleeve this year and will water the field just enough to keep the dust down.

While even a sweep would give Los Angeles only a two-game lead at this early stage of the season, a resultant 6-0 edge over the Giants could establish a strong psychological advantage for the two contenders' coming meetings.

Through a schedule oddity, the Giants and Dodgers will meet five more times from June 10 to 19, then won't see each other for more than two months until they tangle seven times in 11 days beginning Aug. 29.

San Francisco won seven of 10 Candlestick meetings with the Dodgers last year in a bizarre set that included:

The "Malibu Beach" affair; an 8-7 Dodger victory where Willie Mays raced from a Superior Court hearing, arrived in the seventh inning and killed two rallies with a strikeout and popup; a hotly disputed foul tip call that went against the Dodgers and opened the gates for six Giants runs in an 11-2 victory; six-inning no-hit bids by Sanford and Koufax on successive days; ten Dodger errors in two days; a five-run ninth-inning Dodger rall that fell short, 19-8.

Pete Hoffman, the ticket manager of the Giants, says that all reserved seats at Candlestick already have been sold for the series which is expected to attract 120,000 fans.

The Giants aren't expected to be exactly pushovers for the fast-moving Dodgers. San Francisco has won seven of its last nine games at Candlestick.

"It's the best series in baseball these days," says Dark. "We are going to have to beat the Dodgers to win the pennant again. Pitching will be the big thing in this, or any other, series."

Not around to pester the Giants is Maury Wills, baseball's all-time base-stealing champion of the Dodgers. He has been hampered by leg injuries this year. The Giants believe that the absence of Wills just about makes the two clubs equal.

Yank Walker Cup Team Takes Lead

TURNBERRY, Scotland (AP)—The United States took a 2-1 lead over Great Britain in the Walker Cup international golf competition today by winning two of the morning scotch foursomes in the opening day's play and halving another.

Labron Harris Jr., U.S. Amateur champion from Stillwater, Okla., and Downing Gray of Pensacola, Fla., gave the U.S. the lead when they defeated Joe Carr of Ireland and Christy Green of Scotland, 2 up.

Deane Beman of Bethesda, Md., former U.S. and British amateur champion, and Charlie Coe of Oklahoma City won the other point for the United States by beating David Sheahan and Michael Lunt 5 and 3.

Bob Gardner of Essex Fells, N.J., and Dr. Ed Updegraff of Tucson, Ariz., halved their match with Britain's David Medeley and Ronnie Shade after being two down at the 11th hole.

BRITISH VICTORY

Michael Bonallack and Stuart Murray turned in the only British victory, beating Billy Joe Patton of Morgantown, N. C., and Dick Sikes of Springdale, Ar., 4 and 3.

The matches were played in rain and bitter cold that played havoc with the Americans' game. They had putting troubles from the start and no one came close to par on the 7,025-yard, par 37-35—72 Turnberry course.

San Rafael Wins Prep Golf Title

Coach George Lester's San Rafael Bulldogs breezed to the team championship and Novato's sharp-shooting Barry Hachmyer reaped all the individual glory yesterday in the first annual Marin Athletic League golf tournament at the Indian Valley course in Novato.

San Rafael's four-man team, led by Bruce Wold's two-over par 74, scored an aggregate of 335 strokes, 13 better than runner-up Tam High's 348. Following were Redwood and Novato in a tie at 357, Drake 374, Marin Catholic 381 and Terra Linda 384. Each school entered its four best golfers.

Hachmyer, a junior who has parred or broken par on every course in Marin County during the past two years, equalled Indian Valley's par 72 figure yesterday in spite of a two-stroke penalty for a double bogey on the second hole. He also bogeyed holes 8, 12, 14 and 15, but chopped all those extra strokes with six birdies on the first, fourth, sixth, ninth, tenth and thirteenth holes.

San Rafael's easy team victory would have been much easier except for a horrendous 16 on the final hole by Craig Ballentine which skyrocketed his round to a 93—far above his usual game. Ballentine spent more time out of bounds than an AWOL sailor on that nightmarish final hole.

San Rafael's other scorers besides Wold's 74 and Ballentine's 93 were Jim May with an 80 and Tom Degenhardt 88.

Nats No Better Under New Boss

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

On the strength of his first night on the job, Gil Hodges appears to be on no danger of having to leave the country.

Hodges, moving from cellar to cellar, took over as manager of the last place Senators last night, shifting from the New York Mets who occupy a similar position in the National League.

Before the game, the appointment came up for discussion on Capitol Hill, where one congressman said if Hodges can do anything with the slumping Senators he will be just the man to take over the U.S. foreign aid program.

Gil seems to be safe at home for a while. The Senators responded to new leadership by rolling over quietly before Robin Roberts and the Baltimore Orioles, 6-0, for their 11th loss in their last 12 games.

Roberts held the Senators to two hits, both by shortstop Ed Brinkman, and didn't walk a man as he pitched his third straight complete victory. The his first four this season.

ORIOLES LEAD

The victory, Baltimore's ninth in 10 games, moved the Orioles a half game in front in the American League over the idle Chicago White Sox.

The other two games on the slim baseball card also produced shutouts, both in the National League.

The St. Louis Cardinals moved back into third place with a 1-0 victory over the Chicago Cubs, and the Cincinnati Reds defeated the Milwaukee Braves 2-0.

Ernie Broglio, the Cardinal ace, ran his record to 5-1 with a five-hitter. Lefty Dick Ellsworth, who allowed only four hits in seven innings, was the Cub victim. Catcher Gene Oliver's home in the fifth accounted for the only run.

Jim O'Toole won his seventh against three losses on a three-hitter against the Braves. Denny Lemaster, the loser, threw a four hitter. The Reds scored in the fourth on an error and a pop double by Daryl Spencer. They added a run in the ninth on another error, a stolen base and a single by Ken Walters.

Scanlon Prepares For Capitol Bout

SACRAMENTO (AP)—California lightweight champion Paulie Armstead of Los Angeles and lightweight Bobby Scanlon of Sacramento have signed for a 10-round bout in Sacramento on June 11.

Winner of the fight, agreed on Thursday, is expected to obtain a match with former lightweight champion Joe Brown.

After 49 Day Delay, Marin Tourney Resumes Tomorrow

Remember the Marin Athletic League Baseball Tournament?

Semi-finals and final games will be played tomorrow at San Rafael's Albert Field after a 49-day postponement from the original schedule.

Opening round games of the 1963 tourney were played April 5 but rains that night and the next day called a halt to the proceedings before the opening round game between Marin Catholic and Drake and the final round games could be played on April 6.

In the meantime, Drake High School compiled an 11-1 MCAL record to run off with the loop championship flag, three games ahead of second-place Redwood.

But in the opening round game of the tourney, made up on April 12, Marin Catholic knocked Drake out of the championship bracket with a 6-4 victory.

Tomorrow's action will start at 10 a.m. with five games on tap. In the opener Redwood and Terra Linda will tangle in the first semi-final tilt, followed by the other semi-final game between Tamalpais and Marin Catholic at 12:15 p.m.

Consolation game action will find guest San Rafael Military Academy battling Novato at 2:30 p.m. and San Rafael and Drake clashing at 4:45 p.m.

CHAMPIONSHIP GAME

The final game of the evening, for the championship, will be played at 7 p.m. Winners of the Redwood-Terra Linda and Tam-Marin Catholic games will be playing in this one.

Other first round results found Terra Linda bombing San Rafael Military Academy 17-3, Redwood dropping Novato 4-1, and Tamalpais shutting out San Rafael 4-0 in a game that was called after five innings because of rain.

If it rains tomorrow, the tournament will be canceled.

Big 6 Stars Perform At Berkeley Tomorrow

BERKELEY (UPI) — The Big Six track and field championships will be staged at University of California tomorrow—with University of Southern California Trojans the odds-on favorites to win it.

But much of the spotlight will be on a couple of athletes representing other schools. Brian Sternberg of University of Washington is one of the world's greatest pole vaulters and held the world record at 16 feet, 5 inches for a few hours earlier this spring.

Dave Weill of Stanford is the NCAA discus throwing champion and is about ready to take a crack at the 200-foot mark.

But the trojans have the balance of power. They have such outstanding men as Rex Cawley in the 440 dash and hurdles; Julio Marin, ace three-miler; Brian Polkinghorne and Bob Pierce, who could finish one-two in the hurdles; and Lew Hoyt, the seven-foot high jumper.

Among the other outstanding contenders for crowns will be Harry McCalla, Stanford's great miler; Dave Archibald, California quarter-miler; and the incomparable C. K. Yang of UCLA.

Yang, who holds the world record in the decathalon, has a sore back. So he'll probably pass up the pole vault, where he has cleared 16 feet.

But he plans to compete in the javelin, high hurdles, 220 or 100 yard dash, the broad jump—and lead off for UCLA in the mile relay.

Nicklaus Ace Gives Him Tie For Lead

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UPI)—Jack Nicklaus, thanks to a spectacular hole-in-one—first of his professional career—shared the lead with seven other golfers today going into the second round of the $50,000 Memphis Open Tournament.

His 185-yard ace, the second in six years of Memphis Open history and the season's ninth for the PGA, came on the par-3 third green of the rolling course.

The boyish-faced Nichlaus carded a 32-35—67 to join hometown favorite Cary Middlecoff at 32-35—67; Jerry Edwards 34-33—67, Buster Cupit 33-34—67; Fred Hawkins 35-32—67; Dick Mayer 33-34—67; John Pott 36-31—67 and Tony Lema 32-35—67. Lema ranks third behind Nicklaus and Gary Player in current PGA money winnings.

Player, a pre-tournament favorite, fell behind 25 leaders with a par 70.

Mrs. Cann Winner At Meadow Club

Mrs. John Cann fired a low gross of 81 yesterday in the Meadow Club's women's guest day medal handicap golf tournament.

Net leaders:

Class A—Mrs. H. C. Transue, 92-18—74; Mrs. Ed Vest, 90-15—75; Mrs. Aubrey Babson, 86-11—75; Mrs. Clifton Morrill, 96-19—77.

Class B—Mrs. J. F. Harrison, 91-21—70; Mrs. R. J. Fuite, 98-24—74; Mrs. R. L. Hibbett, 101-22—79; Mrs. L. H. Arfsten, 101-21—80.

Class C — Mrs. Hal Carmona, 103-29—74; Mrs. Norman Ackley, 100-25—75; Mrs. Arthur Latno, 102-26—76; Mrs. Milt Gabbs, 103-25—78.

16 Night Games, 40 Day Contests Slated For AFL

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—Sixteen night games and 40 daytime affairs are on the schedule of the American Football League with Kansas City, a new member via moving the Dallas franchise, having the honor of launching the campaign.

The schedule couldn't be announced by Commissioner Joe Foss until it was certain that Dallas was going to Kansas City. The word came Wednesday.

The transplanted Kansas City club will meet Denver at Denver Sept. 6 in a night game that gets the race under way.

Kansas City also plays Denver in the Thanksgiving Day feature and will clash with the New York Jets Saturday, Dec. 14, in a nationally-televised game from Kansas City.

Marin Semi-Pro League Meeting

There will be a meeting for sponsors and managers of teams interested in joining the Marin Semi-Pro Baseball League next Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. at the Taveggia-Brusatti Sport and Saddle Shop, San Rafael.

Rome Brusati and Frank Quinn, commissioners of the league, said the loop will start next month.

Sohner Softballers Trek To Santa Rosa

Sohner Tree Service softballers trek to Santa Rosa tomorrow night to battle the highly-touted Santa Rosa Athletic Club in an 8 p.m. doubleheader.

Righthanders Jay Leatherwood and Lou Jerazzo are expected to handle the pitching chores for the Treemen.

Battle S.F. Spiders

Keith Chapman will be on the mound when the Mill Valley Merchants take on the San Francisco Spiders Sunday at 1:30 p.m. in a semi-pro baseball on the Project 17 diamond in Mill Valley.

PREP TRACKMEN IN NCS FINALS

Competition will be rough when Marin's top prep trackmen who qualified in the divisional meet last Saturday bump heads with the qualifiers of the other two divisions in the North Coast Section meet tomorrow at Pittsburg High School.

The sectional meet, a prelude to the state meet May 31 and June 1, will start at 9:30 a.m. with the opening final event scheduled for 1:30 p.m.

The Marin Athletic League will send two Division III winners into tomorrow's meet. San Rafael's swift Mike Shafer won the quarter-mile with a time of 49.7 and Tamalpais High School's Ellis Williams won the broadjump with a leap of 21-5 1/4.

Shafer is the defending winner of the sectional 440, taking top spot last year at 49.2. San Rafael track coach Bill O'Bayley has said his quarter-mile is in the "best shape of the year."

San Rafael sprinter Bob Olson and Williams will be running against lightning in the meet. Berkeley sprinter Jerry Williams has been clocked at 9.5 and 20.5 in the 100 and 220, not to mention a 9.4 clocking last week which was disallowed because of mix-ups in the watches.

MARIN RECORD

Olson has set the Marin Athletic League record this year at 9.9, so you can see what he has in front of him. Both Olson and Williams of Tam will be running against the Berkeley flash in the 220, and Olson will be against him in the century.

Other varsity performers from Marin who will be competing in the sectional are:

Redwood's Tom Strathairn in the 180 low hurdles and 120 highs; Bill Gillingham of Tam and Harley Miller of Drake in the 880; Fred Harris of Tam and Jim Duff of Drake in the 440; Art Foster of Tam and Henry Solen of San Rafael in the high jump, and the Redwood 880-yard relay team of Bob Piro, Pete Holter, Dave Auerbach and Strathairn.

Redwood's Randy Keller, top miler in Marin, was expected to qualify in the Division III meet last Saturday but an injury prevented him from running up to form. He limped to a 4:56 clocking last week, 26 seconds off his normal time.

It will be the final meet of the year for the Class B cindermen. Leading the Marin entrants will be Drake High School's flash, Dean Lazzarini, winner of both the 75 and 150-yard dashes in the Division III match last week.

Other B division winner from Marin in tomorrow's meet will be Terra Linda's Doug Barnard who won the 120-yard low hurdles in 13.8.

FOUR HOMERS PACE GIANTS OVER TACOMA

TACOMA, Wash. (AP) — Ed Bailey banged out two home runs Thursday night and Matty Alou and Orlando Cepeda each contributed one circuit clout as the San Francisco Giants jumped on their Pacific Coast League farm club, Tacoma, for a 6-1 exhibition baseball victory.

The win went to Jim Duffalo, who pitched eight innings. Bonus rookie Al Stanek took over in the ninth and set the side down in order.

MAJOR LEAGUE TRANSACTIONS

Piersall Traded To Mets; Reds, Pirates In Key Deal

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

It wasn't an even exchange, but the New York Mets got Jimmy Piersall and the Washington Senators wound up with John F. Kennedy.

Completing a quick double-play—without a fumble—the Senators fired the controversial Piersall over to the Mets yesterday in what appeared to be the conclusion of the deal in which Gil Hodges took over as Washington manager.

Hodges, of course, lost a ballplayer before he even got started with his new club, but the Senators gave him three in return by latching onto pitcher Pete Burnside, outfielder Barry Shetrone and an infielder named John F. Kennedy.

In another trade, Pittsburgh acquired Jerry Lynch, pinch hitter deluxe, with the home run touch, from Cincinnati in a straight player deal that sent outfielder Bob Skinner to the Reds.

The Kansas City Athletics shipped outfielders Manny Jiminez, who hit .301 as a rookie last year, and Jose Tartabull to Portland while elevating Hector Martinez and John Wojcik from their Pacific Coast League farm club.

Piersall figures to be a fixture in the Mets' center field and fits Manager Casey Stengel's description of "my type of player."

Piersall expressed little surprise at the deal. "I've been in baseball 16 years. You never know what's going to happen," he said. "I'm happy to go play for Stengel. He was my biggest booster when I was a rookie. He made the compliments on my fielding that caused people to begin to notice me."

Piersall did other things to make people notice him. He had frequent run-ins with umpires, exchanged words of an uncomplimentary nature with managers, and throughout his career has been a favorite target for hostile fans.

He should be well received by the Mets' fans, who love their own.

Piersall's credentials, despite his antics, speak well of Piersall the ballplayer. He carried a .274 lifetime average over a 12-year span into this season and is rated one of the finest fielding outfielders in the game.

To get Piersall, the Mets also sent along a bundle of cash and will ship a player to be named later to the Senators.

After completing the Piersall deal the Senators optioned pitcher Art Quirk, called up Shetrone from their Columbus team in the International League, signed free agent Burnside and elevated Kennedy, a youngster with the famous name who last year broke in by hitting a homer in his first at-bat in the majors.

The Lynch-Skinner transaction likely will have considerable bearing on the pennant races. The Pirates pick up a slugger in Lynch and the Reds round out a top outfield with Skinner joining Vada Pinson and Frank Robinson.

Skinner said he had an idea he might be traded, despite the fact he hit .302 last year with 20 homers and 75 runs batted in.

Reds' President Bill Dewitt said he gave up Lynch because "Skinner is a year younger, a better runner and a better outfielder."

Lynch has compiled an astonishing record as a pinch-hitter. He has a career total of 13 pinch homers, one shy of the major league record held by George Crowe.

That home run punch seemed to impress the Pirates. Said General Manager Joe L. Brown: "He carries a big bat and can do the job as a regular or on the bench. He's the kind of player that can spark a club."

Anybody For Croakers? They're Running In Upper San Pablo Bay

STEVENS

Anybody for Croakers?

They've been getting them the past few days off Buoy 5 in the upper San Pablo Bay. Johnny Sivera netted 30 of them on Sunday; one lad working alone caught several and threw them back, not knowing what they were or that they are very fine eating. Joe Nerviani of Santa Venetia reported a few brought into his place by fishermen who asked what they were.

WHAT IS a Croaker? It is a fish belonging to a large and very important family. About 30 genera and 150 species, only two of which frequent our waters . . . the Black Croaker and the Spotfin Croaker.

I judge from Johnny's description that the species now in the bay are the Spotfins, sometimes called the Golden Croaker. The local Game Warden, contacted by Johnny, named them Canadian Croakers, which is probably a local, unauthorized name. Others incorrectly call it a Kingfish.

THESE FISH are well named. They actually grunt, snore or croak when first landed. They are very good to eat, and probably should be classed as a game fish to judge by the battle they are said to put up on light tackle. Seldom are they found in deep water or about rocks; apparently they prefer to forage (or maybe to spawn) in fairly shallow water close to shore.

Like the Queenfish, which it resembles, the Spotfin Croaker has a small mouth. If you try for them (they should be around for another month), use very small hooks—about the size you use to catch flounders—and small pieces of bait. Keep a taut line and set the hook quickly. Some specimens go to five and six pounds, but Johnny Sivera told the majority he has netted have been 15 and 16 inches. If not too heavy a tide is running, you might get in some top flight sport on a light spinning rod. I understand the Spotfin Croaker puts up a real battle when hooked on very light tackle.

NOT MUCH to report anent striper striving generally. An occasional bass has been caught, but the average fish per rod has been very very low. I was told, however, that a number of dead bass along with smelt and at least one dead shark, have been seen in the South Bay and the Alameda Estuary. I contacted Cecil Martin, polution officer of the F&G, and he is making an investigation.

The Sea Horse, out of Berkeley, on Tuesday netted 15 salmon out near the Farralones. The fish ran to 27 pounds.

'Mile Of Century' Will Be Televised

MODESTO (AP) — Tomorrow's mile run between New Zealand world record holder Peter Snell and American citizen's record holder Jim Beatty will be nationally televised.

The American Broadcasting Company (channel 7) said it will show the latest "Mile of the Century" between 9:45 and 10:30 p.m. EST.

Managers of the California Relays moved the time of the race up more than an hour to accomodate the national audience.

Snell, who opened his U.S. tour last Friday with a 4:00.3 performance in Los Angeles, holds the record of 3 minutes, 54.4 seconds. Beatty has run 3:56.3.

Flying Safety Award Goes To 349th Wing

The Air Force's Flying Safety Award has been presented to Brig. Gen. Rollin B. Moore Jr., commander of the 349th Troop Carrier Wing, last week by Brig. Gen. Andrew B. Cannon, commander of the Sixth Air Force reserve region.

This is the second consecutive year that the 349th or Golden Gate Troop Carrier Wing has won the award. It is for 20,000 accident-free flying hours up to last Dec. 31.

In Norway a road has been carved to the North Cape on the Barents Sea.

Heroic Pilot Is Honored At Hamilton

Maj. Irving G. Williams of the 349th Troop Carrier Wing Reserve at Hamilton Air Force Base was selected as "Pilot of Distinction" for May by the tactical air command.

Williams received the honor for risking his life to save his crew and aircraft when it developed difficulty in lowering the landing gear on a night flight last Feb. 9.

As the C-119 Flying Boxcar approached Hamilton Air Force Base, the nose wheel gear was not in a safe landing position.

Major Williams, co-pilot, removed his parachute, climbed into the open gear housing and forced the nose gear down into locked position.

There was nothing between Williams and the lights below except 5,000 feet of space.

Williams lives in Santa Rosa.

Hamilton Wildlife Program Gets Award

The wildlife conservation program at Hamilton Air Force Base won second place in the Air Defense Command's fish and wildlife conservation program.

Maj. Gen. C. F. Necrason, commander of the 28th Air Division, recently received this award at the quarterly Air Defense Command conference at Tyndall Air Force Base, Fla.

Aquacade Will Star 300 Girls

Ballet, swimming and diving numbers will be featured when more than 300 Marin girls participate in the 18th annual Ballet Aquacade June 8 and 9, which will benefit Marin General Hospital.

The show, which is sponsored by the Ballet Aquacade Branch of Marin General Hospital Auxiliary, will again be given at the Ann Curtis School of Swimming in Terra Linda starting at 2:30 p.m. both days.

UNDER THE DIRECTION of Mrs. Ralston Hodgson of Ross, the show was started in 1946 with four swimmers and a fashion show.

This year Mrs. Ralph Noah of Belvedere and Ernie Smith of Sausalito, former sportscaster, will be the commentators.

Seventy-five girls combine swim and ballet in the opening number entitled "A Garden in Marin". At the climax they all form a "French Bouquet". The swimmers are coached by Mrs. Barbara Corrigan, Mrs. Arthur Poganski and Kathy Poganski.

"WAITING FOR the Robert E. Lee' is the title of the swim number which includes 14 senior girls. This minstrel routine is coached by Mrs. Will Hinkley and Mrs. Thomas Clark both of Kentfield.

In "Puff the Magic Dragon" the 16 younger swimmers were coached by Mrs. Peter Brajkovich. They will appear in Chinese suits and will feature the Chinese dragon.

"I Enjoy Being a Girl", a swimming number including Dominican high school girls, will follow in a routine coached by Mrs. Jane Pike and Mrs. Fred Enemark. A precision swim number done by 16 Scottish lassies to the music of bagpipes will follow in the number entitled "Bonnie Lassie" coached by Mrs. Leland Eggleston of Novato and Mrs. Raymond Rovero of San Rafael.

THE SECOND BALLET "A Princess for the Prince" with 85 dancers will follow the intermission in which the queen mother is reminded by her court chancellors that her four young sons, being of marriageable age, must select brides. There will also be a "Court Scene" with the colorful dances of each princess and her court.

A rhythm routine done in a two color arrangement of swimmers entitled "Fascination" will include 16 girls, coached by Mrs. Terres Ronneberg of Ross and Mrs. A. E. Allen of Larkspur.

Ann Curtis Cuneo's medal swimming synchronized swim team will then present "Rodeo", a cowboy number, followed by Marin County High School boys and guest diver, Jay Rodrigo from the University of California in a diving exhibition.

THE FINALE "A Teenager's Tribute," which will include 100 girls participating in a patriotic routine both swimming and dancing.

The show is directed by Mrs. Hodgson. Mrs. Enemark of San Rafael is chairman; Mrs. Hugh Marchant of Kentfield is swim coordinator; Mrs. Douglas A. The engine room of the new MG Sports Sedan not only houses the world's number 1 competitive engine, but holds it crosswise instead of lengthwise, so that the family room can comfortably seat 5 passengers. Yes, 80% of the length of this exciting new car is devoted to passengers and luggage...making it the smallest big sedan on the road, a car that comfortably makes room for full-grown human beings. Ah, but that engine room!...front wheel drive (the engine pulls instead of pushes) for incredible stability, even on slippery roads in blustery gales.

And the family room? Two racy bucket seats up front and a true, three passenger seat in the back. Enormous rear window and curved side windows for maximum visibility plus shoulder room. And—there's even a light in the ash tray.

Raw power under the hood...speeds in excess of 80 mph...4 speed stick shift and crunchproof synchromesh gear box ...the guts, spirit and joy of a true MG. Parts and service through over 1,000 dealers in the United States and Canada. Solid comfort. So easy and agile, even the ladies can drive it with complete enjoyment. Behaves beautifully in city traffic, slides easily into the tiniest parking slots and turns out a pleasant 24 to 30 mpg. Built by one of the world's oldest, most well-established automobile names, racily designed in true British sports car tradition, it is an economical sports car for the family man; for the man with a wife, children, pets and guests. A dandy little sedan with a revolutionary new fluid suspension system (no springs, no shock-absorbers) that quietly flattens rough road, and high hills into soft, creamy, level rides. It is a little giant, bigger on the inside than it appears on the outside, with aircraft-type front wheel disc brakes for safer, surer stops. From the moment you put it onto the road, you'll find the new MG Sports Sedan a gallant performer, a sporting dignitary...a most elegant rascal.

Etiquette For Second Wedding—

By MARGERY McELHENY

CHICAGO (UPI)—The divorcee or widow who marries for the second time often faces many taboos.

Take the matter of the white dress. It's not true that white is improper for a second wedding, say etiquette experts. The custom of a white dress has its origins in economics.

In early Saxon days, the poorer bride dressed in a plain white robe to show that she brought nothing with her to her marriage. This indicated that her husband was not responsible for her debts.

ALTHOUGH THERE is no restriction against wearing white, the bride's choice should be based on comfort. If she feels more comfortable in an off-white shade or pastel she can select beige, pink, blue, green or whatever is most becoming.

A veil symbolizes maidenhood, and is taboo for a second marriage. So is a formal gown with a train, since a formal wedding with many attendants is not in keeping with a second marriage.

THE GOWN should be ballerina or street length, and instead of a veil, a small flower hat, a cap or a head dress complementing the gown may be worn.

The style of the gown is determined by the time of day of the wedding, but shoulder and upper arms should be covered. If the bride wears an after-five or dinner dress, the maid of honor and bridesmaids should dress accordingly.

IT IS better to wear a suit or simple street dress if the wedding takes place at the pastor's home, say the experts.

The choice of engraved or hand-written invitations is governed by the number of invited guests. Hand-written invitations are correct for weddings of 50 guests or less. If more than 50 guests are invited, engraved invitations may be sent.

The invitation should carry the bride's full name, including her given name, maiden name and name by a previous marriage.

GUESTS ARE not obliged to present a gift to the previously married bride, but most will.

If you have been a widow or divorcee for a long time, you may invite to the wedding both families as well as close friends on both sides.

Etiquette does not determine whether children of a first marriage should be present for the second wedding. The choice is up to the engaged couple.

Whether the children directly participate depends on the type of ceremony. Since the wedding will be informal, there will be no flower girls or ring bearers. However, the daughter of the bride may be her mother's attendant.

Computer Has Fashion Facts On Sportswear

By GAY PAULEY
UPI Women's Editor

NEW YORK—Feed a computer facts on fashion—and out comes a forecast.

From another experiment of the electronics age comes the conclusion that blues will be the most popular colors in next fall's sportswear wardrobes, with greens running a strong second.

In silhouettes, look for wrap skirts, a-flare skirts and culottes, with a "pronounced down-grading" of straight skirts. So says the machines which are doing a lot of the fashion planning for a Cleveland, Ohio, firm, specializing in sports and casual year for the younger women.

The computers have been in use for a year at one of the nation's largest manufacturers of sportswear for the young.

"They've proved remarkably accurate in forecasts," said Burton K. Kamberg, the company's vice president for marketing. The company uses the machines' decisions to coordinate its production with sales demand.

Kamberg said the computers "eat" information at the rate of 11,000 five-digit additions per second and are capable of reading accumulated data at a rate equivalent to five newspaper pages of type per second.

Operators feed information from orders placed by store buyers, specifying sizes, colors and styles.

From its conclusions, the forecasts are made on overall trends for the young adults.

According to early analysis of computer-digested information, leading fall colors after blue and green will be cranberry red and gold, the firm reported in a forecast which came across our desk today.

Preference in sweaters, a perennial favorite of high school and college women, will run to Italian-styled, bulky mohairs. Collar designs range from V-neck to cowl and crew.

Road To Ruin In Dunce Primer

MONTICELLO, Ill. (UPI) — Students at the Monticello College for women know what it takes to flunk.

W. F. Starkey, the college's director of information, prepared what he called "a guide for college freshmen," to be used only if the girls want to fail.

Starkey's list of things to do led off with "classes," which he said, "the women should attend as few as possible. This will give you more time for such all-important character-rounding activities as bridge, beer drinking and sleeping."

Second on Starkey's list was "books," which he advised, "don't open any more than is absolutely necessary because unused text books bring a higher resale price at the end of the year."

"Cars" were third. Starkey said automobiles on the campus "will provide transportation for week-night dating . . . and a means of escaping from the daily grind of classes."

Starkey included "pranks" on his list. He said "a sample of good thinking would be to paint the college president's office in beautiful colors, or to do this to the alma mater statue, or better yet, pour detergent in the campus fountains or swimming pool."

Starkey said of "organizations," join as many as possible and "do a good job in these organizations and don't let studies interfere."

Air View Of A Fully Developed Valley

In contrast to the valley shared by Corte Madera, Larkspur, Greenbrae and Kentfield at the top of this picture, the western portion of San Rafael, encompassing most of the central business district, spreads from the San Rafael Hill (bottom) to Bret Harte Heights.

San Rafael's basic rectangular street design, with a few angular off-shoots, is clearly defined by looking south from over San Rafael Hill. It is not until the streets reach the hills nestling the business section of the city that they become narrow and twisting.

A white space just to the right of dead center is the former E Street School property. To the right of the school property is the new Pacific Telephone Co. building.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Lead Poisoning Can Be Hazard For Artist, But Hard To Find

Lead poisoning is an occasional hazard to artists. The diagnosis is not always easy to make, especially when the victim is an amateur, painting for fun. A New Zealand soldier posed this problem when he developed colicky abdominal pain along with severe constipation. His story was told in the New Zealand Medical Journal.

VAN DELLEN

The man's physician had no reason to suspect that surgery was necessary to correct an intestinal obstruction. Exploration of the abdominal cavity did not disclose the cause of his symptoms. He seemed to improve for a few days after the operation but colic returned. Tests were then done for lead poisoning and the results were positive.

IT DEVELOPED that the soldier was a landscape painter and recently had spent five weeks pursuing his hobby. Special tests were made on some tubes of paint and the container designated "flake white" was found to be made up almost entirely of white lead. At least 18 large tubes of this oil paint had been used and at times he applied it with the fingers rather than the brush. In addition, the man had a nervous habit of stroking the cheek and upper lip with his fingers.

Shortly thereafter, another artist with similar symptoms turned up. The physician was on the alert this time and made the diagnosis within a few days. This artist copied miniatures for sale and used the same product as the soldier. While painting, she would lick the brush to clean it, even after she had been warned of the hazard in this practice.

THE TREATMENT of lead poisoning has changed in the last decade. Chelating agents are most useful in deleading the body. The remedy works quickly and with complete safety. The New Zealanders used calcium disodium versenate, which displaces the lead and allows the kidneys to excrete the poison.

Chelation is a chemical process in which one ion is lifted out of a structure and replaced by another. In these cases, the lead ion was lifted out in exchange for the calcium ion in the chelating agent. The lead is thus made harmless and excreted by the kidneys.

(Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.)

A URINARY FINDING

C.M. writes: Is albumin in the urine serious?

REPLY

Not necessarily. We know this manifestation can occur even though the kidneys are normal. In orthostatic albuminuria, for example, albumin appears only after getting up; it disappears with rest. On the other hand, if albumin is present in large amounts, the chances are greater that a kidney lesion exists.

LIP PEELING

W.G. writes: Is there any help for peeling lips?

REPLY

Yes. Eliminate any source of irritation as from cosmetics or inflammation. Stop pulling off shreds of skin and don't keep moistening the lips with the tongue. The use of hypoallergenic lipstick or one of the lip or sun sticks will provide a protective coating.

GLASS SLIVERS

A.C. writes: I have several pieces of glass imbedded in my left hand. It feels as though they are touching the bone. Do you think I should have them removed by operation?

REPLY

Yes, but if you wait until this answer appears I'm sure several will have festered.

EVENING SNACKS

Mrs. C. writes: What suggestions do you have for nervous eating in the evening? I'm not bothered during the day.

REPLY

Moonlighting, you need something to divert your attention from the refrigerator.

Today's Health Hint — Be considerate of your health.

Yank Tourists Are Valuable

WELLINGTON, New Zealand (AP) — An American visitor to New Zealand is worth 190 cases of apples, or 95 fat lambs, or three-and-a-half bales of wool.

The Government Publicity Division told of the analysis that valued an American—in terms of foreign exchange. It said 169 Americans recently spent 16 days in New Zealand and spent, on an average, 190 New Zealand pounds ($530) each. That's the value of those apples, lambs, or wool on the export market.

The statement said U.S. visitors have increased seven-fold in the last decade. The tourist industry now was the sixth biggest earner of overseas exchange.

Another Namesake

ROME (AP)—The Amerigo Vespucci, Italy's naval school ship, is named for the 15th Century Florentine navigator for whom America was named.

Questions At Hotel

NEW YORK (UPI) — The most asked question of telephone operators by guests at a hotel here is: "What's the weather forecast for today?" Second is "What time is it?"

Hy Silver Says:

I've been sitting in my office wondering why more people don't come in to buy our good used cars. It occurred to me that a lot of people don't know we're in business. Then it occurred to me that a lot of people do know and don't care. So it naturally follows that we've got to give people a reason to come to our lot, and here it is: If you come to our lot in Novato, I will personally guarantee that no one will spit in your eye! I mean that literally and figuratively. We won't try to insult your intelligence with a bunch of ridiculous claims. If you try out one of our cars and find something wrong with it, we'll try to fix it for you. If you are worried about payments or not having enough money to put down, or not having any money to put down, come in and talk over your problems. We can't work miracles, but we've had years of experience in financing cars and we can put this experience to work for you. Even if you don't want to buy a car, come on in and chin a little. We get mighty lonely sometimes. You'll find us at Hy Silver Used Cars, 1119 Grant Ave., Novato.

Palsey March Gets $14,335 In County

United Cerebral Palsey of Marin collected $14,335.87 in its fund march on Jan. 15,it was announced today by president Ben Barton Jr. who said the final figure had just been calculated.

Barton said part of the funds went to two New York doctors who performed an operation which developed a technique for immediately treating crushed or paralyzed limbs resulting from industrial or automobile accidents.

The operation consisted of grafting the nerves from a dead person onto the injured part of a living person. The operation advanced knowledge of how to restore damaged nerves, Barton said.

The Guadalupe range, one of the southernmost outcroppings of the Rockies, rises in southern New Mexico and extends southward 50 miles into Texas.

...American style

The money you're putting into U.S. Savings Bonds today will probably some day go into college tuition, or new furniture, or the walls of a new home.

Until you need it, this money is earmarked for a very important job. And you can be sure it isn't building a 27-mile barrier of brick, barbed wire, and concrete.

Every dollar you save with Uncle Sam goes directly into keeping our country strong, with its affairs in good order, so that we can carry on the struggle for freedom—at remote outposts, at conference tables, in outer space.

Tens of millions of American families have accumulated $45 billion in E and H Bonds—part of our strength as individuals. And part of the strength of the nation.

Start putting part of your savings to work for your country while it works for you. Buy U.S. Savings Bonds at your bank regularly or where you work, and see if you don't feel good about it.

Quick facts about U. S. Savings Bonds

1. You get $4 back for every $3 when your Bonds mature.
2. Your Bonds are replaced free if lost, or destroyed.
3. You can get your money anytime.
4. You can save automatically on Payroll Savings.

Keep freedom in your future with U.S. SAVINGS BONDS

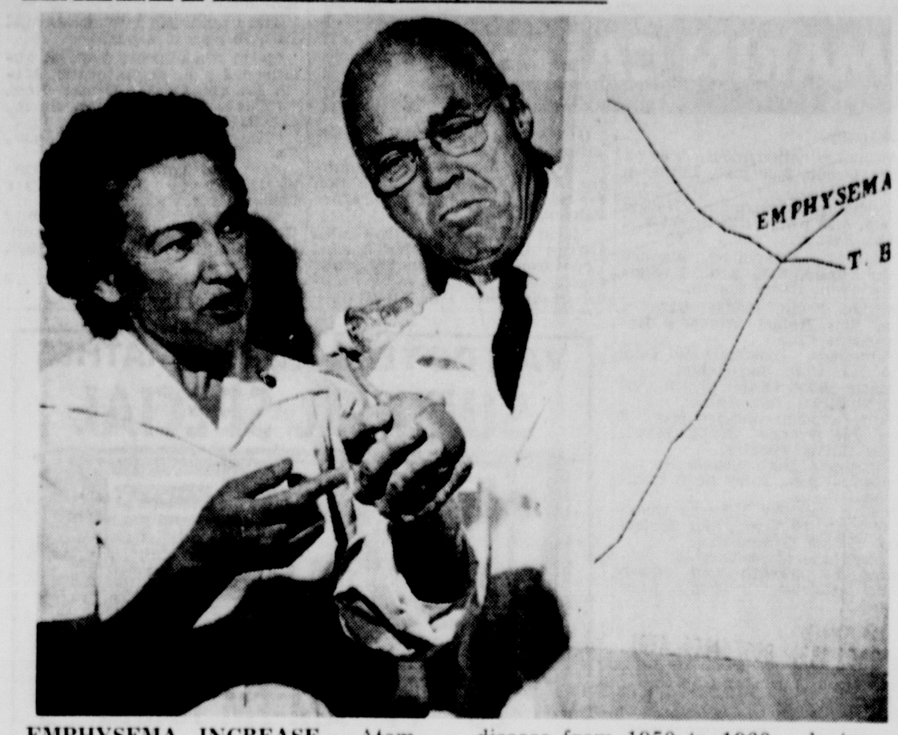
SERVING ALL OF MARIN COUNTY



EMPHYSEMA INCREASE — Atomized medication for an emphysema patient is discussed by Dr. Robert W. Clarke, head of the Marin County Medical Department emphysema clinic, with clinic nurse Mrs. Albert Citti. Sharp statewide increase in the disease from 1950 to 1960, during the same period that tuberculosis was on the decline, is shown on the graph. Marin and other tuberculosis associations started fighting chronic respiratory diseases several years before TB and emphysema "curves" crossed in 1957. (Independent-Journal photo)

Marin Campaign Is On To Alert Public Of Emphysema Increase

The only way to "cure" emphysema is to prevent it.

Second best is to detect the disease in its early stages so that it can be slowed or even completely arrested.

So says Dr. Robert W. Clarke, head of the emphysema clinic of the Marin County Medical Department. For 20 years a specialist in pulmonary diseases and tuberculosis, Dr. Clarke was interviewed in connection with the Marin Tuberculosis and Health Assn.'s current campaign to alert the public to early symptoms of disabling chronic respiratory diseases.

Emphysema (Greek meaning "inflation") destroys lung tissue and causes collapse of the small airways. As a result, stale carbon dioxide-laden air is trapped in the lungs and both their capacity and function are increasingly impaired. The first signs are shortness of breath and persistent coughing. These warnings ignored, complete disability may rapidly follow.

"We are finding more and more emphysema in the age group starting at age 40—particularly in heavy smokers," Dr. Clarke reports.

About 75 per cent of emphysema victims are men. The disease is frequently associated with chronic bronchitis, but is not connected with childhood ills, nor is it usually associated with other diseases. It is definitely not contagious.

Marin County established an emphysema clinic two years ago when local incidence of the disease reflected the 300 per cent increase that has taken place in California during the eight previous years.

"We had two purposes," Dr. Clarke says: "To make these people as comfortable as possible, and to keep them out of the hospital. I think we have been fairly successful in our first objective, and I'm sure we have been in the second."

The first Friday of each month, Dr. Clarke sees emphysema sufferers at the Medical Department in the Civic Center. All have the disease in such advanced stages that they are unable to work, despite the robust appearance of some. Patients return to the clinic every two to four months.

Between times, should any become acutely ill, medical department personnel are instructed by Dr. Clarke "to run me down" immediately. He might be on the Terrace (tuberculosis annex) of Ross Hospital; at a clinic of the County Health Department, for which he is a consultant; at the Marin or San Francisco TB Assn. on whose boards he serves; at the U.S. Medical Center, where he is associate clinical professor, or with his private patients in San Francisco or Marin.

As to the cause of emphysema, Dr. Clarke opines: "It is thought to be closely associated with air pollution — and the most concentrated air pollution is from smoking." While a large percentage of sufferers are heavy smokers, he admits only a small percentage will give up the habit.

"What can you do," he asks, "when a patient says I know you're going to tell me to quit smoking, but I'm not going to —and then asks you to help him?"

Nevertheless, help is given in several ways: Removing pollutants (for those who will cooperate); controlling infections (thought to be a contributing cause) through use of antibiotics; preventing respiratory infections with regular flu innoculations; using positive pressure breathing machines. A standard aid given to all emphysema patients to carry with them is a mist-making atomizer containing a drug that dilates the bronchi when inhaled through the mouth.

For what signs should the public be alert? A persistent cough and shortness of breath, Dr. Clarke declares. His rule of thumb: If a cough lasts longer than two weeks, see your doctor.

An Historic Day For Name Droppers

BY FREDERICK M. WINSHIP

NEW YORK (UPI) — Name dropping wasn't a game at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel yesterday, it was a way of life.

Traffic jams developed around the famed hostelry all day as the great and the near-great came and went. Crowds of curiosity seekers flooded the lobbies hoping to glampse "Jack," "Wally," "Ike," "Gordo," "Bobbie," "Pat," "Chet," "Hank" or "Mel."

The Duke and Duchess of Windsor checked in during the morning and found the usual pomp surrounding their arrival completely eclipsed by a record aggregation of celebrity guests. They disappeared into their permanent apartment in the Waldorf Towers to wait for the competition to thin.

Royalty, even of the "Eddie" and "Wally" variety, could hardly outshine President John F. Kennedy and half the Kennedy clan, two of the three living former presidents, two vice presidents, six astronauts, two World War II heroes, Democratc party leaders, a Roman Catholic Cardinal, and a light brigade of movie and show business personalities.

Frank G. Wangeman, executive vice president and general manager of the Waldorf, was ecstatic. It was, he said, "a memorable day."

"Make that historic, not just memorable," he said, summoning adjectives as well as 20 extra security guards to protect his priceless guests. "It's another day for the Waldorf, a historic day for the city, maybe even for the world."

The hotel's historian had to get up early in the morning to record the day's stellar orbitings around 49th and 50th streets between Park and Lexington avenues.

First of all, "Gordo" (Gordon Cooper) and family and five other astronauts checked out with 13 suitcases among them, having had their day of glory. The Duke and Duchess, toting 90 pieces of luggage, arrived soon after.

Lunch time found the national Father's Day committee hosting Gen. Mark Clark, "Chet" (Huntley), "Hank" (Fonda), "Tom" (Tresh), "Don" (McNeill) and Paul Ford among others. "Jack" (President Kennedy) was named father of the year but couldn't make it to the Waldorf until dinner time.

Up in the Towers, "Herbie" (former President Hoover) received the Magellan Medal of merit from the Circumnavigators Club in his apartment while his neighbor, "Mac" (Gen. Douglas MacArthur), remained in his usual splendid seclusion. Down in the Empire Room there was a lunch for Francis Cardinal Spellman.

Meanwhile, Audrey Hepburn and Mel Ferrer had checked into The Towers. Walt Disney already was in residence. So was "Ike" (former President Eisenhower) who was joined by his vice president, "Dick" (Nixon) who registered for a two-day sojourn.

The president's birthday dinner, providing $600,000 worth of ammunition for the Democratic warchest, drew the guest of honor along with "LBJ" (Vice President Johnson), "Bobbie" (Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy), Jean Kennedy Smith, "Pat" (Patricia Kennedy Lawford), Senators Mike Mansfield and Warren Magnuson, and "Bob" (Mayor Wagner).

They were entertained by "Jimmy" (Durante), "Mitch" (Miller), "Louie" (Armstrong), "Sexy Rexy" (Harrison), "Bob" (Newhart), Peter Lawford, Carol Channing, "Van" (Johnson), "Eddie" (Fisher), Ed Sullivan, David Susskind, and "Bobby" Darin. Also a nicknameless girl who calls herself ever so simply, Ann-Margret.

While Democratc paid tribute to their leaders in the Empire and Sert rooms, tycoons of the American Iron and Steel Institute did homage to Eisenhower in the grand ballroom, giving him a gold (not an iron nor a steel but a gold) medal.

Footnote to the Waldorf's day to remember: "Wally" Windsor confided that she is happy about "Happy":

"I think the Rockefellers are very much in love and it was right for them to get married."

Marin School Administrator Group Elects

Other new officers are Fred Newton, principal of San Jose Intermediate School, vice president; Mrs. Anne Philbert, principal of John MacPhail School, San Rafael, secretary; and Don Wallace, principal of Hidden Valley and Sleepy Hollow schools, San Anselmo District, treasurer.
